Recommendations Made At First Annual Meeting Of Law Institute

5 OF 6 PROPOSALS DRAWN TO GUARD AGAINST FRAUD

Most Of Them Designed To Protect State Against Office-Holders

BATON ROUGE, March 16.—(AP)—Recommendations that substantial changes be made in Louisiana criminal laws to protect better the state and other public bodies were made at the first annual meeting of the Louisiana Law institute today by its section on criminal law and procedure.

Headed by J. Fair Hardin of Shreveport, assistant attorney general, who has been engaged in the state's investigation of public scandals since they broke last June, the committee suggests six specific new criminal statutes, most of them to plug holes found in the criminal law by these investigations.

The six proposals would be intended to:

1. Define and punish certain misconduct of public officials and employes relative to public funds and contracts.

2. Prevent any person holding or exercising any office or employment of trust or profit under any state, the United States or any foreign power holding any other office or employment of trust or profit in Louisiana or in any parish or municipality in the state.

FINNISH ENVOYS GOING TO MOSCOW

Will Fly To Russian Capital To Iron Out Details Of Peace Treaty

HELSINKI, March 16.—(AP)—A Finnish commission will fly to Moscow Monday to iron out details of the new borders imposed on Finland under last Tuesday's peace treaty while at home the nation tackles rehabilitation and the building of new defenses.

Dr. Juho K. Passikivi revealed today he and the members of the Finnish peace delegation left Helsinki secretly by automobile a week ago last Wednesday and flew from Stockholm to Moscow.

There were five sessions in all, he explained, and the Finnish delegates were treated well and dined on the best of Russian food in an atmosphere "cold but correct."

Joseph Stalin did not attend the meetings but Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff was present throughout.

Dr. Passikivi declared the Russians made no political demands on Finland and when Finnish delegates asked Molotoff of the reaction of offers of allied aid to Finland he replied merely:

"We're not afraid of them."

The former premier said he did not believe the proposed Finnish-Swedish-Norwegian defense alliance could be interpreted as a violation of article three of the Russian-Finnish peace pact, which refers to an alliance directed against Russia. He said, "the northern alliance would be for defense and would be directed against the entire world."

Stockholm advices said exploratory diplomatic exchanges among the three northern countries on the projected alliance were believed well under way

FRANK EARLY DIES IN PRISON HOSPITAL

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—Frank Early, 64, serving a life sentence for the slaying of a detective here in December, 1934, died yesterday in the hospital of the state penitentiary at Angola. The funeral was held here today privately.

Early was convicted May 22, 1935, for the fatal shooting of James T. "Buddy" Ford in a barroom.

A former dock board patrolman here, he had made several applications to the pardon board, the last of which came up last Thursday at a board meeting. He had been in ill health at the prison for some time.

TAX ON INCOME SHOWS BIG JUMP

Collections May Reveal Increase Of More Than 30 Per Cent

(By Associated Press)

Reports of sharp increases in income tax collections in many key cities indicated yesterday (Saturday) that the treasury may be pleasantly surprised when it totals the annual big March yield.

Up until midnight Friday, when the deadline for making returns was reached, the unofficial guess was that a 30 per cent, or $150,000,000 increase over the tax take a year ago might be attained.

But tallies from several important collection districts showed increases well in excess of that figure, although in others the percentage of increase was comparatively moderate.

The Michigan district, home of the giant automobile industry, reported unofficially that collections were running 80 per cent over a year ago. Oregon reported a 42 per cent increase and the Washington-Alaska district noted that collections in the first two months of this year ran about 40 per cent ahead of a year ago. The first California district had a 38 per cent boost.

Here are some samples of increases elsewhere:

Kentucky 37, Ohio 35, Illinois 30, Missouri (Kansas City district) 29, Tennessee 26, Massachusetts 21, western Pennsylvania 21, Florida 20, Georgia 13, New York (in the second district, including the financial area) 5.

Indications were that tax collections in Rhode Island would be two or three times greater than a year ago. Taxpayers there made heavy deductions in their returns on 1938 income to cover losses incurred when a hurricane swept the state in the fall of that year.

The actual cash that the treasury has put in its income tax till since the first of the year shows about a 30

PAUL ENGLISH TO BE BURIED TODAY

BATON ROUGE, La., March 16.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock for Paul English, widely known showman, who died at his home here this afternoon after a prolonged illness.

English, who aided the late Senator Huey P. Long in the composition of some of his political songs and later led in the singing of these songs at political gatherings, continued to write political songs for the state administration until he became incapacitated recently by illness.

English was born in Bristol, Va., 49 years ago, but spent much of his life in Shreveport, the headquarters for his "Paul English shows" which played in tents and old theaters to crowds throughout the southland. Members of his family appeared with him in the old-time melodramas.

Since English shows went broke during the depression he has been employed by the state. He has been in the insurance department of the office of the secretary of state for many years.

He is survived by three daughters, four sisters and two brothers.

DR. E. R. YANCEY SUCCUMBS HERE

Well-Known Monroe Physician Dies Following Lengthy Illness

Dr. Edwin Rhinehart Yancey, 53, for many years one of the best known physicians in north Louisiana and the first specialist in pediatrics in this section of the state, died at his home, 111 Speed drive, Saturday at 6:45 p.m. His death, while a shock to his many professional associates and other friends, was not unexpected as he had been forced by ill health to relinquish active practice for six years.

The body will lie in state at the residence this morning and will be taken to Grace Episcopal church, where the funeral will be held Monday at 10 a.m., with the rector, Rev. E. F. Hayward, officiating. Interment, under direction of the Dixie Funeral home, will take place in Hasley cemetery. The active pallbearers will be: Dr. B. M. McKoin, Dr. W. M. Hunter, Dr. J. Q. Graves, Dr. J. W. Cummings, Dr. F. C. Bennett, and Dr. D. T. Milam. Honorary pallbearers will be all members of the Ouachita Parish Medical society.

Dr. Yancey was a native of Rhinehart, La., where he was born March 12, 1887. On his birthday, last Tuesday, numerous medical associates and members of the Lions club visited him at his home but found his condition was not at all favorable for recovery.

After he had graduated with honors at Jena High school, he entered Tulane university, where he received his early medical education and in

IRISH BELIEVE TROUBLE REMOTE

Expect Calm Celebration Of Palm Sunday And St. Patrick's Day

DUBLIN, March 16.—(AP)—Irish officials can see nothing but the green of shamrocks and palms for Ireland tomorrow despite the ancient superstition that her streets will run red with blood when St. Patrick's day and Palm Sunday fall on the same day.

They said they were taking only the "usual" precautions against disorders.

For the first time in years there will be no processions or demonstrations tomorrow honoring Ireland's patron saint. The Irish army is too busy with an "intensive training program" in preparation for possible "eventualities" to stage a parade.

And for the first time citizens of Ireland will be able to "drown the shamrock" in their own land.

The saint's day officially has been bone dry since the foundation of the Irish Free State, forerunner of the present republic, and those who wanted to drink toasts to the land's patron saint had to cross the border into Ulster.

But saloons in Ireland are open on Sundays—and closed in Ulster—so the migration of the thirsty will be reversed this year.

Prime Minister Eamon de Valera marked St. Patrick's day eve with an appeal to Americans for "active moral support" to "end the dismemberment of Ireland" and to extend the freedom enjoyed by citizens of Ireland to "the whole of the national territory."

He referred to the long struggle of Ireland (Eire to incorporate the six counties of Northern Ireland (Ulster), which remains a part of the United Kingdom.

The public will celebrate St. Patrick's day tomorrow, the state on Monday and the Roman Catholic church on April 3.

The government declared Monday (March 18) a holiday because the feast day falls on Sunday. The church chose April 3 because that was the first free

LECHE, 2 OTHERS DENIED DEMURRER

SHREVEPORT, La., March 16.—(AP)—A demurrer attacking the indictment against former Governor Richard W. Leche, L. P. Abernathy, former state highway commissioner, and George B. Younger, Alexandria truck dealer, charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with purchases of trucks by the highway commission in 1938, was denied in an opinion by Judge Ben C. Dawkins, recorded in the federal clerk's office here today.

The judge granted a motion by the defendants for a bill of particulars setting forth in detail how the mail fraud law was alleged to have been violated.

The defendants alleged that the facts as set forth in the indictment did not constitute conspiracy to use the mails in carrying out the alleged fraud.

The indictment, returned at Lake Charles, alleged that $111,370.56 excess charges were made in the purchase of highway trucks and that Leche obtained $31,000 of this amount.

BRITISH PREMIER TO CONTEND WAR LEADERSHIP GOOD

Full Explanation, Of Course, To Be Delivered To House Tuesday

GOVERNMENT FREQUENTLY CRITICIZED FOR ACTIONS

New Upswing In German Mine Warfare Claims Two English Trawlers

LONDON, March 16.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain will reach his 71st birthday Monday with his war-time leadership subjected to its first serious callenge.

During the week-end he is drafting a comprehensive defense of his conduct of the war, to be delivered Tuesday in the house of commons in reply to charges that the government hesitated until it was too late to give Finland the help she needed to fight off Soviet Russia.

He also faced a review of the war-time administration of the ministry of supply amid growing demands for the resignation of Minister of Supply Leslie Burgin as the result of charges of improper influences in the acquiring of war contracts.

Today informed political observers saw little prospects of any early successful effort to change leaders.

The reason for this lay in the desire of the chief political parties to show a united front in fighting the war and in the description of Chamberlain by his one-time most severe critic, Winston Churchill, now his most important lieutenant:

"He is as obstinate for victory as he was for peace."

The lightning air raids on London and other large cities that many expected did not materialize and the Chamberlain government was criticized for too complete a job of removal of civilians.

Heavy British losses occurred at sea.

British planes dropped leaflets instead of bombs over Germany and when enemy bombers raided the English and Scottish coasts with increas-

SQUEEZE ON U. S. FARMER CLAIMED

Senators Say Economic Pressure Of Britain And France Hurting

WASHINGTON, March 16 — (AP) — Farm-minded senators collected a mass of evidence today intended to show that the British-French economic squeeze play against Germany is pinching the American farmer.

This data will be used on the senate floor next week in an attempt to win approval for a multi-million dollar increase in the farm funds voted by the house.

The senate appropriations committee approved a bill carrying $922,864,668 in new funds and also directed that government lending agencies make $90,000,000 available for agricultural purposes. The house-approved farm bill carried a total of $713,896,084.

Secretary Wallace directed attention of senators to the effect of Great Britain's economic warfare on American agricultural exports.

"Great Britain is doing more than to buy all the food she can from within her own empire so as to conserve her dollar exchange for other purposes," Wallace told the senate appropriations committee. "She is buying large amounts of agricultural products in countries which normally sell to Germany, and she is doing it vigorously as a part of her economic offensive."

As a result, the secretary said, "the

GERMANY GAINS 5-FOLD DIVIDENDS

Von Ribbentrop's Recent Visit To Rome Considered Extremely Profitable

By Louis P. Lochner

BERLIN, March 16.—(AP)—Five-fold dividends have accrued to Nazi Germany through the recent visit to Rome of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, the best informed German observers said tonight.

They are:

1. Italy and Germany drew closer together than ever.

2. All-around appeasement of the Balkans seems assured.

3. Foundations have been laid for Italian-Soviet rapprochement.

4. Von Ribbentrop's talk with Pope Pius XI evoked the most favorable reaction in neutral Spain.

5. The German foreign minister was able to give Benito Mussolini some last-minute German messages for Sumner Welles, President Roosevelt's super-reporter.

Buttonhole any Wilhelmstrasse official these days and he will tell you mysteriously that next week will see the world startled by an event that will, indubitably, show that Italy is on Germany's side in every way save actually going to war.

Just what this event may be is anybody's guess.

As regards Balkan appeasement, both ends of the axis had been working on it before von Ribbentrop's arrival in Rome, informed sources say.

Germany obtained a Russian promise not to make any claims on Rumanian Bessarabia while Italy pressed upon Hungary not to insist just now on having Transylvania, another big Rumanian province.

Instead, Rumania is being urged to conclude non-aggression pacts with the Soviet Union and with Hungary. (High sources in Rumania, however, have said that German conditions for economic monopolies and induction of a pro-Nazi iron guardist into the Rumanian cabinet, which accompanied the German security scheme for Rumania, were unacceptable).

That both Germany and Italy would profit by appeasement in the Balkans is obvious, just as it is true conversely that trouble, beginning in any section of the Balkans, might mean a general conflagration for southeastern Europe.

For this reason German and Italian diplomacy also seems directed at at least neutralizing British-French influence in Turkey.

Von Ribbentrop was able to point out to Mussolini that conclusion of the Russo-Finnish war marks an end

C. I. O. STRIKES AT F. B. I. ACTIVITIES

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP)—The Congress of Industrial Organizations charged the federal bureau of investigation today with "spending much of its time and the public money" in investigations which "constitute grave violations of the constitution."

The accusation was made in the C. I. O. News, official publication of the organization, and was based, the paper said, on a study of testimony before a house appropriations committee by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the F. B. I.

Hoover, the publication said, told the committee of a "general intelligence division" of the bureau which numbered among its duties investigation of subversive activities.

"How far J. Edgar Hoover is prepared to go in setting up a nationwide espionage service against supposed 'subversive' elements is shown not only by his own testimony before congress, but by past history of the F. B. I. in the hysteria of the first World war and the period following it," the paper continued.

"How sharply such activity—supposedly directed against 'spies,' 'subversive agents' and the like—is really directed against organized labor is clear not only from the World war record of the F. B. I. but from Hoover's own industrial activities, his services to anti-union employers and his general attitude toward unionism."

The publication added:

"On the subject of fingerprinting industrial workers, Hoover said that he was now serving over 500 industrial corporations, that he had called 'for conference the officials of various plants' and was getting 'very excellent cooperation' from them."

Approximation Of $25,000 Expected To Be Made For Wire-Tapping Probe

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP)—A projected congressional investigation of wire tapping, interested senators hinted today, may unfold a sensational story of political espionage reaching into a half dozen or more states.

Proponents predicted that the senate audit and control committee would approve next Wednesday a resolution by Senator Green, Democrat, Rhode Island, to provide $25,000 for an inquiry by the interstate commerce committee. They said speedy senate action then would be urged to get the investigation under way.

It was disclosed that tentative plans have been made to summon numerous state and federal officials, as well as officers and employes of some private detective agencies. They would be questioned about what some senators described as an apparent "network" of political espionage in several state capitols.

States mentioned by committee members as likely to figure in the inquiry included Rhode Island, New York, Colorado, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and California.

The committee has received reports, it was learned, of the surreptitious hanging of a microphone in a governor's office, the tapping of the tele-

WELLES FINISHES EUROPEAN TALKS

Awaits Farewell Audience With Pope Monday Before Departing

President Roosevelt's fact-finder had long talks with King Vittorio Emanuele, Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Ciano.

A communique said the talks with Count Ciano and Il Duce were "long and cordial."

Welles' plans to see the pontiff on Monday, however, made diplomats think the entire European situation would then be reviewed.

It was presumed that Welles would see Luigi Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, after his audience with the pope.

The American was silent on his latest conversations, as he has been throughout his tour.

The German ambassador, Hans-Georg Viktor von MacKensen, visited the foreign ministry while Welles and United States Ambassador William Phillips were conferring with Count Ciano. The call was described in both German and American circles as a coincidence, having no bearing on Welles' visit.

It is known, however, that German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, when he was here last week end to confer with Premier Mussolini, discussed Welles' trip. Although there

EIGHT IN FAMILY BURNED TO DEATH

SHIRLEY, Ark., March 16.—(AP)—Eight members of a family were burned to death and two others injured seriously when fire destroyed a four-room farm home five miles west of here today.

Three other 'teen-age boys in the family escaped injury.

Mrs. Sallie Allen, 39, and six of her ten children were trapped in a bedroom and died together.

Her 17-year-old son, Ernest, after escaping from the flames, pushed the family automobile out of danger and then plunged back into the house in an effort to save the others. He died in the blaze.

The father, Otis Allen, 40, and his brother-in-law, Tom Treese, 18, were burned seriously fighting the fire. Treese was reported in a critical condition at a Heber Springs hospital. Allen, a World war veteran, was taken to the United States veterans' hospital at Memphis for treatment.

The six children who died in the room with their mother were Millard, 13; Oma, 12; Glenn, 9; Mellie, 8; Edward, 6; and Vernon, 4.

THOUSANDS CROWD ABOUT AS RESCUE IS ATTEMPTED

Two Bosses Lose Their Lives In Daring Effort To Bring Victims Out

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., March 16.—(AP)—[illegible] 44 [illegible] "black damp" [illegible] tonight.

Two men were killed trying to rescue them. Rescue crews saved 113 others, but most of them were affected by the death-dealing "black damp" which followed a noonday blast.

Officials of the Hanna Coal company, owner of the mine three miles south of here, declined to speculate on the miners' fate. The 44 were cut off from fresh air and entombed behind a rock barrier.

"But they're all dead; they couldn't live through that blast," said Frank Opatrny, one of the rescued men. This view was shared by his fellow workers.

Desperate attempts to contact the imprisoned men failed.

While rescue crews battered at the rock wall some thought it would take all night to break through—efforts were made to force fresh air to the men down a 50-foot shaft.

A revised check by R. L. Ireland, company president, showed that 157 men were in the huge mine when the accident occurred. Many gained safety through the air shaft located at the end of the three-mile long "drift," or horizontal mine.

"On the way we saw men scattered all over the lot," said John Howoroski, 33, of Neffs. Harry Stanley declared, "It looks bad." George Strain asserted that the length of time the men lived depended on the amount of air available in the area where they were trapped.

Strain, state director of industrial relations, was in charge of Ohio mine rescue crews.

John Richards, mine superintendent, and Howard Sanders, tipple boss, lost their lives in a daring rescue effort. They were killed by the treacherous "black damp," a gas which forms in mines after an explosion.

Nearly all of the 160 were affected by the gas to some extent. Scores were treated at an emergency hospital set up in the mine office basement, but there was no immediate indication how many were in serious condition. An undetermined number were reported hurt.

Mike Polecy, 36, of Neffs was burned about the face and arms.

Fifteen men were carried out on stretchers at one time as thousands of persons, many of them tearful wives, crowded around the entrance of the mine, located three miles south of here.

The mine was termed by officials as the Hanna Coal company's "safest." It was one of the most modern in Ohio—equipped with the latest air-conditioning safeguards.

Fire broke out after the blast, which presumably was caused by gas or coal dust. It was later brought under control.

Rescue crews wearing gas masks and carrying cages of canaries to test air conditions hoped to break through the

ROOSEVELT LISTS IDEALS FOR PEACE

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, speaking on a world-wide broadcast, set forth today a list of ideals of international organization without which, he said, no peace can be made on a lasting basis.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland also took part in the program which was held in connection with the Christian foreign service convocation in New York.

"Today we seek a moral basis for peace," Mr. Roosevelt said. "It cannot be a real peace if it fails to recognize brotherhood. It cannot be a lasting peace if the fruit of it is oppression, or starvation, or cruelty, or human life dominated by armed camps.

"It cannot be a sound peace if small nations must live in fear of powerful neighbors. It cannot be a moral peace if freedom from invasion is sold for tribute. It cannot be an intelligent peace if it denies free passage to that knowledge of those ideals which permit men to find common ground. It cannot be a righteous peace if worship of God is denied."

Queen Wilhelmina, broadcasting from the Hague, expressed the hope that mankind may "learn to see through the eyes of Christ and by so doing overcome all ideas, sentiments and conditions that keep men at present so widely apart from each other."

The "first need" of these times, the ruler of Holland declared, "is that of a radical renewal in the life of every individual."

Well-Known Monroe Physician Dies Following Lengthy Illness

Dr. Edwin Rhinehart Yancey, 53, for many years one of the best known physicians in north Louisiana and the first specialist in pediatries in this section of the state, died at his home, 111 Speed drive, Saturday at 6:45 p.m. His death, while a shock to his many professional associates and other friends, was not unexpected as he had been forced by ill health to relinquish active practice for six years.

The body will lie in state at the residence this morning and will be taken to Grace Episcopal church, where the funeral will be held Monday at 10 a.m., with the rector, Rev. E. F. Hayward, officiating. Interment, under direction of the Dixie Funeral home, will take place in Hasley cemetery. The active pallbearers will be: Dr. B. M. McKoin, Dr. W. M. Hunter, Dr. J. Q. Graves, Dr. J. W. Cummings, Dr. F. C. Bennett, and Dr. D. T. Milam. Honorary pallbearers will be all members of the Ouachita Parish Medical society.

Dr. Yancey was a native of Rhinehart, La., where he was born March 12, 1887. On his birthday, last Tuesday, numerous medical associates and members of the Lions club visited him at his home but found his condition was not at all favorable for recovery.

After he had graduated with honors at Jena High school, he entered Tulane university, where he received his early medical education and in

HITCHHIKER KILLED

LAMPASAS, Tex., March 16.—(AP)—An unidentified hitchhiker, who appeared 18 to 20 years of age, was killed near here today when he fell beneath the wheels of a cattle truck and trailer as he was trying to swing aboard for a ride. On the hitchhiker's body was found part of an envelope bearing the address, Joe Ware, Lake Charles, La.

IRISH BELIEVE TROUBLE REMOTE

Expect Calm Celebration Of Palm Sunday And St. Patrick's Day

DUBLIN, March 16.—(AP)—Irish officials can see nothing but the green of shamrocks and palms for Ireland tomorrow despite the ancient superstition that her streets will run red with blood when St. Patrick's day and Palm Sunday fall on the same day.

They said they were taking only the "usual" precautions against disorders.

For the first time in years there will be no processions or demonstrations tomorrow honoring Ireland's patron saint. The Irish army is too busy with an "intensive training program" in preparation for possible "eventualities" to stage a parade.

And for the first time citizens of Ireland will be able to "drown the shamrock" in their own land.

The saint's day officially has been bone dry since the foundation of the Irish Free State, forerunner of the present republic, and those who wanted to drink toasts to the land's patron saint had to cross the border into Ulster.

But saloons in Ireland are open on Sundays—and closed in Ulster—so the migration of the thirsty will be reversed this year.

Prime Minister Eamon de Valera marked St. Patrick's day eve with an appeal to Americans for "active moral support" to "end the dismemberment of Ireland" and to extend the freedom enjoyed by citizens of Ireland to "the whole of the national territory."

He referred to the long struggle of Ireland (Eire to incorporate the six counties of Northern Ireland (Ulster), which remains a part of the United Kingdom.

The public will celebrate St. Patrick's day tomorrow, the state on Monday and the Roman Catholic church on April 3.

The government declared Monday (March 18) a holiday because the feast day falls on Sunday. The church chose April 3 because that was the first free

LECHE, 2 OTHERS DENIED DEMURRER

SHREVEPORT, La., March 16.—(AP)—A demurrer attacking the indictment against former Governor Richard W. Leche, L. P. Abernathy, former state highway commissioner, and George B. Younger, Alexandria truck dealer, charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with purchases of trucks by the highway commission in 1938, was denied in an opinion by Judge Ben C. Dawkins, recorded in the federal clerk's office here today.

The judge granted a motion by the defendants for a bill of particulars setting forth in detail how the mail fraud law was alleged to have been violated.

The defendants alleged that the facts as set forth in the indictment did not constitute conspiracy to use the mails in carrying out the alleged fraud.

The indictment, returned at Lake Charles, alleged that $111,370.56 excess charges were made in the purchase of highway trucks and that Leche obtained $31,000 of this amount.

BRITISH PREMIER TO CONTEND WAR LEADERSHIP GOOD

New Upswing In German Mine Warfare Claims Two English Trawlers

LONDON, March 16.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain will reach his 71st birthday Monday with his wartime leadership subjected to its first serious callenge.

During the week-end he is drafting a comprehensive defense of his conduct of the war, to be delivered Tuesday in the house of commons in reply to charges that the government hesitated until it was too late to give Finland the help she needed to fight off Soviet Russia.

He also faced a review of the wartime administration of the ministry of supply amid growing demands for the resignation of Minister of Supply Leslie Burgin as the result of charges of improper influences in the acquiring of war contracts.

Today informed political observers saw little prospects of any early successful effort to change leaders.

The reason for this lay in the desire of the chief political parties to show a united front in fighting the war and in the description of Chamberlain by his one-time most severe critic, Winston Churchill, now his most important lieutenant:

"He is as obstinate for victory as he was for peace."

The lightning air raids on London and other large cities that many expected did not materialize and the Chamberlain government was criticized for too complete a job of removal of civilians.

Heavy British losses occurred at sea.

British planes dropped leaflets instead of bombs over Germany and when enemy bombers raided the English and Scottish coasts with increas-

SQUEEZE ON U. S. FARMER CLAIMED

Senators Say Economic Pressure Of Britain And France Hurting

WASHINGTON, March 16. — (AP) — Farm-minded senators collected a mass of evidence today intended to show that the British-French economic squeeze play against Germany is pinching the American farmer.

This data will be used on the senate floor next week in an attempt to win approval for a multi-million dollar increase in the farm funds voted by the house.

The senate appropriations committee approved a bill carrying $922,864,668 in new funds and also directed that government lending agencies make $90,000,000 available for agricultural purposes. The house-approved farm bill carried a total of $713,896,084.

Secretary Wallace directed attention of senators to the effect of Great Britain's economic warfare on American agricultural exports.

"Great Britain is doing more than to buy all the food she can from within her own empire so as to conserve her dollar exchange for other purposes," Wallace told the senate appropriations committee. "She is buying large amounts of agricultural products in countries which normally sell to Germany, and she is doing it vigorously as a part of her economic offensive."

As a result, the secretary said, "the

BARBECUE PLANNED FOR 100,000 PERSONS

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—A barbecue for 100,000 persons on May 20 at Baton Rouge as part of Governor Designate Sam Jones inauguration ceremonies is being planned, Charles C. Zatarain, Jones' city campaign manager, announced here today.

Zatarain made public the following letter from John B. Smuller, member of the inauguration committee in the capital:

"In compliance with Sam Jones' request a committee of his friends here have started plans for the barbecue which was promised to the people by Sam in several of his speeches."

Senators Say Startling Story Of Espionage In Politics To Be Bared

Von Ribbentrop's Recent Visit To Rome Considered Extremely Profitable

By Louis P. Lochner

BERLIN, March 16.—(AP)— Five-fold dividends have accrued to Nazi Germany through the recent visit to Rome of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, the best informed German observers said tonight.

They are:

1. Italy and Germany drew closer together than ever.

2. All-around appeasement of the Balkans seems assured.

3. Foundations have been laid for Italian-Soviet rapprochement.

4. Von Ribbentrop's talk with Pope Pius XI evoked the most favorable reaction in neutral Spain.

5. The German foreign minister was able to give Benito Mussolini some last-minute German messages for Sumner Welles, President Roosevelt's super-reporter.

Buttonhole any Wilhelmstrasse official these days and he will tell you mysteriously that next week will see the world startled by an event that will, indubitably, show that Italy is on Germany's side in every way save actually going to war.

Just what this event may be is anybody's guess.

As regards Balkan appeasement, both ends of the axis had been working on it before von Ribbentrop's arrival in Rome, informed sources say.

Germany obtained a Russian promise not to make any claims on Rumanian Bessarabia while Italy pressed upon Hungary not to insist just now on having Transylvania, another big Rumanian province.

Instead, Rumania is being urged to conclude non-aggression pacts with the Soviet Union and with Hungary. (High sources in Rumania, however, have said that German conditions for economic monopolies and induction of a pro-Nazi iron guardist into the Rumanian cabinet, which accompanied the German security scheme for Rumania, were unacceptable).

That both Germany and Italy would profit by appeasement in the Balkans is obvious, just as it is true conversely that trouble, beginning in any section of the Balkans, might mean a general conflagration for southeastern Europe.

For this reason German and Italian diplomacy also seems directed at at least neutralizing British-French influence in Turkey.

C. I. O. STRIKES AT F. B. I. ACTIVITIES

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP)—The Congress of Industrial Organizations charged the federal bureau of investigation today with "spending much of its time and the public money" in investigations which "constitute grave violations of the constitution."

The accusation was made in the C. I. O. News, official publication of the organization, and was based, the paper said, on a study of testimony before a house appropriations committee by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the F. B. I.

Hoover, the publication said, told the committee of a "general intelligence division" of the bureau which numbered among its duties investigation of subversive activities.

"How far J. Edgar Hoover is prepared to go in setting up a nationwide espionage service against supposed 'subversive' elements is shown not only by his own testimony before congress, but by past history of the F. B. I. in the hysteria of the first World war and the period following it," the paper continued.

"How sharply such activity—supposedly directed against 'spies,' 'subversive agents' and the like—is really directed against organized labor is clear not only from the World war record of the F. B. I. but from Hoover's own industrial activities, his services to anti-union employers and his general attitude toward unionism."

The publication added:

"On the subject of fingerprinting industrial workers, Hoover said that he was now serving over 500 industrial corporations, that he had called 'for conference the officials of various plants' and was getting 'very excellent cooperation' from them."

Approximation Of $25,000 Expected To Be Made For Wire-Tapping Probe

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP)—A projected congressional investigation of wire-tapping, interested senators hinted today, may unfold a sensational story of political espionage reaching into a half dozen or more states.

Proponents predicted that the senate audit and control committee would approve next Wednesday a resolution by Senator Green, Democrat, Rhode Island, to provide $25,000 for an inquire by the itnerstate commerce committee. They said speedy senate action then would be urged to get the investigation under way.

It was disclosed that tentative plans have been made to summon numerous state and federal officials, as well as officers and employes of some private detective agencies. They would be questioned about what some senators described as an apparent "network" of political espionage in several state capitols.

States mentioned by committee members as likely to figure in the inquiry included Rhode Island, New York, Colorado, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and California.

The committee has received reports, it was learned, of the surreptitious hanging of a mircrophone in a governor's office, the tapping of the tele-

WELLES FINISHES EUROPEAN TALKS

Awaits Farewell Audience With Pope Monday Before Departing

President Roosevelt's fact-finder had long talks with King Vittorio Emanuele, Premier Musscolini and Foreign Minister Count Ciano.

A communique said the talks with Count Ciano and Il Duce were "long and cordial."

Welles' plans to see the pontiff on Monday, however, made diplomats think the entire European situation would then be reviewed.

It was presumed that Welles would see Luigi Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, after his audience with the pope.

The American was silent on his latest conversations, as he has been throughout his tour.

The German ambassador, Hans-Georg Viktor von MacKensen, visited the foreign ministry while Welles and United States Ambassador William Phillips were conferring with Count Ciano. The call was described in both German and American circles as a coincidence, having no bearing on Welles' visit.

It is known, however, that German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, when he was here last week end to confer with Premier Mussolini, discussed Welles' trip. Although there

EIGHT IN FAMILY BURNED TO DEATH

SHIRLEY, Ark., March 16.—(AP)—Eight members of a family were burned to death and two others injured seriously when fire destroyed a four-room farm home five miles west of here today.

Three other 'teen-age boys in the family escaped injury.

Mrs. Sallie Allen, 39, and six of her ten children were trapped in a bedroom and died together.

Her 17-year-old son, Ernest, after escaping from the flames, pushed the family automobile out of danger and then plunged back into the house in an effort to save the others. He died in the blaze.

The father, Otis Allen, 40, and his brother-in-law, Tom Treese, 48, were burned seriously fighting the fire. Treese was reported in a critical condition at a Heber Springs hospital. Allen, a World war veteran, was taken to the United States veterans' hospital at Memphis for treatment.

The six children who died in the room with their mother were Millard, 13; Oma, 12; Glenn, 9; Mellie, 8; Edward, 6; and Vernon, 4.

113 Reach Surface After Explosion But Nearly All Affected By Gas

THOUSANDS CROWD ABOUT AS RESCUE IS ATTEMPTED

Two Bosses Lose Their Lives In Daring Effort To Bring Victims Out

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., March 16.—(AP)—Forty-four men entombed in the explosion-torn Willow Grove coal mine were feared dead tonight.

Two men were killed trying to rescue them. Rescue crews saved 113 other miners, most of whom were affected by the death-dealing "black damp" which followed a noonday blast.

Officials of the Hanna Coal company, owner of the mine three miles south of here, declined to speculate on the miners' fate. The 44 were cut off from fresh air and entombed behind a rock barrier.

"But they're all dead—they couldn't live through that blast," said Frank Opatrny, one of the rescued men. This view was shared by his fellow workers.

Desperate attempts to contact the imprisoned men failed.

While rescue crews battered at the rock wall—some thought it would take all night to break through—efforts were made to force fresh air to the men down a 90-foot shaft.

A revised check by R. L. Ireland, company president, showed that 157 men were in the huge mine when the accident occurred. Many gained safety through the air shaft located at the end of the three-mile long "drift," or horizontal mine.

"On the way we saw men scattered all over the lot," said John Howoroski, 33, of Neffs. Harry Stanley declared, "It looks bad." George Strain asserted that the length of time the men lived depended on the amount of air available in the area where they were trapped.

Strain, state director of industrial relations, was in charge of Ohio mine rescue crews.

John Richards, mine superintendent, and Howard Sanders, tipple boss, lost their lives in a daring rescue effort. They were killed by the treacherous "black damp," a gas which forms in mines after an explosion.

Nearly all of the 160 were affected by the gas to some extent. Scores were treated at an emergency hospital set up in the mine office basement, but there was no immediate indication how many were in serious condition. An undetermined number were reported hurt.

Mike Polecy, 36, of Neffs was burned about the face and arms.

Fifteen men were carried out on stretchers at one time as thousands of persons, many of them tearful wives, crowded around the entrance of the mine, located three miles south of here.

The mine was termed by officials as the Hanna Coal company's "safest." It was one of the most modern in Ohio—equipped with the latest air-conditioning safeguards.

Fire broke out after the blast, which presumably was caused by gas or coal dust. It was later brought under control.

Rescue crews wearing gas masks and carrying cages of canaries to test air conditions hoped to break through the

ROOSEVELT LISTS IDEALS FOR PEACE

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, speaking on a world-wide broadcast, set forth today a list of ideals of international organization without which, he said, no peace can be made on a lasting basis.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland also took part in the program which was held in connection with the Christian foreign service convocation in New York.

"Today we seek a moral basis for peace," Mr. Roosevelt said. "It cannot be a real peace if it fails to recognize brotherhood. It cannot be a lasting peace if the fruit of it is oppression, or starvation, or cruelty, or human life dominated by armed camps.

"It cannot be a sound peace if small nations must live in fear of powerful neighbors. It cannot be a moral peace if freedom from invasion is sold for tribute. It cannot be an intelligent peace if it denies free passage to that knowledge of those ideals which permit men to find common ground. It cannot be a righteous peace if worship of God is denied."

Queen Wilhelmina, broadcasting from the Hague, expressed the hope that mankind may "learn to see through the eyes of Christ and by so doing overcome all ideas, sentiments and conditions that keep men at present so widely apart from each other."

The "first need" of these times, the ruler of Holland declared, "is that of a radical renewal in the life of every individual."

ROLAND GUNDRY TO PLAY HERE

Youthful Violin Artist To Appear Under Auspices Of Civic Music Group

The fourth and final concert of the season for 1939-1940 of the Civic Music association in Monroe will be held at Northeast Junior college auditorium Monday at 8:15 p.m. The artist to be presented will be Roland Gundry, violinist. This youthful artist, who is only slightly more than 17 years of age, has already charmed and amazed two continents, having appeared to vast assemblages in both Europe and America.

The past season has been regarded as the most successful of the kind held here in several years and the artists that have appeared have been of unusually high class and their programs such as to delight music lovers both old and young.

The Gundry concert will be, it is believed, heard with unusual interest. The program has been announced as follows:

La Folia	Corelli-Kreisler
Chaconne (for violin alone)	Bach
Concerto	Ernst
Intermission.
Two Caprices (For violin alone)	Paganini
Tango	Albeniz
Fantasie from "Carmen"	Sarasate

Eugene Helmer at the piano.

CHAPTER XIX

When Ann walked into the living room even Florabelle was speechless. These girls, cheap in their wants, tawdry in their ideas, for just a moment sensed something beyond themselves, something made up of breeding and culture.

"Gee—" said Neddy.

"Gee—" came Teddy's echo.

Clara boasted, "It's all written up on the society page." She got the paper. "See? Athens club spring ball—Oh, Ann—I'd be scared to death—I wouldn't know how to act." It was her admission of inferiority.

Neddy scoffed, "Swell folks act just like we do at the taverns." It was another admission.

Teddy opened her mouth to reiterate, but Florabelle broke in lazily.

"These fraternity dances are all right," she granted. "Personally, I prefer a smaller party."

Myrtle came timidly from the background. "Can I touch it, Ann?" she asked.

Ann held up the skirt for her inspection. "I got it cheap because the pattern goes hay-wire," she explained, pointing out the discrepancy with difficulty.

"It's swell," Myrtle sighed. "I wish Bill could see you. He likes pretty things."

Paul arrived and was greeted by the audience. He had eyes only for Ann. He wore a nicely tailored tux, not double-breasted and midnight blue, but most presentable. He held the evening wrap and Ann slid her arms into the wide sleeves. She smiled her thanks to Florabelle.

The girls hung over the rail as they descended. Myrtle had rushed on ahead to dust the stairs. They found her at the foot, rubbing away industriously. She scampered to the back of the house, not answering when Ann called, "Good night, Myrtle."

Driving down town in a cab, with the radio humming softly, Ann said, "I suppose it's because I'm unsophisticated that I feel so thrilled. But I love it. I love the feel of my dress, I love for you to look like that. It makes me feel precious, somehow."

He laughed understandingly. "Even people like us have moments, Ann. Because they are so few we must make the most of them."

She looked out at the myriad lights. "I'm going to make every single minute count. Tonight must be more than tonight, it must be a lovely memory. Who knows, it may be my nicest memory."

Paul reached for her hand and thought better of it. "You're a funny youngster," he said.

"I guess we're two funny youngsters," she returned, "overstepping our budgets, pretending to be what we are not, but it's fun, Paul—such a lot of fun."

If Ann wanted memories, she made them that night. She stood out, a bewitching individual, among a hundred girls. Her white and gold slimness, the glory of her hair, her expression of naive delight, drew eyes to her. She knew the eyes followed her as she went through the lounge to the dressing room. She overheard murmurs. "Who is she—who is that girl—whom did she come with?" Ann would not have been human if the admiring eyes and the murmurs had not added to her heady elation.

Girls in the dressing room eyed her gown approvingly. At the powder bar they talked to her as if she were one of them. When she returned to Paul he was laughing with a group of young men. Ann had never seen him so alive. For that little hour he was not a stock man in the 10-cent store, he was a college man, fraternizing with his own kind. Seeing Ann, he held out his hand to her.

"This is Ann Brown," he said, naming the men in turn. She stood in the center of the group, like a white and gold lily against the dark tuxedos. She made the right answers and the masculine circle knew. At last she and Paul drifted toward the dance floor.

"I wish I'd sent you an orchid, Ann," he said. "You and orchids are in the same class."

"That's a very pretty speech and I'll treasure it long after an orchid would have wilted and died. Tomorrow when I'm a weed again it will be something to think about." She laughed up at him. "There is no tomorrow. There is only tonight."

Suddenly they came face to face with Steve Claybourne. His eyes slid over Ann in unfeigned admiration. With him was a dark-haired girl. Ann, glancing at her, knew that she was about to meet Irene Temple and that the two were strangely alike.

"Hello, Steve," she said easily. "I want you to know my friend, Paul Hayden."

The men shook hands. Steve said, "Miss Temple—Miss Brown, Mr. Hayden." He looked from one girl to the other. The tilt of Irene's head was no prouder, no more assured, than was Ann's. Steve had come alone to the party. He had come for two reasons, to see if Ann had been lying and to see Ann.

Irene said, "Steve has been telling me about you, Miss Brown. He thinks we resemble each other."

"I am flattered," Ann answered sweetly.

Irene looked her up and down. "You've got a better figure," she said.

They all laughed and parted. Stepping to the polished floor, Paul took Ann in his arms. They danced without speaking. Her hair brushed his cheek, she was like fragrant thistledown.

"We do all right," he said as the music stopped.

Ann nodded. "The first time a girl dances with a man is something of an experiment," she said. "It can be delicious and it can be dreadful, you never know until you try."

"Which category do I come under?" Paul inquired amusedly.

"De-lovely," she said, giving him a glance from under her amazing lashes.

The music again. They melted together as if the short separation had been unendurable.

Paul said, "Don't flirt with me, Ann."

"All right."

"You could be quite upsetting if I allowed you to be."

"I'll be careful."

"We're friends," he said seriously. "I'd hate to have you become an enemy."

As they passed the stag line Steve stepped out on the floor. He touched Paul's shoulder. Ann found herself in another pair of arms. After that it was a succession of arms, music, rhythm and breathtaking rapture.

Now and again she danced with Paul, more often she followed Steve's well-timed steps. She passed Paul with different girls. Passing, they always smiled.

It was almost midnight when Ann discovered that Steve was quite drunk. He had been growing a trifle more so with every dance with him. She saw Paul in the stag line and signaled for aid. As he shot out across the floor, he was stopped by Irene Temple. She held out her hands and, perforce, he danced with her.

Steve was mumbling in Ann's ear, "Come on—let's get out of here—too damn hot. Let's go down to the bar."

"I'd rather dance," she said, holding herself away from his ardent embrace.

"Do you know what you make me think of?" he asked.

"No," she answered indifferently.

"An icicle—a damn little icicle." When she said nothing, he added, "I'm going to kiss you, Miss Brown, and my kisses are guaranteed to melt the most stubborn icicle."

His feet were not quite sure, his diction was more than a little blurred. With difficulty Ann kept her little gold slippers out of his clumsy way. His arm tightened and she looked frantically for Paul.

HOME HAZARDS UNDER ATTACK

The Junior Red Cross launched its annual home and farm accident prevention program at its regular monthly meeting held at chapter headquarters Wednesday. Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr., chapter chairman of the Junior Red Cross, discussed the program in detail and the representatives from each school were given check lists for common hazards in and about the home and on the farm. They have been instructed to distribute these check lists to each child in the schools who will, it is hoped thoroughly check his home with the aid of his parents and remove all accident hazards.

Parents are urged to cooperate with their children in carrying out the home and farm accident prevention program. Statistics show that more than one-thrid of all fatal accidents and nearly half of all injuries are sustained in and about the home. Home accident's annual toll shows 39,000 killed, 150,000 crippled, and five million injured. Following the check list of the American National Red Cross, the members of the Junior Red Cross will check hazards in connection with floors and stairways, porches and balconies, appliances and equipment, sharp tools and instruments, toys, fires, trash and rubbish, firearms, foods, poisons, garage and in the yard.

Kite Contest Puts Strange Creatures High In The Air

Queer-Colored Birds, Fish And Butterflies Float At Local School

Spring was in the air and the air was full of foreign bodies—huge, queer-colored birds, yellow and black fish, enormous butterflies, blue stars, a red and black elephant's head, huge flowers, a bat, Sitting Bull, and an American Confucius with a red tie.

No, it wasn't the morning after the night before; it was a kite-flying contest at Barkdull Faulk school, sponsored by the seventh grade class. As a part of an all-year project on weather, students made their own kites under supervision of Miss Louise Moore, city art supervisor, and flew them in the contest. Mrs. Austin Meier, instructor, directed the contest and Miss Lucyle Godwin, head of the Monroe recreation center, was the judge.

To four kites went blue ribbon awards. By far the best performance in the air was given by the mammoth bird constructed by Charles Delaney and Willis Carter. Splashed with outlandish colors, it dipped and twirled and cut many a fancy figure.

A square kite of green, yellow and white tissue paper held its own in the air and took a prize. It was made by Gladys Alford, assisted by Helen Mitchell and Dolly Ruth Thornhill. Slightly out of season, perhaps, but certainly not out of the flying was the yellow chrysanthemum, for which Pauline Whittington was responsible. Fate seemed to have a grudge against the red and silver airplane—streamlined and in tip-top shape for flying. Every time it went up, it ran right into trouble. First it tied up with a tree; then it nosedived into a scramble of telephone wires; then the string broke and it cut a few clever capers and made a three-point landing. It is the handwork of Francis Howard and G. W. Hewitt.

Other entries in the race offered plenty of variety and a dash of originality. There was a green and gold star, made by Pauline Whittington; and a black and orange three-stick bow, made by Dollie Ruth Thornhill and Edward Whittington. Charlotte Pettit and Helen Mitchell did a good job of Americanizing sage Confucius by decking the almost life-sized figure in red, white and blue garments.

Realistic enough almost to be fed peanuts was the elephant's head kite constructed by L. F. Cummings, Edward Whittington and Ralph Walker[illegible]. Angie Marie [illegible] made a beautiful kite, an orange, blue and black butterfly, which fluttered gracefully around before diving its scan of air. Not such a pretty sight was the weird black bat made by [illegible] and Elaine McAlister. "Sitting Bull" was well aired out during the race. The varicolored Indian headed kite was the work of Cecil Fleming and Elmer Harris. Daisy Hollis made a green tissue, two-stick kite with a tricky black design, and Anita Shaw and Evelyn Adams were responsible for "Blue Baby," an infant kite bearing the major planets and a gay plaid tail. The long white and yellow fish, constructed by Elaine McMullen, Virginia Bridges and Louise Gober looked good enough to eat but it refused to fly.

Two bright fish floated on poles. They were made by Marie Colvin, Irene Walls, Evelyn Williams and Lessie Mae Graves, who explained that the Japanese fly their kites from poles.

Uncertain as the weather is, these seventh grade students are getting quite a line on it. In the classroom [illegible]

Youthful Violin Artist To Appear Under Auspices Of Civic Music Group

The fourth and final concert of the season for 1939-1940 of the Civic Music association in Monroe will be held at Northeast Junior college auditorium Monday at 8:15 p.m. The artist to be presented will be Roland Gundry, violinist. This youthful artist, who is only slightly more than 17 years of age, has already charmed and amazed two continents, having appeared to vast assemblages in both Europe and America.

The past season has been regarded as the most successful of the kind held here in several years and the artists that have appeared have been of unusually high class and their programs such as to delight music lovers both old and young.

The Gundry concert will be, it is believed, heard with unusual interest. The program has been announced as follows:

La Folia	Corelli-Kreisler
Chaconne (for violin alone)	Bach
Concerto	Ernst
Intermission.
Two Caprices (For violin alone)	Paganini
Tango	Albeniz

CHAPTER XIX

When Ann walked into the living room even Florabelle was speechless. These girls, cheap in their wants, tawdry in their ideas, for just a moment sensed something beyond themselves, something made up of breeding and culture.

"Gee—" said Neddy.

"Gee—" came Teddy's echo.

Clara boasted, "It's all written up on the society page." She got the paper. "See? Athens club spring ball—Oh, Ann—I'd be scared to death—I wouldn't know how to act." It was her admission of inferiority.

Neddy scoffed, "Swell folks act just like we do at the taverns." It was another admission.

Teddy opened her mouth to reiterate, but Florabelle broke in lazily.

"These fraternity dances are all right," she granted. "Personally, I prefer a smaller party."

Myrtle came timidly from the background. "Can I touch it, Ann?" she asked.

Ann held up the skirt for her inspection. "I got it cheap because the pattern goes hay-wire," she explained, pointing out the discrepancy with difficulty.

"It's swell," Myrtle sighed. "I wish Bill could see you. He likes pretty things."

Paul arrived and was greeted by the audience. He had eyes only for Ann. He wore a nicely tailored tux, not double-breasted and midnight blue, but most presentable. He held the evening wrap and Ann slid her arms into the wide sleeves. She smiled her thanks to Florabelle.

The girls hung over the rail as they descended. Myrtle had rushed on ahead to dust the stairs. They found her at the foot, rubbing away industriously. She scampered to the back of the house, not answering when Ann called, "Good night, Myrtle."

Driving down town in a cab, with the radio humming softly, Ann said, "I suppose it's because I'm unsophisticated that I feel so thrilled. But I love it. I love the feel of my dress, I love for you to look like that. It makes me feel precious, somehow."

He laughed understandingly. "Even people like us have moments, Ann. Because they are so few we must make the most of them."

She looked out at the myriad lights. "I'm going to make every single minute count. Tonight must be more than tonight, it must be a lovely memory. Who knows, it may be my nicest memory."

Paul reached for her hand and thought better of it. "You're a funny youngster," he said.

"I guess we're two funny youngsters," she returned, "overstepping our budgets, pretending to be what we are not, but it's fun, Paul—such a lot of fun."

If Ann wanted memories, she made them that night. She stood out, a bewitching individual, among a hundred girls. Her white and gold slimness, the glory of her hair, her expression of naive delight, drew eyes to her. She knew the eyes followed her as she went through the lounge to the dressing room. She overheard murmurs. "Who is she—who is that girl—whom did she come with?" Ann would not have been human if the admiring eyes and the murmurs had not added to her heady elation.

Girls in the dressing room eyed her gown approvingly. At the powder bar they talked to her as if she were one of them. When she returned to Paul he was laughing with a group of young men. Ann had never seen him so alive. For that little hour he was not a stock man in the 10-cent store, he was a college man, fraternizing with his own kind. Seeing Ann, he held out his hand to her.

"This is Ann Brown," he said, naming the men in turn. She stood in the center of the group, like a white and gold lily against the dark tuxedos. She made the right answers and the masculine circle knew. At last she and Paul drifted toward the dance floor.

"I wish I'd sent you an orchid, Ann," he said. "You and orchids are in the same class."

"That's a very pretty speech and I'll treasure it long after an orchid would have wilted and died. Tomorrow, when I'm a weed again, it will be something to think about." She laughed up at him. "There is no tomorrow. There is only tonight."

Suddenly they came face to face with Steve Claybourne. His eyes slid over Ann in unfeigned admiration. With him was a dark-haired girl. Ann, glancing at her, knew that she was about to meet Irene Temple and that the two were strangely alike.

"Hello, Steve," she said easily. "I want you to know my firend, Paul Hayden."

The men shook hands. Steve said, "Miss Temple—Miss Brown, Mr. Hayden." He looked from one girl to the other. The tilt of Irene's head was no prouder, no more assured, than was Ann's. Steve had come alone to the party. He had come for two reasons, to see if Ann had been lying and—to see Ann.

Irene said, "Steve has been telling me about you, Miss Brown. He thinks we resemble each other."

"I am flattered," Ann answered sweetly.

Irene looked her up and down. "You've got a better figure," she said.

They all laughed and parted. Stepping to the polished floor, Paul took Ann in his arms. They danced without speaking. Her hair brushed his cheek, she was like fragrant thistledown.

"Which category do I come under?" Paul inquired amusedly.

"De-lovely," she said, giving him a glance from under her amazing lashes.

The music again. They melted together as if the short separation had been unendurable.

Paul said, "Don't flirt with me, Ann."

"All right."

"You could be quite upsetting if I allowed you to be."

"I'll be careful."

"We're friends," he said seriously. "I'd hate to have you become an enemy."

His feet were not quite sure, his diction was more than a little blurred. With difficulty Ann kept her little gold slippers out of his clumsy way. His arm tightened and she looked frantically for Paul.

Uncertain as the weather is, those seventh grade students are getting quite a line on it. In the classroom they have weather instruments and keep a day by day record of conditions. Too, they study all phases of weather and use their information to advantage in their other school work. The kite lesson was practical application of facts learned in a study of the wind.

PALM SUNDAY AND ST. PATRICK'S DAY CELEBRATED TODAY

Today is St. Patrick's day and also by a twist of fate or the calendar, one or both, it is Palm Sunday. Such a combination has not happened since the year 1799, say local experts. Nor will it again so happen until the year 2231—so far distant that it will in no way affect any who are living today!

As the two important days fell on the same day, St. Patrick's day is being observed in some places on Monday, while others observed it on Saturday.

St. Patrick, patron saint of Ireland, was born about 389, A. D. His father was a middle-class landed proprietor and a decurion. When 16 years old, St. Patrick was carried away by a band of Irish marauders and held in bondage for six years. He was ultimately able to make his escape.

In a dream he saw, in a moment of profound religious enthusiasm, what he regarded a call to mission labors. He immediately went to France where he prepared himself for his life work as missionary.

Today the Irish treasure his life work among their most sacred memories.

For Gastric Ulcer Pains Coat the Stomach Lining

Many medical clinics now use bismuth for acid stomach ulcer pains. Bismuth coats the stomach lining on the sensitive parts, thus preventing the irritating action of digestive secretions and foods. Udga Tablets contain bismuth and other valuable ingredients in a balanced formula. They have been praised by thousands. Try a 25c box of Udga for relief of ulcer and stomach pains, indigestion, gas pains, heartburn, burning sensation, bloat and other conditions caused by excess acid. Udga Tablets are safe to use and must help or your money refunded. At good drug stores everywhere.—Adv.

Machines As Taxpayers

Ever since the first monarch thought up the system of taxation to keep the wheels of government greased, the people's enthusiasm toward taxes has been about equal to that toward smallpox and scarlet fever.

No one has yet devised the perfect method of taxation, and no one ever will. To be perfect, it must be painless. And taxes, in whatever form they are levied, are never completely innocuous.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Democrat, Wyoming, however, has a scheme he thinks would go a long way toward solving unemployment and establishing an equitable tax basis. Senator O'Mahoney has it figured out like this: Men who work pay taxes. When machines come along and replace the human workers, the jobless men are no longer able to pay taxes. Therefore, tax the machines, in proportion to the number of jobs they are taking away.

Regardless of what may be the fate of Senator O'Mahoney's proposal, it must be borne in mind that unemployment is a cancer that has eaten too deeply into American economic life to be destroyed by mere readjustment of the tax structure. No matter how they may be disguised, taxes will have to total precisely what they add up to now, if not more. And no matter how they may be rearranged, they will ultimately be paid by the same people who are paying them now.

Senator O'Mahoney would grant tax credits to employers who used more human workers, fewer machines. The idea would be to halt the inroads the machine is making at the expense of employes.

Perhaps it would work in some cases, but it can scarcely be expected to remove the scourge of unemployment. The development of new machines represents progress, and you can't stop that.

It is all right to experiment with new methods of taxation in the hope that some day the fairest possible system will be achieved. But 10 million men will not get jobs by mere juggling of taxes. Taxes will pretty well take care of themselves when everyone has a job. When men are out of work, the remaining taxpayers must not only assume the jobless' share of the burden but must actually help in providing for the unemployed.

Unemployment must be tackled from the ground up, not from the top down. Unequitable tax burdens on some are manifestations of unemployment, not causes.

FORCED SAVINGS IN WAR

Paradoxically, John Maynard Keynes, the British economist whose pump-priming theories are embodied in New Deal practices in the United States, is putting reverse English on those theories in a plan to help the British people do their share in winning the war with Germany.

As contrasted to spending for the purpose of stimulating recovery, he now advocates compulsory saving by men and women of Britain to augment national funds for war purposes, and to cut down private demand for consumable goods. As Keynes retailed his ideas to 250 members of parliament, its purpose is to prevent inflation by higher wages and rising prices.

At the end of the war the availability for spending of a huge lump sum would, according to the Keynes reasoning, stimulate economic readjustment and recovery, in effect being pump-priming on an important scale, but not one as grandiose as that of the New Deal.

After the United States entered the World war, billions of dollars were found for government use through Liberty loans subscribed to on a theoretically voluntary basis. There was, of course, the implication of loss of caste if one did not buy. Another time, financing the conflict by compulsion would certainly be proposed, and might even be put into operation if the government were in the hands of the planners.

WORKS BOTH WAYS

At the meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers in New York a clean bill of health was given to inventors. It was asserted that invention is not responsible for what is called technological unemployment. America has simply not put up the capital for the new industries which science and invention are steadily making possible.

But there are two kinds of inventions—originative and intensive. The telephone, the radio, the automobile were among the originative inventions. They laid the basis for vast expansions of employment. But along came the intensive inventor perfecting machines which with one stamp turn out a piece of work once requiring the services of many men. They save manufacturing costs, and they reduce jobs.

America currently is low on originative inventions and high on intensive ones. And unemployment will persist until the scales are balanced.

Washington, about to put a poor Wisconsin shoemaker in jail for not answering census questions, has changed its mind. The bureaucrats occasionally pause when there is an election in the offing.

THE STORY OF DEMOCRACY

By Hendrik Willem van Loon

CHAPTER XII

Pericles did not overstate his case when he pronounced his famous funeral oration and summed up the glories of that Athenian democracy which could indeed stand as an example to all the other nations of Greece. For no other city had ever reached such a pinnacle of glory.

But by what name was Athens known to the rest of Greece? It was decried as the "tyrant city." Its government was denounced as an ambitious imperial organization which existed only to plunder its so-called allies for the purpose of erecting those magnificent public buildings in the town of Athens, which were of no benefit to any one except the Athenians themselves, and to maintain those universities (for every famous philosopher was really a one-man academy of learning) which only upset the simple faith of the ancestors and filled the minds of the youngsters with those dangerous radical and modern ideas which in the end must destroy the ideals of Greek civilization as they had been handed down from the ancestors.

Were these accusations true or were they false?

Partly they were true. Athens had dealt in a very high-handed manner with her less capable neighbors, towards whom Pericles undoubtedly felt as Hitler felt towards his easy-going and incompetent fellow citizens of Austria.

But on the other side of the picture, there were the positive achievements of this brilliant democracy which almost overnight had opened up new visions of progress, of which the world until then had never dared to dream. Why could not the jealous neighbors overlook a few shortcomings for the sake of their common goal?

Why in our own day and age could England and Germany not live in peace and harmony when they could so easily have come to terms about their respective spheres of influence—Germany being allowed to dominate the European continent while England took care of her maritime empire? I do not know the answer. I can only state the facts and observe the results and those were exactly the same in the fifth century B. C. as they seem to be in the twentieth century A. D.

Ever since the beginning of time, there had been two conflicting theories of life and they had dominated the whole of Greek history. Sparta had always represented the interests of the landed gentry (of the Junkers, as we used to call them in Germany, whereas Athens had stood for the ideal of a state based upon oversea commerce.

Once more we see how little our world changes in its true essentials.

For always we seem to have had these two conflicting philosophies of life with us—the man of the soil against the man of the sea—the conservative farmer, unwilling to accept any sudden changes (since Nature, with whom he deals all his lifelong days is the Great Conservative) and the merchant and trader who must make quick and unexpected decisions.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

LOEW'S STATE THEATER, NEW YORK CITY, March 16—Dear Staff: A woman visitor back-stage yesterday left me with a fresh idea. "Why do you write so often about how much the stars owe their public?" she asked. "The public will support a star only as long as his pictures are worth seeing. You must have noticed how quickly 'fans' desert any player whose pictures falter. So what does a star owe the public?"

By golly, the lady is right! A star receives fan support only as long as he is entertaining. But if he is entertaining, he is giving the public its money's worth, so he need not cater to anybody. On the contrary, the public is lucky to have that star to amuse them.

I realize that I have written for years about "actors' debts to their fans" and "where would any star be without fans." But as my lady visitor wisely stated, "Where would the public find good amusement as cheaply as it can be found on the screen?"

So I guess it's a fifty-fifty bargain between star and public. Without the stars, there would be no fans; without the fans there would be no stars. So nobody owes nobody nothing, as our cowboy heroes would say.

Next time I hear some youngster scream at an actor, "Where would you be without us?" I shall take him aside and ask if he makes it a practice to see that star's bad pictures. If his answer is yes, then he has a right to scream. But if he goes to see only the good pictures, he is getting his money's worth, and he has no yell coming.

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dear Philosopher: You've worked out a very clever brief, but we can't help being just a bit suspicious about such a sudden change in your views. James—honest Injun, now—are you getting an actor's complex on this tour? If you are, please come home while all can still be forgiven!

Darryl Zanuck, who wants Betty Grable's curves for a picture—pronto—is urging producers of her stage hit, "Du Barry Was a Lady," to substitute another actress in her role . . . If vehement denials means anything, black-out those Wayne Morris—Bubbles Schinasi divorce rumors. . . . Add peas-in-a-pod: Ida Lupino and English-star Jessie Matthews . . . Claude Rains trains out tomorrow for an earthy interlude on his Pennsylvania farm. . . . Helen Gilbert's neglecting her spare-time 'cello studies to play a melody on the heart-strings of Agent Vic Orsatti, June Lang's ex. . . . Joe Sawyer, 200 pound villain of the "Cisco Kid" thrillers, was so jittery yesterday at prospect of a first screen kiss from sexsational Mary Beth Hughes that he muffed six takes before lip met lip. . . . Tyrone Power's still crutching as a result of those ski injuries.

Marjorie Weaver gets No. 1 billing in the day's most chucklesome item. All last week she was swamped by phone calls from strange swains, asking her for dates. Mystified, for her phone number is unlisted and strictly private, Marjorie held the receiver long enough to fire at her umpteenth caller an indignant "how come?" "Well," said the stranger, "since you won't go out with me, I guess I might as well tell you. You go to the drug store at the corner of Hollywood and Highland, and look at the wall of the first phone booth. Then you'll understand." Marjorie followed instructions and found there, printed in letters an inch high, her name and her private number. Evidently one of her many beaus is a doodler.

M-G-M and Paul Whiteman have finally agreed on price for the appearance of his orchestra in "Strike Up the Band" . . . Tom Brown is being so attentive to Ann Nagel's mama that you can almost hear wedding bells ring. . . . Bette Davis' vacation trip east this spring will be another station-wagon trek . . . Jean Hersholt has chalked up his 250,000th mile as an airlines passenger. . . . That "tall-dark-and-handsome" who's squiring June Lang these eves is Bob Melendez, son of a former president of Argentina. . . . Producer Gene Towne's famous Great Dane, King, officially listed as vice-president of his owner's production company, was killed yesterday by a hit-and-run driver.

Out Warner Brothers' way, they're laughing about the reproof given Virginia Bruce by Jan (Mrs. Russell Hayden) Clayton, who's working in "Flight Eight" despite a spring date with Doc Stork. Virginia, star of the opus, ran afoul of a flu bug and had to stay home for several days. When she returned, Miss Clayton greeted her childingly. "Please, Miss Bruce," she begged. "Don't hold up production again. I'm here on loan—from the Cedars of Lebanon hospital!"

SO THEY SAY

Surely Russia sincerely desires peace and obviously the Scandinavian countries and Finland want peace, but Great Britain and France want war and want to maneuver all the capitalistic countries against the Soviet Union.—William Z. Foster, chairman, Communist party of America.

Economic circumstances and a natural desire to be of use in the world point clearly to the necessity of a combined program of work and study for a large proportion of youth.—Dr. George F. Zook, president, American Council on Education.

We are sacrificing our national economy to create a new order and "no territory and no indemnities" are the twin pillars of our China policy.—Yakichiro Suma, Japanese foreign office spokesman.

What this country needs is a good politician for president.—Alf M. Landon, G. O. P. presidential candidate in 1936.

As we look out over the world about us with Pope Pius XII, the sorry fact is forced upon us that what happened on Good Friday, when the Master bowed His head and died, has happened again.—Archbishop Samuel A Stritch, upon being enthroned in Chicago diocese.

It is more than ever important for farmers to have a government in Washington that is looking out for their interests—not just by uttering glittering generalities, but by specific policies and concrete action.—President Roosevelt.

Communism is war on earnings and on savings, as well as war on excellence in every form. Its weapons are envy, hatred and malice.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president, Columbia university.

Too many husbands are being collected by too many women.—Mrs. Sidney B. Wood, leader of One Husband, Inc., anti-divorce organization.

BARBS

From September, 1939, to February, 1940, imports of Scotch whiskey to this country increased by 40 per cent. Perhaps the idea is to cheer up the Americans during the long dreary hours of neutrality.

Unless the coal question is settled between Italy and Britain, Mussolini will have to warm his hands over a cigaret lighter.

The millenium will be much closer when headline writers finally forget about "Gone With the Wind."

More than 400 ships have now been sunk. After the war the ship building business should be the world's leading industry.

A Pennsylvania beauty queen wants a husband who can boss her, she says. Anyone will if she gives him half a chance.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Up in heaven a victim of the Johnstown flood found everybody tremendously impressed by his story of the disaster, gained a lot of kudos and became quite a celebrity. One old chap, however, was always chuckling in his beard when the Johnstown man was telling his story. The latter was annoyed and asked a friend. "Who is that old party that's always ribbing me?" "Oh, that's Noah," said his friend.

Writing a piece for a newspaper, you get many similar reminders of the "contemporaneousness of the past." We had a few paragraphs the other day about well-to-do matrons hiring jitterbugs to teach them modern steps, or acrobatics as the case may be, and here are a half-dozen reminders that the country gre[illegible] dance crazy on the slightest prov[illegible]tion. Among them is a letter from my old friend, Albert Stevens Crockett, of the Biltmore hotel staff.

Mr. Crockett describes his newspaper assignment, in the immediate pre-war years (World war) to run down and identify the "concave man," the same being the authentic counterpart of the jitterbug of our day—a bit more Ritzy, however.

"That was the day when the 'lounge-lizard' sprang into being and became a pest," writes Mr. Crockett. "From the lounge-lizard came the gigolo. The dance craze affected ninety-five per cent of the people of New York who could afford to indulge themselves. Its most enthusiastic devotees were the middle-aged and the elderly. Tea dancing sprang up, and in no time we had had dinner dancing, supper dancing and luncheon dancing. It was a time when staid merchants, lawyers and other professional men had a habit of telephoning home around 4 o'clock, to say they would not be able to make dinner because of an important conference.

"Of course, everybody could not take dancing lessons from the Castles, because of their high prices for lessons, but an enormous number of dancing teachers organized classes. Clerks, stenographers, male and female, interior decorators, lawyers and even architects, whose profession was not yielding a good income, became dancing instructors. I knew one young interior decorator who became a noted teacher, and married one of his pupils, a very rich woman. Thousands of men and women made good livings giving lessons in the 'bunny-hug,' the 'fox-trot,' and the 'grizzly bear,' and then, in turn, in the more decorous 'tango' and 'maxixe,' imported, respectively from Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro, via Paris.

"In that day, most middle-aged and elderly women were fat. They just let themselves go with domesticity, rearing families, and eating with the gusto and abandon of that day. They discovered that men, especially good-looking ones, were reluctant to try the new steps with them in public. The result was a new industry—not unlike that which you note today—as these limber and 'concave' youngsters were recruited as dancing teachers and partners by the uniformly convex matrons.

"The price ranged from two dollars an hour up, the lady also signing the meal check or furtively passing some bills under the table to her escort. One result was that an astonishing number of women seemed to recover their figures of yesteryear. The sylph-like Irene Castle was a tremendous excitement to women clinging to fading youth and grace, and inspired her public to amazing industry and persistance. Dieting had been too much of a hardship. There were many diet fads, then as now, but none to be compared with the pounding rhythm of the 'Texas Tommy' or the 'Beale Street Blues,' in taking off weight."

Mr. Crockett doesn't happen to mention it, but I wonder if he remembers that "Hawaiian Lady" song of the night clubs of that day.

She knows such lovely dances,
This way and that.
Chockful of jumps and prances;
Works off the fat!

There was a roaring repetition of the last line by all the diners and then they would surge into the dance maelstrom like a class rush. There was gusto in those days.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

There is hardly a nation of people in the world that does not attach a great deal of superstition to sneezing.

The English-speaking races always say "God bless you" when someone sneezes. The ancient Greeks and Romans used to say, "Long may you live" and "Jupiter preserve you." When a Hindu sneezes those in the vicinity merely say "Live" and the sneezer replies, "You, too." When a Zulu sneezes he says, "I am now blessed. The ancestral spirit is with me. Let me hasten and praise it for it is that which causes me to sneeze."

Now there is nothing magical about a sneeze, as far as we know, in science. One sneezes because of irritation of the nerve endings in the nose. That irritation may be brought about by the inhalation of irritating gases like chlorine or sulfur dioxide, by irritating substances like pepper or simply by the reaction to the pollens of various plants to which one may be sensitive.

The ancients believed that sneezing was the manifestation of an evil spirit, attempting to enter the body, and that the person concerned was throwing the evil spirit out.

There is an old legend to the effect that it was once decreed that every man living should sneeze but once, and that in the instant of his second sneeze his soul should depart from his body. Thus it was said that Jacob, feeling himself about to sneeze and die, wrestled a second time and earnestly entreated the favor of being excepted from this decree. Since he was granted this wish, he sneezed without dying; whereupon it was ordered that sneezing thereafter should always be accompanied with thanksgiving and wishes for the preservation and prolongation of life.

Early man soon realized that the head was one of the most important portions of the body and that, in the head, was the substance that governed and controlled the whole body. It was necessary to recognize the extraordinary action of the head that takes place in sneezing by an appropriate wish for the prolongation of life.

Here is a typical example of the development of a superstition. Primitive man actually believed that there were spirits that went in and out of the body. To him sneezing was, therefore, a matter of utmost importance. Modern man, still influenced by the superstition, although he knows better, continues to follow the customs and to use the actual phrases developed by ignorance in the past.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

YOUTH'S AWAKENING

In high schools all over the world, there are boys and girls who have for the first time discovered sex and consider that it is the greatest personal discovery that ever was. They seem to think that it is their own discovery, something quite unknown to the rest of the world's people. They gaze into each other's eyes to the exclusion of all other visions. They hear only each other's voices, what they say to each other does not matter for they do not know. They revolve about each other all their waking time until the families, teachers, neighbors and friends are worn to the edge.

Here is a boy, for example, who has taken his first love experience at a gulp and is choking on it. He is almost eighteen, about six feet high, a good football player, and un... this happened, a good student. Now he does nothing but wait for the hours when he can see his loved one. No lessons, no team practice, no extra job. Just one failure after another. He refuses to do anything to break the spell and the girl does not help any.

He took the girl to a party and his mother had to take money from the household accounts to pay for flowers for her. His mother pressed his clothes and got his dress shirt out of the laundry. You see he had not earned any extra money to pay his way here because he is drowned in love. But he came up long enough to make his wishes known—demanded that his parents help him.

Of course I am sorry for the boy's predicament but at the same time I think that any young man who considers himself in a position to wait upon a young lady, take her to parties and shows, ought to be in a position to pay his way and hers to such affairs. And it does seem to me that when a young man is in school, with his parents paying the bills there, that he ought to do his share—study his lessons and pass his examinations for graduation. It is not possible to be a helpless child on one side and an independent man about town on the other. That just is not possible. The community has its own way of looking at such young men and it is not a kindly glance, let it be known.

Sex is not the sort of game that irresponsible children should play for keeps. Young men of seventeen and eighteen, while assuming responsibility in many directions are not able to assume full responsibility toward their girls. They ought not, then, to devote their waking, and much of their sleeping lives to the thought of the girl. There are so many other important affairs waiting. Graduation, decision upon future courses, earning a living for one and preparing to earn it for a family, for examples.

Parents are justified in taking hold of such a situation. They cannot stand by and allow two children to lose their heads and their time and their education in mooning at each other. Both families are justified in talking plainly to their blinded children and doing their best to open their eyes to what they are doing to each other. Both should be set to work in school, and elsewhere, and kept to a standard of work in spite of what ails them. This is as hard on the parents and the teachers as it is on the children, but it must be done.

If the young man will not try to help himself, then his people ought to refuse to buy the flowers and press the suits and buy the sweets. A man ought to pay his own way with the ladies.

Check the information of troublesome habits in your youngsters, and do it wisely, kindly. Be guided by Angelo Patri. Send for his booklet, "Annoying Habits," enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

Machines As Taxpayers

Ever since the first monarch thought up the system of taxation to keep the wheels of government greased, the people's enthusiasm toward taxes has been about equal to that toward smallpox and scarlet fever.

No one has yet devised the perfect method of taxation, and no one ever will. To be perfect, it must be painless. And taxes, in whatever form they are levied, are never completely innocuous.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Democrat, Wyoming, however, has a scheme he thinks would go a long way toward solving unemployment and establishing an equitable tax basis. Senator O'Mahoney has it figured out like this: Men who work pay taxes. When machines come along and replace the human workers, the jobless men are no longer able to pay taxes. Therefore, tax the machines, in proportion to the number of jobs they are taking away.

Regardless of what may be the fate of Senator O'Mahoney's proposal, it must be borne in mind that unemployment is a cancer that has eaten too deeply into American economic life to be destroyed by mere readjustment of the tax structure. No matter how they may be disguised, taxes will have to total precisely what they add up to now, if not more. And no matter how they may be rearranged, they will ultimately be paid by the same people who are paying them now.

Senator O'Mahoney would grant tax credits to employers who used more human workers, fewer machines. The idea would be to halt the inroads the machine is making at the expense of employes.

Perhaps it would work in some cases, but it can scarcely be expected to remove the scourge of unemployment. The development of new machines represents progress, and you can't stop that.

It is all right to experiment with new methods of taxation in the hope that some day the fairest possible system will be achieved. But 10 million men will not get jobs by mere juggling of taxes. Taxes will pretty well take care of themselves when everyone has a job. When men are out of work, the remaining taxpayers must not only assume the jobless' share of the burden but must actually help in providing for the unemployed.

Unemployment must be tackled from the ground up, not from the top down. Unequitable tax burdens on some are manifestations of unemployment, not causes.

FORCED SAVINGS IN WAR

Paradoxically, John Maynard Keynes, the British economist whose pump-priming theories are embodied in New Deal practices in the United States, is putting reverse English on those theories in a plan to help the British people do their share in winning the war with Germany.

As contrasted to spending for the purpose of stimulating recovery, he now advocates compulsory saving by men and women of Britain to augment national funds for war purposes, and to cut down private demand for consumable goods. As Keynes retailed his ideas to 250 members of parliament, its purpose is to prevent inflation by higher wages and rising prices.

At the end of the war the availability for spending of a huge lump sum would, according to the Keynes reasoning, stimulate economic readjustment and recovery, in effect being pump-priming on an important scale, but not one as grandiose as that of the New Deal.

After the United States entered the World war, billions of dollars were found for government use through Liberty loans subscribed to on a theoretically voluntary basis. There was, of course, the implication of loss of caste if one did not buy. Another time, financing the conflct by compulsion would certainly be proposed, and might even be put into operation if the government were in the hands of the planners.

WORKS BOTH WAYS

At the meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers in New York a clean bill of health was given to inventors. It was asserted that invention is not responsible for what is called technological unemployment. America has simply not put up the capital for the new industries which science and invention are steadily making possible.

But there are two kinds of inventions—originative and intensive. The telephone, the radio, the automobile were among the originative inventions. They laid the basis for vast expansions of employment. But along came the intensive inventor perfecting machines which with one stamp turn out a piece of work once requiring the services of many men. They save manufacturing costs, and they reduce jobs.

America currently is low on originative inventions and high on intensive ones. And unemployment will persist until the scales are balanced.

Washington, about to put a poor Wisconsin shoemaker in jail for not answering census questions, has changed its mind. The bureaucrats occasionally pause when there is an election in the offing.

THE STORY OF DEMOCRACY

By Hendrik Willem van Loon

CHAPTER XII

Pericles did not overstate his case when he pronounced his famous funeral oration and summed up the glories of that Athenian democracy which could indeed stand as an example to all the other nations of Greece For no other city had ever reached such a pinnacle of glory.

But by what name was Athens known to the rest of Greece? It was decried as the "tyrant city." Its government was denounced as an ambitious imperial organization which existed only to plunder its so-called allies for the purpose of erecting those magnificent public buildings in the town of Athens, which were of no benefit to any one except the Athenians themselves, and to maintain those universities (for every famous philosopher was really a one-man academy of learning) which only upset the simple faith of the ancestors and filled the minds of the youngsters with those dangerous radical and modern ideas which in the end must destroy the ideals of Greek civilization as they had been handed down from the ancestors.

Were these accusations true or were they false?

Partly they were true. Athens had dealt in a very high-handed manner with her less capable neighbors, towards whom Pericles undoubtedly felt as Hitler felt towards his easy-going and incompetent fellow citizens of Austria.

But on the other side of the picture, there were the positive achievements of this brilliant democracy which almost overnight had opened up new visions of progress, of which the world until then had never dared to dream. Why could not the jealous neighbors overlook a few shortcomings for the sake of their common goal?

Why in our own day and age could England and Germany not live in peace and harmony when they could so easily have come to terms about their respective spheres of influence—Germany being allowed to dominate the European continent while England took care of her maritime empire? I do not know the answer. I can only state the facts and observe the results and those were exactly the same in the fifth century B. C. as they seem to be in the twentieth century A. D.

Ever since the beginning of time, there had been two conflicting theories of life and they had dominated the whole of Greek history. Sparta had always represented the interests of the landed gentry (of the Junkers, as we used to call them in Germany, whereas Athens had stood for the ideal of a state based upon oversea commerce.

Once more we see how little our world changes in its true essentials.

For always we seem to have had these two conflicting philosophies of life with us—the man of the soil against the man of the sea—the conservative farmer, unwilling to accept any sudden changes (since Nature, with whom he deals all his lifelong days is the Great Conservative) and the merchant and trader who must make quick and unexpected decisions.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

LOEW'S STATE THEATER, NEW YORK CITY, March 16—Dear Staff: A woman visitor back-stage yesterday left me with a fresh idea: "Why do you write so often about how much the stars owe their public?" she asked. "The public will support a star only as long as his pictures are worth seeing. You must have noticed how quickly 'fans' desert any player whose pictures falter. So what does a star owe the public?"

By golly, the lady is right! A star receives fan support only as long as he is entertaining. But if he is entertaining, he is giving the public its money's worth, so he need not cater to anybody. On the contrary, the public is lucky to have that star to amuse them.

I realize that I have written for years about "actors' debts to their fans" and "where would any star be without fans." But as my lady visitor wisely stated, "Where would the public find good amusement as cheaply as it can be found on the screen?"

So I guess it's a fifty-fifty bargain between star and public. Without the stars, there would be no fans; without the fans there would be no stars. So nobody owes nobody nothing, as our cowboy heroes would say.

Next time I hear some youngster scream at an actor, "Where would you be without us?" I shall take him aside and ask if he makes it a practice to see that star's bad pictures. If his answer is yes, then he has a right to scream. But if he goes to see only the good pictures, he is getting his money's worth, and he has no yell coming.

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dear Philosopher: You've worked out a very clever brief, but we can't help being just a bit suspicious about such a sudden change in your views. James—honest Injun, now—are you getting an actor's complex on this tour? If you are, please come home while all can still be forgiven!

Darryl Zanuck, who wants Betty Grable's curves for a picture—pronto—is urging producers of her stage hit, "Du Barry Was a Lady," to substitute another actress in her role . . . If vehement denials means anything, black-out those Wayne Morris—Bubbles Schinasi divorce rumors. . . . Add peas-in-a-pod: Ida Lupino and English-star Jessie Matthews . . . Claude Rains trains out tomorrow for an earthy interlude on his Pennsylvania farm. . . . Helen Gilbert's neglecting her spare-time 'cello studies to play a melody on the heart-strings of Agent Vic Orsatti, June Lang's ex. . . . Joe Sawyer, 200 pound villain of the "Cisco Kid" thrillers, was so jittery yesterday at prospect of a first screen kiss from sexsational Mary Beth Hughes that he muffed six takes before lip met lip. . . . Tyrone Power's still crutching as a result of those ski injuries.

Marjorie Weaver gets No. 1 billing in the day's most chucklesome item. All last week she was swamped by phone calls from strange swains, asking her for dates. Mystified, for her phone number is unlisted and strictly private, Marjorie held the receiver long enough to fire at her umpteenth caller an indignant "how come?" "Well," said the stranger, "since you won't go out with me, I guess I might as well tell you. You go to the drug store at the corner of Hollywood and Highland, and look at the wall of the first phone booth. Then you'll understand," Marjorie followed instructions and found there, printed in letters an inch high, her name and her private number. Evidently one of her many beaus is a doodler.

M-G-M and Paul Whiteman have finally agreed on price for the appearance of his orchestra in "Strike Up the Band" . . . Tom Brown is being so attentive to Ann Nagel's mama that you can almost hear wedding bells ring. . . . Bette Davis' vacation trip east this spring will be another station-wagon trek . . . Jean Hersholt has chalked up his 250,000th mile as an airlines passenger. . . . That "tall-dark-and-handsome" who's squiring June Lang these eves is Bob Melendez, son of a former president of Argentina. . . . Producer Gene Towne's famous Great Dane, King, officially listed as vice-president of his owner's production company, was killed yesterday by a hit-and-run driver.

Out Warner Brothers' way, they're laughing about the reproof given Virginia Bruce by Jan (Mrs. Russell Haydon) Clayton, who's working in "Flight Eight" despite a spring date with Doc Stork. Virginia, star of the opus, ran afoul of a flu bug and had to stay home for several days. When she returned, Miss Clayton greeted her chidingly. "Please, Miss Bruce," she begged, "Don't hold up production again. I'm here on loan—from the Cedars of Lebanon hospital!"

SO THEY SAY

Surely Russia sincerely desires peace and obviously the Scandinavian countries and Finland want peace, but Great Britain and France want war and want to maneuver all the capitalistic countries against the Soviet Union.—William Z. Foster, chairman, Communist party of America.

Economic circumstances and a natural desire to be of use in the world point clearly to the necessity of a combined program of work and study for a large proportion of youth.—Dr. George F. Zook, president, American Council on Education.

We are sacrificing our national economy to create a new order and "no territory and no indemnities" are the twin pillars of our China policy.—Yakichiro Suma, Japanese foreign office spokesman.

What this country needs is a good politician for president.—Alf M. Landon, G. O. P. presidential candidate in 1936.

As we look out over the world about us with Pope Pius XII. the sorry fact is forced upon us that what happened on Good Friday, when the Master bowed His head and died, has happened again.—Archbishop Samuel A Stritch, upon being enthroned in Chicago diocese.

It is more than ever important for farmers to have a government in Washington that is looking out for their interests—not just by uttering glittering generalities, but by specific policies and concrete action.—President Roosevelt.

Communism is war on earnings and on savings, as well as war on excellence in every form. Its weapons are envy, hatred and malice.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president, Columbia university.

Too many husbands are being collected by too many women.—Mrs. Sidney B. Wood, leader of One Husband, Inc., anti-divorce organization.

BARBS

From September, 1939, to February, 1940, imports of Scotch whiskey to this country increased by 40 per cent. Perhaps the idea is to cheer up the Americans during the long dreary hours of neutrality.

Unless the coal question is settled between Italy and Britain, Mussolini will have to warm his hands over a cigaret lighter.

The millenium will be much closer when headline writers finally forget about "Gone With the Wind."

More than 400 ships have now been sunk. After the war the ship building business should be the world's leading industry.

A Pennsylvania beauty queen wants a husband who can boss her, she says. Anyone will if she gives him half a chance.

John L. Lewis indicates he is willing to compromise A. F. of L.-C. I. O. differences—as long as everything goes his way.

(Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Up in heaven a victim of the Johnstown flood found everybody tremendously impressed by his story of the disaster, gained a lot of kudos and became quite a celebrity. One old chap, however, was always chuckling in his beard when the Johnstown man was telling his story. The latter was annoyed and asked a friend. "Who is that old party that's always ribbing me?" "Oh, that's Noah," said his friend.

Writing a piece for a newspaper, you get many similar reminders of the "contemporaneousness of the past." We had a few paragraphs the other day about well-to-do matrons hiring jitterbugs to teach them modern steps, or acrobatics as the case may be, and here are a half-dozen reminders that the country grew dance crazy on the slightest provocation. Among them is a letter from my old friend, Albert Stevens Crockett, of the Biltmore hotel staff.

Mr. Crockett describes his newspaper assignment, in the immediate pre-war years (World war) to run down and identify the "concave man," the same being the authentic counterpart of the jitterbug of our day—a bit more Ritzy, however.

"That was the day when the 'lounge-lizard' sprang into being and became a pest," writes Mr. Crockett. "From the lounge-lizard came the gigolo. The dance craze affected ninety-five per cent of the people of New York who could afford to indulge themselves. Its most enthusiastic devotees were the middle-aged and the elderly. Tea dancing sprang up, and in no time we had had dinner dancing, supper dancing and luncheon dancing. It was a time when staid merchants, lawyers and other professional men had a habit of telephoning home around 4 o'clock, to say they would not be able to make dinner because of an important conference.

"Of course, everybody could not take dancing lessons from the Castles, because of their high prices for lessons, but an enormous number of dancing teachers organized classes. Clerks, stenographers, male and female, interior decorators, lawyers and even architects, whose profession was not yielding a good income, became dancing instructors. I knew one young interior decorator who became a noted teacher, and married one of his pupils, a very rich woman. Thousands of men and women made good livings giving lessons in the 'bunny-hug,' the 'fox-trot,' and the 'grizzly bear,' and then, in turn, in the more decorous 'tango' and 'maxixe,' imported, respectively from Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro, via Paris.

"In that day, most middle-aged and elderly women were fat. They just let themselves go with domesticity, rearing families, and eating with the gusto and abandon of that day. They discovered that men, especially good-looking ones, were reluctant to try the new steps with them in public. The result was a new industry—not unlike that which you note today—as these limber and 'concave' youngsters were recruited as dancing teachers and partners by the uniformly convex matrons.

"The price ranged from two dollars an hour up, the lady also signing the meal check or furtively passing some bills under the table to her escort. One result was that an astonishing number of women seemed to recover their figures of yesteryear. The sylph-like Irene Castle was a tremendous excitement to women clinging to fading youth and grace, and inspired her public to amazing industry and persistance. Dieting had been too much of a hardship. There were many diet fads, then as now, but none to be compared with the pounding rhythm of the 'Texas Tommy' or the 'Beale Street Blues,' in taking off weight."

Mr. Crockett doesn't happen to mention it, but I wonder if he remembers that "Hawaiian Lady" song of the night clubs of that day.

She knows such lovely dances,
This way and that.
Chockful of jumps and prances;
Works off the fat!

There was a roaring repetition of the last line by all the diners and then they would surge into the dance maelstrom like a class rush. There was gusto in those days.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

There is hardly a nation of people in the world that does not attach a great deal of superstition to sneezing.

The English-speaking races always say "God bless you" when someone sneezes. The ancient Greeks and Romans used to say, "Long may you live" and "Jupiter preserve you." When a Hindu sneezes those in the vicinity merely say "Live" and the sneezer replies, "You, too." When a Zulu sneezes he says, "I am now blessed. The ancestral spirit is with me. Let me hasten and praise it for it is that which causes me to sneeze."

Now there is nothing magical about a sneeze, as far as we know, in science. One sneezes because of irritation of the nerve endings in the nose. That irritation may be brought about by the inhalation of irritating gases like chlorine or sulfur dioxide, by irritating substances like pepper or simply by the reaction to the pollens of various plants to which one may be sensitive.

The ancients believed that sneezing was the manifestation of an evil spirit, attempting to enter the body, and that the person concerned was throwing the evil spirit out.

There is an old legend to the effect that it was once decreed that every man living should sneeze but once, and that in the instant of his second sneeze his soul should depart from his body. Thus it was said that Jacob, feeling himself about to sneeze and die, wrestled a second time and earnestly entreated the favor of being excepted from this decree. Since he was granted this wish, he sneezed without dying; whereupon it was ordered that sneezing thereafter should always be accompanied with thanksgiving and wishes for the preservation and prolongation of life.

Early man soon realized that the head was one of the most important portions of the body and that, in the head, was the substance that governed and controlled the whole body. It was necessary to recognize the extraordinary action of the head that takes place in sneezing by an appropriate wish for the prolongation of life.

Here is a typical example of the development of a superstition. Primitive man actually believed that there were spirits that went in and out of the body. To him sneezing was, therefore, a matter of utmost importance. Modern man, still influenced by the superstition, although he knows better, continues to follow the customs and to use the actual phrases developed by ignorance in the past.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

YOUTH'S AWAKENING

In high schools all over the world, there are boys and girls who have for the first time discovered sex and consider that it is the greatest personal discovery that ever was. They seem to think that it is their own discovery, something quite unknown to the rest of the world's people. They gaze into each other's eyes to the exclusion of all other visions. They hear only each other's voices, what they say to each other does not matter for they do not know. They revolve about each other all their waking time until the families, teachers, neighbors and friends are worn to the edge.

Here is a boy, for example, who has taken his first love experience at a gulp and is choking on it. He is almost eighteen, about six feet high, a good football player, and until this happened, a good student. Now he does nothing but wait for the hours when he can see his loved one. No lessons, no team practice, no extra job. Just one failure after another. He refuses to do anything to break the spell and the girl does not help any.

He took the girl to a party and his mother had to take money from the household accounts to pay for flowers for her. His mother pressed his clothes and got his dress shirt out of the laundry. You see he had not earned any extra money to pay his way here because he is drowned in love. But he came up long enough to make his wishes known—demanded that his parents help him.

Of course I am sorry for the boy's predicament but at the same time I think that any young man who considers himself in a position to wait upon a young lady, take her to parties and shows, ought to be in a position to pay his way and hers to such affairs. And it does seem to me that when a young man is in school, with his parents paying the bills there, that he ought to do his share—study his lessons and pass his examinations for graduation. It is not possible to be a helpless child on one side and an independent man about town on the other. That just is not possible. The community has its own way of looking at such young men and it is not a kindly glance, let it be known.

Sex is not the sort of game that irresponsible children should play for keeps. Young men of seventeen and eighteen, while assuming responsibility in many directions are not able to assume full responsibility toward their girls. They ought not, then, to devote their waking, and much of their sleeping lives to the thought of the girl. There are so many other important affairs waiting. Graduation, decision upon future courses, earning a living for one and preparing to earn it for a family, for examples.

Parents are justified in taking hold of such a situation. They cannot stand by and allow two children to lose their heads and their time and their education in mooning at each other. Both families are justified in talking plainly to their blinded children and doing their best to open their eyes to what they are doing to each other. Both should be set to work in school, and elsewhere, and kept to a standard of work in spite of what ails them. This is as hard on the parents and the teachers as it is on the children, but it must be done.

If the young man will not try to help himself, then his people ought to refuse to buy the flowers and press the suits and buy the sweets. A man ought to pay his own way with the ladies.

Check the information of troublesome habits in your youngsters, and do it wisely, kindly. Be guided by Angelo Patri. Send for his booklet, "Annoying Habits," enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—Notes of a newcomer: In the capital, that epidemic of Chinese colic, Confucius Say, is at its worst. . . . It took a literary ta[illegible] driver, warping through sodden traffic in a downpour, to put Washington weather in a peanut shell . . . claimed was quoting Mark Twain: "If you don't like Washington weather, wait a minute."

Both the president and Mrs. Roosevelt have coats of tan that make the stay-at-homes look anemic. Secretary of State Hull is (at the moment) the most inaccessible of the cabinet members . . . Postmaster Farley the most accessible.

There are two schools of thought here: (1) FDR will run again; (2) FDR won't run again. That provides the chief topic of conversation. The consensus seems to be this week that if the president doesn't run, the Democratic nominee will be Cordell Hull. Next week? I'll let you know.

Platinum Blonde

Today's history lesson: The best unknown landmark around town is the statue on the capitol dome . . . 2[illegible] newsmen and congressmen, attending a dinner at the Press club the other night, guessed it was everything from Liberty to a forgotten chief of the Narragansetts. The right answer is Freedom. The figure, almost 20 feet tall, was done in Rome in 1857 by Thomas Crawford, father of novelist F. Marion Crawford, and mounted on the dome in 1863. The powers that be were about 70 years ahead of the times, too. Miss Freedom's a platinum blonde. The platinum is set on bronze—lightning protection.

When Sumner Welles was skipping over the continent in the role of the state department's human question mark, he got close enough to the western front to see the boys in the Maginot and Siegfried lines doing their laundry. Wonder if he stopped to pun about "The wash on the Rhine."

Washington has one screwy street name I'll enter in a freak street contest with any city in the country. It's 13 1-2 street.

The house of representatives has a bloc the senate doesn't have. It's composed of city boys on one side, country boys on the other. That's because most legislative districts are either in the city or the country. There is times too, when the division of interest that way overrrides party lines. One thing they seem to be in perfect agreement on, though, is the quality of the house restaurant's bean soup. It's the best in the land (recipe on request) and I'll vote with the house any time they want to declare it so publicly.

Capital Crime

There's been a battle going on now against a District of Columba crime wave. Seems funny, doesn't it, there should be a crime wave in the city that houses national headquarters of the federal bureau of investigation the secret service, the postoffice inspectors, the department of justice and probably more private investigators than any other city in the world.

Wonder if the politicians' favorite dance is the pork-barrel polka.

The national zoo's latest acquisition is Emperor Dugan, an Antarctic penguin, and the first of his breed to be brought north of the equator. Dugan's favorite pastime is strutting in front of a mirror, but that's not what makes the emperor the strangest bird hereabouts.

Note to Senator Tobey of New Hampshire: Within a few hours after you let loose your radio blast on the census bureau prepared for a flood of demands with 5,000 mimeographed alibi letters, explaining why those two questions were being asked. When only 200 requests came in for the letters, census bureau officials began asking, "Weren't the folks listening or didn't they care?" Don't ask me.

'CROOKED' EATING PLACE

The inn at Himley, England, has the most "crooked" eating place in the world. So completely off the perpendicular is it that it is a real achievement for diners to maintain their equilibrium while walking inside the building.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

San Francisco Bay Was International Prize

FOUR nations sought possession of San Francisco Bay, one of the largest and safest land-locked harbors in the world. Spain's claim was based upon discovery of the bay by Don Gaspar de Portola, governor of Lower California, who reached the bay in the fall of 1769. His discovery is pictured on the U. S. 10-cent stamp above, of the Panama-Pacific commemorative series of 1915.

First ship to sail through the Golden Gate was the "San Carlos," of the Spanish royal navy, commanded by Don Manuel Ayala in 1775. The English had missed possession by only a few miles when Sir Francis Drake, in 1579, had landed in a cove north of the harbor.

After the Spanish had established a settlement and mission in 1777, Russia made a futile attempt to colonize in 1811. The settlement was comparatively peaceful until the U. S.-Mexican War. On July 9, 1848, Capt. John B. Montgomery, of the U. S. Navy, sailed the sloop "Portsmouth" into the harbor, claimed the city for United States.

GIRL RESERVES ASSEMBLE HERE

140 Guests And Members Attend Two-Day Conference At Hotel Virginia

Forty-two guests from Shreveport and Bossier City and approximately 100 local Girl Reserves learned a lot about "Things That Count" at the conference which yesterday opened a two-day session at Hotel Virginia here.

Mrs. H. R. Agate, state extension librarian, guest speaker at the conference, discussed the conference theme, "Things That Count," in her principal morning address. Recounting the things Girl Reserves are storing up for future living, Mrs. Agate stressed the values needed among the youth of America today and the advantages of living in America. The speaker emphasized the development of personality, understanding and fellowship. She compared the opportunities of girls today and those of 20 years ago and urged modern girls to take advantage of additional chances of development and service.

Miss Laura Flournoy of Monroe is general conference chairman, and Mrs. Bridger Thornhill is hostess. Miss Ivo Wilson, Y. W. C. A. secretary, has charge of general arrangements.

With registration beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, the conference sessions opened at 9:30. Greetings to the visiting delegation were extended by Miss Flournoy, and the response was given by Miss Ernestine Gowen of Shreveport. With Mrs. P. A. Poag as piano accompanist, Mrs. B. A. Trousdale led group singing sessions.

Opening the devotional period, Miss Jean McCormick of Monroe presented the "Call to Worship," after which Miss Frances Baldwin sang "Friend O' Mine." Miss Mary Belle Rogers spoke briefly on the role of religion among the youth of the nation. She stressed the responsibility of spiritual development and its importance in a democracy. The responsibility of Girl Reserves as young women concerned with the future of the generation, the country and the world was discussed by Miss Marjie Robbins. Miss Elaine Buford offered a prayer for the cause of the Girl Reserves and for their success in their high aims.

The principal address by Mrs. Agate opened the study session. Following a period of group singing girls divided into interest groups with Mrs. Agate conducting the adult class. Mrs. D. T. Milam discussed "Girl Relationship"; Miss Myrtle Rodgers, "Spiritual Development"; Miss Lucyle Godwin, "Wholesome Recreation"; Miss Mary Davies of Shreveport, "Hobby Groups"; Mrs. Frank C. Rolfe of Shreveport, "Program Interests"; Miss Sue Hefley and Miss Kathleen Miller, "Girls' Responsibility in Community Life"; and Mrs. B. A. Trousdale, "Music."

D. Ross Banister, representative-elect from Ouachita parish, addressed the conference delegation on "Louisiana Laws and Women." Tracing the laws of the state relative to the rights of women from the early days when they had no legal status to the present detailed acts of legislature, the young lawyer declared that women now are provided for in almost every circumstance. Women today are protected more fully than men, he declared.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale discussed "Your Responsibility," and Mrs. E. G. Wade talked on "Unemployment."

Progress was the theme of the clever "locomotive" luncheon planned by Mrs. B. McGraw of Shreveport. Mrs. Agate, the guest speaker, continued her discussion of "Things That Count."

A "buddie banquet" held on the hotel roof was arranged by Mrs. Boatner Bowman. Those taking part on the program were Misses Laura Flournoy, Louise Rinehart, Louise Gale McDonald, Charlotte Padgett, Berney Handy, Nell Rainbolt, Jean Flournoy, Elizabeth Humble, Evelyn Aden, Jo Ann McDuffie, Mary Jane Dickard, Laura Louise Patton, Satchie Cooper, Jane Rhymes, Beny Ragen, Melba Jean Walker and Clayton Kilpatrick.

Highlighting the Saturday session was the reception last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Cooley.

The conference reconvenes at 10 o'clock this morning in the crystal room, opening with a panel discussion. With the Shreveport girls having charge, worship service will be presented at 11 a.m.

The program will be as follows: Prelude, "Largo," Miss Laura Louise Patton, accompanied by Mrs. P. A. Poag; hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy," Monroe choir and audience; "Call to Worship," Laura Flournoy; special music, "Land of Our Birth," Monroe choir; prayer, Miss Melba Stevenson; brief talks, Misses Kay Kugler, Joyce Siegle and Alice Bauer; special music, "Austrian Hymn," choir, and responsive reading, Miss Laura Flournoy and audience.

Visiting leaders attending the conference are Mrs. Frank Rolfe, Shreveport Girl Reserve secretary; Miss Ruth Batcheldor and Miss Pittinger and Mrs. Boyd McGraw, Byrd High school advisers, and Miss Mary Davies, advisor of the Bossier City High school Girl Reserves corps.

LOCAL MAN HIGH LEGION OFFICER

Charles Mitchell, National Vice-Chairman, Discusses Child Welfare

How many people here know that Monroe has been signally [illegible] having in its midst a national vice chairman of the American Legion? This honor [illegible] was accorded to Charles M. Mitchell [illegible] he was named by National Commander Raymond J. Kelly last fall.

The activity for which Mr. Mitchell was named was that in which he has been actively engaged for 18 years, that of child welfare. Starting back in 1928 Mr. Mitchell became interested in a study of this subject as a committee member of the J. R. [illegible] post of the American Legion. This led to his appointment to a [illegible] state committee membership and so complete a job did he do that he was named in 1939 by Commander Kelly to the present national vice chairmanship.

Discussing the work, Mr. Mitchell emphasized that the country has been divided into five zones with chairmen and committees in each to carry on child welfare work. April is designated by the Legion nationally as child welfare month.

In this regard there are stressed three phases: (1) The child's future; (2) The child's health record; (3) Obtaining for the child the governmental benefits to which he is entitled.

Mr. Mitchell stated: "Dealing with our children's future brings us in touch with every phase of the child's present life. After consideration of the health program proper schooling is included in the Americanism program of the legion. Its recreational needs are included but are also the concern of the child welfare organization.

"Juvenile delinquency is receiving much attention in this country through legion and other activities. Child Welfare leaders are endeavoring to surround the child with such wholesome conditions that he will be deterred from committing crimes, and when they are committed, efforts are urged toward the making of a readjustment of the young life."

GIRL RESERVES ASSEMBLE HERE

140 Guests And Members Attend Two-Day Conference At Hotel Virginia

Forty-two guests from Shreveport and Bossier City and approximately 100 local Girl Reserves learned a lot about "Things That Count" at the conference which yesterday opened a two-day session at Hotel Virginia here.

Mrs. H. R. Agate, state extension librarian, guest speaker at the conference, discussed the conference theme, "Things That Count," in her principal morning address. Recounting the things Girl Reserves are storing up for future living, Mrs. Agate stressed the values needed among the youth of America today and the advantages of living in America. The speaker emphasized the development of personality, understanding and fellowship. She compared the opportunities of girls today and those of 20 years ago and urged modern girls to take advantage of additional chances of development and service.

Miss Laura Flournoy of Monroe is general conference chairman, and Mrs. Bridger Thornhill is hostess. Miss Ivo Wilson, Y. W. C. A. secretary, has charge of general arrangements.

With registration beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, the conference sessions opened at 9:30. Greetings to the visiting delegation were extended by Miss Flournoy, and the response was given by Miss Ernestine Gowen of Shreveport. With Mrs. P. A. Poag as piano accompanist, Mrs. B. A. Trousdale led group singing sessions.

Opening the devotional period, Miss Jean McCormick of Monroe presented the "Call to Worship," after which Miss Frances Baldwin sang "Friend O' Mine." Miss Mary Belle Rogers spoke briefly on the role of religion among the youth of the nation. She stressed the responsibility of spiritual development and its importance in a democracy. The responsibility of Girl Reserves as young women concerned with the future of the generation, the country and the world was discussed by Miss Marjie Robbins. Miss Elaine Buford offered a prayer for the cause of the Girl Reserves and for their success in their high aims.

The principal address by Mrs. Agate opened the study session. Following a period of group singing girls divided into interest groups with Mrs. Agate conducting the adult class. Mrs. D. T. Milam discussed "Girl Relationship"; Miss Myrtle Rodgers, "Spiritual Development"; Miss Lucyle Godwin, "Wholesome Recreation"; Miss Mary Davies of Shreveport, "Hobby Groups"; Mrs. Frank C. Rolfe of Shreveport, "Program Interests"; Miss Sue Hefley and Miss Kathleen Miller, "Girls' Responsibility in Community Life"; and Mrs. B. A. Trousdale, "Music."

D. Ross Banister, representative-elect from Ouachita parish, addressed the conference delegation on "Louisiana Laws and Women." Tracing the laws of the state relative to the rights of women from the early days when they had no legal status to the present detailed acts of legislature, the young lawyer declared that women now are provided for in almost every circumstance. Women today are protected more fully than men, he declared.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale discussed "Your Responsibility," and Mrs. E. G. Wade talked on "Unemployment."

Progress was the theme of the clever "locomotive" luncheon planned by Mrs. B. McGraw of Shreveport. Mrs. Agate, the guest speaker, continued her discussion of "Things That Count."

A "buddie banquet" held on the hotel roof was arranged by Mrs. Boatner Bowman. Those taking part on the program were Misses Laura Flournoy, Louise Rinehart, Louise Gale McDonald, Charlotte Padgett, Berney Handy, Nell Rainbolt, Jean Flournoy, Elizabeth Humble, Evelyn Aden, Jo Ann McDuffie, Mary Jane Dickard, Laura Louise Patton, Satchie Cooper, Jane Rhymes, Beny Ragen, Melba Jean Walker and Clayton Kilpatrick.

Highlighting the Saturday session was the reception last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Cooley.

The conference reconvenes at 10 o'clock this morning in the crystal room, opening with a panel discussion. With the Shreveport girls having charge, worship service will be presented at 11 a.m.

The program will be as follows: Prelude, "Largo," Miss Laura Louise Patton, accompanied by Mrs. P. A. Poag; hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy," Monroe choir and audience; "Call to Worship," Laura Flournoy; special music, "Land of Our Birth," Monroe choir; prayer, Miss Melba Stevenson; brief talks, Misses Kay Kugler, Joyce Siegle and Alice Bauer; special music, "Austrian Hymn," choir, and responsive reading, Miss Laura Flournoy and audience.

Visiting leaders attending the conference are Mrs. Frank Rolfe, Shreveport Girl Reserve secretary; Miss Ruth Batcheldor and Miss Pittinger and Mrs. Boyd McGraw, Byrd High school advisors, and Miss Mary Davies, advisor of the Bossier City High school Girl Reserves corps.

Charles Mitchell, National Vice-Chairman, Discusses Child Welfare

How many people here know that Monroe has been signally honored by having in its midst a national vice-chairman of the American Legion? This honor, and a no small one, was accorded to Charles M. Mitchell when he was named by National Commander Raymond J. Kelly last fall.

The activity for which Mr. Mitchell was named was that in which he has been actively engaged for 14 years, that of child welfare. Starting back in 1926, Mr. Mitchell became absorbed in a study of this subject as a committee member of the L. B. Faulk post of the American Legion. This led to his appointment to a similar state committee membership and so complete a job did he do that he was named in 1939 by Commander Kelly to the present national vice-chairmanship.

Discussing this work, Mr. Mitchell emphasized that the country has been divided into five zones with chairmen and committees in each to carry on child welfare work. April is designated by the Legion nationally as child welfare month.

In this regard there are stressed three phases: (1) The child's future. (2) The child's health record. (3) Obtaining for the child the governmental benefits to which he is entitled.

Mr. Mitchell stated: "Dealing with our children's future brings us in touch with every phase of the child's present life. After consideration of the health program, proper schooling is included in the Americanism program of the legion. Its recreational needs are included but are also the concern of the child welfare organization.

"Juvenile delinquency is receiving much attention in this country through legion and other activities. Child Welfare leaders are endeavoring to surround the child with such wholesome conditions that he will be deterred from committing crimes, and when they are committed, efforts are urged toward the making of a readjustment of the young life."

The local legion post, together with others of the state and nation, will give special heed next month to the problem of child welfare.

Mr. Mitchell stated that his present position will require that he do considerable traveling but he donates his time and energies quite willingly to a cause in which he is so deeply interested.

CLUBS PLANNING UNITED ACTION

Women's Organizations Seek To Promote Community Project

The Public Affairs committees of the Altrusa club, the American Association of University Women, the Business and Professional Women's club, the Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' club and the Y. W. C. A. are acting together for the present year in an effort to promote a community program of public affairs.

These committees are taking advantage of the current series of lectures sponsored by the Y's Men's club and given by Judge Pierce Crabites of Louisiana State university, and they offer these lectures as their first item in the program designed to present an opportunity for group discussion once each month.

All members of these clubs and others interested are urged to attend the forthcoming lectures, scheduled for the near future, the exact dates to be announced shortly. The lectures will be given at Northeast Junior college auditorium at 8 p.m. A representative of each club will be stationed at the entrance of the auditorium, and it is urged that the members of the clubs register with their respective representatives. The committees are indebted to the Y's Men's club for its cooperation in this matter. No admission is charged.

Judge Crabites has had varied experiences in foreign countries, and will discuss vital issues from his first hand information of the foreign situation. Chairmen of these committees from whom club members can receive more information if desired are: Miss Bernice McCoy, Altrusa; Miss Myrtle Rodgers, A. A. U. W.; Mrs. Johnnie Smith Eibert, Business and Professional Women's club; Miss Eleona Brunsmade, Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' club; Mrs. A. D. Tisdale and Miss Sue Hefley, Y. W. C. A.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Cypress And Crosley Streets
West Monroe
E. L. Tanner, Pastor

Last Sunday was a banner day in Sunday school with a record attendance. Our goal for today is three hundred and fifty and next Sunday (Easter) we are working for five hundred. Sunday school opens in all departments promptly at 9:45 a.m., S. W. Hamilton is superintendent. Rev. Carl W. Barnes, who is preaching in the revival, will be speaking at 11:00 a.m., also at 7:30 p.m. Christ Ambassador class meets at 6:30 p.m., Mrs. Carl W. Barnes will speak to the young people at this hour.

Much interest is being manifested in the revival services and the results thus far are very gratifying. We invite you to be with us in all the services today and every day during the week at 7:30 p.m.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

St. John And Grammont Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Pastor's Associate

A "Funeral Service For the Living Dead" will be conducted at our church Sunday night. Most funeral services are conducted in the day time; this one will be at night. The text will be "Thou hast a name that thou livest and art dead." Rev. 3:1.

"Heathenism in Modern Churches" will receive our attention in the pastor's morning message. Questions of interest to all will be answered the "heathen" way and the Scriptural way.

How about going over the 1,000 mark in Sunday school today? You will feel good the rest of the week if you are one of that number, provided you also remain for the worship service. The Sunday school was never intended to be a substitute for the worship service and the message of the God-called minister of the gospel. Will your excuse for going home—or elsewhere—stand in the day of judgment?

The Baptist Training Union and the Brotherhoods meet at 6:15. The evening service begins at 7:30. Better come early to get a good seat. Visitors always welcome. Baptismal service at the close of the evening service.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

West Monroe
Dr. A. E. Prince, Pastor
Dallas Goss, Music Director
Miss Beulah Doerr,
Educational Director

Revival services begin today in this church and will continue for two weeks. Dr. Prince will preach and Ira C. Prosser of Oklahoma City, Okla., will lead the singing and direct personal work. Services will be held today at 10:50 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. with prayer services each evening this week at 7:15 p.m. in the Sunday school departments. The program for today will begin with the Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. The B. T. U. meeting and the Brotherhood will meet at 6:45 p.m. The pastor will preach at 10:50 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

3100 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor
Dale Cobb, Choir Director

The great congregation present last Sunday fired us with enthusiasm to provide for a greater work in our Sunday school, and we hope to be able to announce soon our enlargement program. We urge all our people to be present at the opening session of the Sunday school 9:45 a.m. for further information.

The Baptist Training union is planning a great training course for the last week in this month and we anticipate great results from this work. We urge all our membership to find their place in one of the training groups which are held every Sunday 6:30 p.m.

The sermon subjects for the day are for the morning worship—"A Still Higher Path" 1 Cor. 12:31; and for the evening service—"Results of Being Born from Above." The beauty of springtime is here and let us also display in our lives the beauty of the resurrection of our Lord as He lives and blesses this world more vividly than any refreshing springtime can ever hope to do. John 14:18-20.

"A brighter dawn is breaking
And earth with praise is waking;
For thou, O King most highest,
The power of death defiest;
And Thou hast come victorious,
With risen body glorious,
Who now forever livest
And life abundant givest."

Dr. A. M. Freeman, Pastor

The Lenten season is pre-eminently the season of spiritual quickening in the church. During these days we are reminded of our Lord's fasting, temptation, suffering, death and resurrection. Services significant of this season will be held each evening during the coming week, with an early sunrise service at 6:30 on "Good Friday."

The pastor's theme for Sunday morning will be "Palm Sunday," and "A Great Story" will be his topic for the evening service. The Epworth league hour for the young people is 6:30.

Remember that the church school service is not a convention to which the family sends a delegate. Why not all come and enjoy the fellowship that is found in every department.

The Society for Christian Service meets at the church Tuesday at 3:30 for it's regular program meeting.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH

J. M. Alford, Pastor

Our revival meeting which began one week ago this morning will close with the evening service. Rev. H. M. Wolfe, the director of evangelism and stewardship of the Louisiana Methodist conference, has been preaching for us. We cordially invite all to attend these last two services of the meeting. Fine interest has been manifested and some have given their names for membership. All the new members will be received into the church at the close of the evening service.

The Sunday school today will open at 9:45 a.m. We hope all the teachers and officers will be in their places on time. The 11 o'clock service will follow the church school exercises. The young people of the Epworth League will render programs at 6:30 o'clock and the final service of the meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. The missionary society will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for their program work which will be led by Mrs. L. H. Patrick the leader of circle No. 1. William Wood, one of the prominent laymen of the First Methodist church, will teach the Men's Bible class today.

T. DeWitt Talmage is quoted as saying, "I remember when a hospital in Philadelphia was opened during the war, a telegram came saying, 'There will be three hundred wounded men tonight, be ready to look after them,' and from my church went thirty men and women to look after the wounded. No one asked whence they came; there was a wounded man, and the only question was how to treat him most gently. And when a soul comes to God, He does not ask where he came from. Healing is there for all his wounds, pardon for all his guilt."

Public worship begins at 9:45 with Sunday school. Message delivered at 11 o'clock. The sermon subject will be "Divine Healing." Is this doctrine from heaven or hell? Is Divine healing for us in this modern age? Hear these questions answered in this 11 o'clock message. Christian Endeavor at 6:45. Mrs. E. A. Williamson will lead in the meeting. Evening service at 7:30. The sermon subject will be, "Hen-Pecked Husbands and Foolish Wives." This will be a gospel message based upon the Bible, God's eternal word. Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Both circles will meet with Mrs. F. C. Lankford. This will be "revealing" day.

Mid-week prayer service Wednesday evening at 7:30, led by Mrs. F. C. Lankford. We are happy to state that progress in our Methodist Advance campaign is encouraging.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

The response to the appeal pertaining to the financial support of the church is gratifying. Will you call the church office, telephone 1011, and indicate the part of the budget that you will underwrite? Your cooperation with the deacons will be appreciated. A voluntary response is desired. Our Lord expects His people to support His church, and He is happy when His children honor Him with their means.

A communicant's class has its first session Monday afternoon, March 18, 4 to 4:30. If you are interested in the church, if you are considering uniting with the Presbyterian church, if you want to know what it is all about, you are most cordially invited.

Friday, March 22, noon to 3 p.m., Good Friday will be observed. Seven periods, about 26 minutes in length, are builded about the seven words of the Blessed Christ. Hence you may attend and take part, even if you can only remain for one period.

"The Peril of Postponing Decision" is the subject of our morning meditation. Mr. L. R. Simpson, an elder of the church, will speak at the evening hour.

A cordial greeting awaits you.

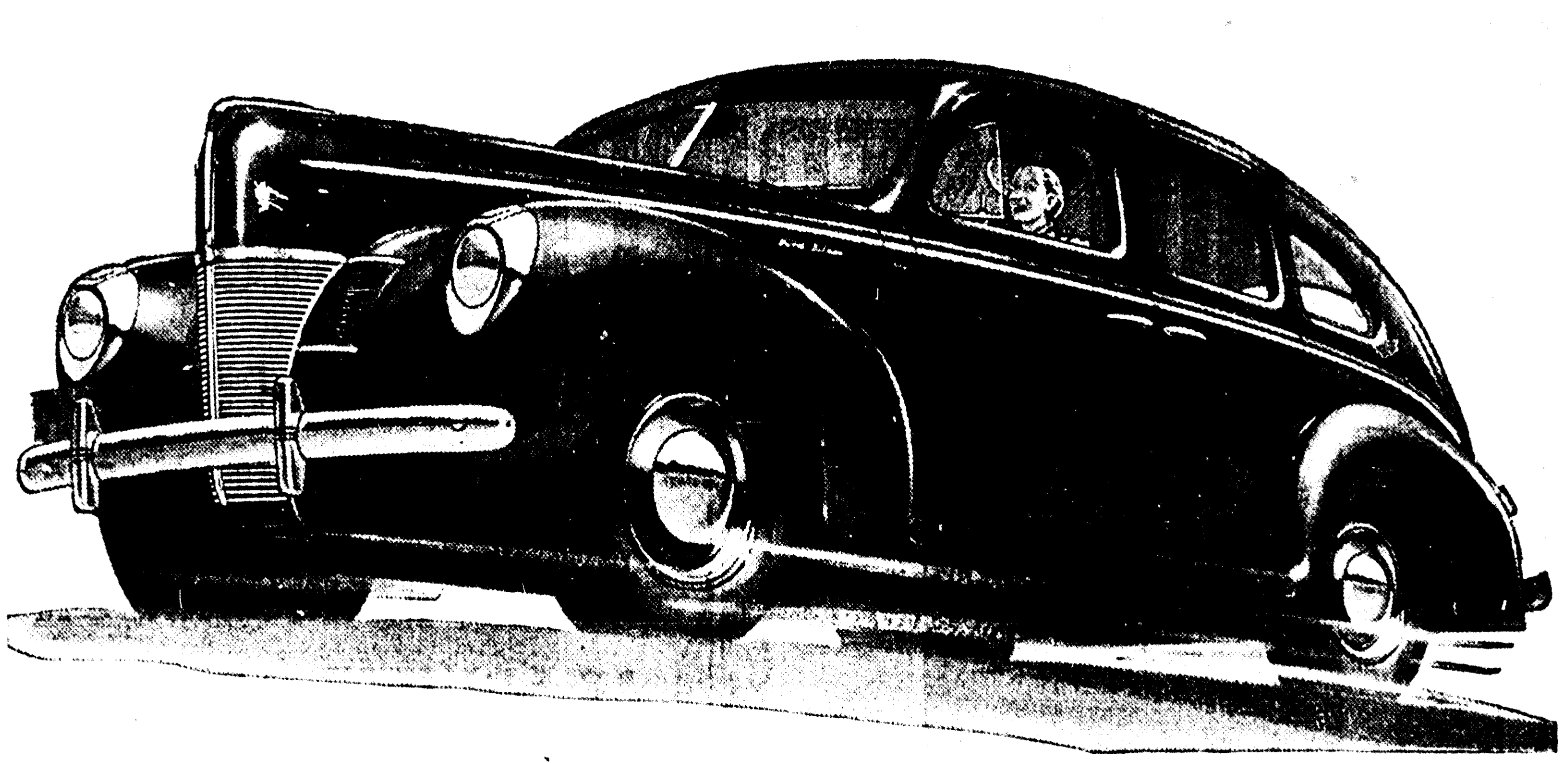
Count the cylinders,

● Just looking at a Ford V-8 is pleasant, but let's lift the long, handsome hood and get down to business.

Here's the heart of this car—that famous V-8 engine—eight cylinders—count 'em!

No other car in the low-price field has a power plant like that!



check the features,

Step on it . . . there's pep a-plenty in that pick-up . . . smooth power that sends you sailing along . . . up the steepest hill just "breathing easy." You'll say, as they all say, "It takes an eight to match an eight!"

Power and speed aren't everything? Then look this whole car over . . . check its superior features—bigger brakes and battery, full torque-tube drive, dual down-draft carburetion—and riding comfort that owners are so enthusiastic about!

And—don't forget this—check the gas you use as you GO! Check it accurately—then you'll know why Ford topped all standard-equipped cars in its class in the 1940 Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run.

compare the price!

Last, but not least, there's price. With practically every reason for asking more, Ford doesn't. Check the low price of this big "8"—and the extra equipment included.

CLUBS PLANNING UNITED ACTION

Women's Organizations Seek To Promote Community Project

The Public Affairs committees of the Altrusa club, the American Association of University Women, the Business and Professional Women's club, the Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' club and the Y. W. C. A. are acting together for the present year in an effort to promote a community program of public affairs.

These committees are taking advantage of the current series of lectures sponsored by the Y's Men's club and given by Judge Pierre Crabites of Louisiana State university, and they offer these lectures as their first item in the program designed to present an opportunity for group discussion once each month.

All members of these clubs and others interested are urged to attend the forthcoming lectures, scheduled for the near future, the exact dates to be announced shortly. The lectures will be given at Northeast Junior college auditorium at 8 p.m. A representative of each club will be stationed at the entrance of the auditorium, and it is urged that the members of the clubs register with their respective representatives. The committees are indebted to the Y's Men's club for its cooperation in this matter. No admission is charged.

Judge Crabites has had varied experiences in foreign countries, and will discuss vital issues from his first hand information of the foreign situation. Chairmen of these committees from whom club members can receive more information if desired are: Miss Bernice McCoy, Altrusa; Miss Myrtle Rodgers, A. A. U. W.; Mrs. Johnnie Smith Elbert, Business and Professional Women's club; Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Y. W. C. A. Business Girls' club; Mrs. A. D. Tisdale and Miss Sue Hefley, Y. W. C. A.

Last Sunday was a banner day in Sunday school with a record attendance. Our goal for today is three hundred and fifty and next Sunday (Easter) we are working for five hundred. Sunday school opens in all departments promptly at 9:45 a.m., S. W. Hamilton is superintendent. Rev. Carl W. Barnes, who is preaching in the revival, will be speaking at 11:00 a.m., also at 7:30 p.m. Christ Ambassador class meets at 6:30 p.m., Mrs. Carl W. Barnes will speak to the young people at this hour.

Much interest is being manifested in the revival services and the results thus far are very gratifying. We invite you to be with us in all the services today and every day during the week at 7:30 p.m.

A "Funeral Service For the Living Dead" will be conducted at our church Sunday night. Most funeral services are conducted in the day time; this one will be at night. The text will be, "Thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead." Rev. 3:1.

"Heathenism in Modern Churches" will receive our attention in the pastor's morning message. Questions of interest to all will be answered the "heathen" way and the Scriptural way.

How about going over the 1,000 mark in Sunday school today? You will feel good the rest of the week if you are one of that number, provided you also remain for the worship service. The Sunday school was never intended to be a substitute for the worship service and the message of the God-called minister of the gospel. Will your excuse for going home—or elsewhere—stand in the day of judgment?

The Baptist Training Union and the Brotherhoods meet at 6:15. The evening service begins at 7:30. Better come early to get a good seat. Visitors always welcome. Baptismal service at the close of the evening service.

The great congregation present last Sunday fired us with enthusiasm to provide for a greater work in our Sunday school, and we hope to be able to announce soon our enlargement program. We urge all our people to be present at the opening session of the Sunday school 9:45 a.m. for further information.

The Baptist Training union is planning a great training course for the last week in this month and we anticipate great results from this work. We urge all our membership to find their place in one of the training groups which are held every Sunday 6:30 p.m.

The sermon subjects for the day are for the morning worship—"A Still Higher Path" 1 Cor. 12:31; and for the evening service—"Results of Being Born from Above." The beauty of springtime is here and let us also display in our lives the beauty of the resurrection of our Lord as He lives and blesses this world more vividly than any refreshing springtime can ever hope to do. Count the cylinders,

• Just looking at a Ford V-8 is pleasant, but let's lift the long, handsome hood and get down to business.

Here's the heart of this car—that famous V-8 engine—eight cylinders—count 'em!

No other car in the low-price field has a power plant like that!

check the features,

Step on it . . . there's pep a-plenty in that pick-up . . . smooth power that sends you sailing along . . . up the steepest hill just "breathing easy." You'll say, as they all say, "It takes an eight to match an eight!"

Power and speed aren't everything? Then look this whole car over . . . check its superior features—bigger brakes and battery, full torque-tube drive, dual down-draft carburetion—and riding comfort that owners are so enthusiastic about!

And—don't forget this—check the gas you use as you GO! Check it accurately—then you'll know why Ford topped all standard-equipped cars in its class in the 1940 Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run.

Compare the price!

Last, but not least, there's price. With practically every reason for asking more, Ford doesn't. Check the low price of this big "8"—and the extra equipment included.

Get the FACTS—get a FORD—and get MOST for your money!

Hopkins Accuses Tobey Of Leading 'Informational Sit-Down Strike'

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP)—Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins today accused Senator Tobey, Republican, New Hampshire, of leading "an informational sit-down strike against the government" by urging citizens to refuse to tell census takers about their personal income.

The New England senator, prime mover in the "battle of the census," replied that Hopkins was "engaged in mudslinging and completely avoiding the real issue."

Unperturbed by the criticism, Tobey declared that he would use "every means available to me as a United States senator to bring this issue to a head." "Many citizens, including Democrats, are planning to seek court injunctions against this census snooping," he added.

Hopkins entered the census squabble as a result of a telegram Tobey sent to President Roosevelt yesterday after the chief executive, without naming Tobey, said a senator was advising people to "violate the law" by refusing to answer the income questions.

Tobey, in the telegram, demanded to know what law was involved asserting that the census questions were authorized by a bureau ruling and that to call this ruling a law was to employ Hitlerian tactics.

The commerce secretary, under whom 130,000 census takers will begin ringing doorbells April 2, advised Tobey in a letter that the White House had referred the telegram to him, and then listed "A, B, C's of the census law."

Hopkins said the census was written into the constitution 150 years ago and reminded Tobey that United States senators solemnly swear to "support and defend the constitution of the United States. * * *"

Finally, Hopkins commented that "spectacle of a United States senator calling for resistance to the authority of the government, appealing for civil disobedience, urging an informational sit-down strike against the government is un-American and a menace to the processes of self-government."

The New Hampshire Republican commented to reporters that it was the "duty of any senator to advise citizens not to obey a bureaucratic ruling which is unauthorized and illegal."

The senate commerce committee has approved a resolution by Tobey which would record the senate as disapproving of the questions about income.

Most senate leaders, including Republicans, said there was little chance however, for senate consideration of the resolution because the farm bill and trade agreements legislation would keep the senate busy until after the census had actually started.

GIVING AID TO CRIPPLED

This girl, who is lending a helping hand to the crippled youngster, pictorially presents the theme of the 1940 Easter seal "for crippled children." The crutch is symbolic of the orthopaedic correction, an early step in a well-rounded program "for crippled children." The books denote education, valuable to all, but even more valuable to the child who, handicapped in body, must someday depend solely on a trained mind in the fight for economic security. The smile on the face of the crippled lad shows the courageous spirit that fills him. The hand, leading the child, represents the personal direction of an awakened society, a society that realizes how important it is that every physically handicapped child be given the chance for its best possible physical, mental, and spiritual development. The seal, of which this is a real-life counterpart, is a token of goodwill "for crippled children." They have been mailed to residents of Ouachita parish by the local crippled children's unit. Share your Easter joy!

Hopkins Accuses Tobey Of Leading 'Informational Sit-Down Strike'

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP)—Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins today accused Senator Tobey, Republican, New Hampshire, of leading "an informational sit-down strike against the government" by urging citizens to refuse to tell census takers about their personal income.

The New England senator, prime mover in the "battle of the census," replied that Hopkins was "engaged in mudslinging and completely avoiding the real issue."

Unperturbed by the criticism, Tobey declared that he would use "every means available to me as a United States senator to bring this issue to a head." "Many citizens, including Democrats, are planning to seek court injunctions against this census snooping," he added.

Hopkins entered the census squabble as a result of a telegram Tobey sent to President Roosevelt yesterday after the chief executive, without naming Tobey, said a senator was advising people to "violate the law" by refusing to answer the income questions.

BRITAIN BARES SPY PRICE LIST

$4,000 Offered For Information Causing Destruction Of German Vessel

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP)—Great Britain's new "spy price list," published today, which makes it worth a thousand pounds ($4,000) to provide accurate information leading to capture or destruction of a German war vessel, should be a cause of rejoicing to the furtive folk who infest neutral countries like the Netherlands, and a bad headache for the neutral governments.

That is because Holland, for instance, is one of the best places in the world to spot the movements of German naval craft, sandwiched as it is between the warring empires on the North sea.

The Netherlands courts already are trying two of their countrymen for peeking at German warships from the Dutch Frisian island of Ameland, at the mouth of Helgoland bight, and passing on the dope to the allies. They are trying other persons, too, one of them a former government official, for reporting movements of English-bound Dutch ships to the Germans. A number of these ships have been sunk.

Likewise there is reason to believe British aircraft and submarines have been guided by neutral-country spies to the patrol boats of German undersea and surface naval craft.

Amsterdam became alive with spies after the war started, and, despite the restrictions of widespread martial law and persistent spy-traps by the government, they got around pretty freely. They seemed to run all the way from slick members of the belligerent intelligence services to down-at-the-heel Dutch Nazis; from sloe-eyed Hungarian cabaret ladies to shiny-nosed German girls with a more direct approach.

It was no uncommon sight last autumn to see rival spies sitting at adjoining tables in Amsterdam's little cabarets, talking in loud and sometimes insulting voices about each other. This writer can recall one case in a rather fashionable night spot where a man in the uniform of a Netherlands army captain rose, flushed deep purple and left, after a man at the next table had made pointed remarks about the captain's "indiscretion."

Southgate, Inside Neutrality Zone, Believed Supplying English Warships

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, March 16.—(AP)—The [illegible] British steamer Southgate, which two weeks ago flashed a mysterious distress signal, is still in waters near Puerto Rico under constant surveillance by the United States neutrality patrol, naval sources asserted today.

The theory is held in these quarters that the Southgate, roving inside the American neutrality zone, is supplying British warships. This has been bolstered by the disclosure that she was sighted two days ago in Mona Passage, between Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic.

The Southgate drew worldwide attention when at sunset March 1 she sent out an SSS radio signal often interpreted in wartime as a distress call due to submarine. The next day she was sighted by United States naval planes, apparently unharmed, and the signal was never explained.

She was seen in Mona Passage by flying boats of the neutrality patrol operating from San Juan. The supply boat theory offers the only apparent explanation of her mysterious movements since March 1, when her distress call gave her position as 160 miles northeast of Puerto Rico.

When the Southgate was seen in Mona Passage, approximately 300 miles southeast of there, she was headed northeast again.

Naval informants said orders from Washington are to track her into port so that the United States government may have some explanation of why she sent her distress signal and then became silent. As far as naval authorities know, she has not touched port since.

WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH

KANSAS CITY, March 16.—(AP)—"It's such a beautiful day," explained a middle-aged woman as she asked permission to view the city from the top of the 28-story telephone building. Taken to the observation platform, she chatted cheerily with her guide then suddenly climbed the restraining wall and plunged to her death. Her body struck the roof of a five-story building. The woman was identified tentatively as Mrs. Emma Monsour, a governess.

Commissioners of Littlefield, Tex., have ruled that free city water be supplied only to firemen.

SCENE FROM ALADDIN'S LAMP

The Princess Bedr-el-budur (Marijane Morley) gazes in horror at the wicked magician (Ralph Clanton) to whom she has mistakenly given the magic lamp, and in whose power she and her household have been placed by his possession of the lamp. As clever as she is lovely, her mind is already at work at the problem of how to recover the lamp. A scene from "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp." This play will be presented at the Neville High school auditorium Tuesday at 4 p.m., and is the third of a series by the Clare Tree Major players. Mrs. J. E. Bryant is chairman of the Barkdull Faulk P.-T. A. committee which has arranged for these plays which are being well received by both children for whom they are specially given and also by adults.

SENATORS SEE WIDE ESPIONAGE

phone lines of a state attorney general and the use of recording discs to reproduce the conversations of public officials.

If it is given the "go ahead" signal, the committee also is expected to inquire into the use of listening devices by government agencies, particularly the federal bureau of investigation and the alcohol tax unit, in obtaining leads on criminal cases.

Green said his chief interest in the inquiry was centered in his home state of Rhode Island, where a federal grand jury investigation of alleged tapping of state officials' wires was ordered recently.

Senator Johnson, Democrat, Colorado, said he would insist, if the inquiry were ordered, that certain Colorado citizens be called for testimony concerning the placing of a microphone in the office of former Governor Teller Ammons, who succeeded Johnson as chief executive of the state.

The interstate commerce committee already has received reports, said Senator Schwartz, Democrat, Wyoming, that a New York detective agency tapped wires in several states, reputedly acting in some instances at the direction of political groups.

Some members said the recent denial by J. Edgar Hoover that the G-men ever had used wire-tapping in violation of existing laws would not deter the committee from looking into the instances where the F. B. I. admittedly has employed this method to obtain "leads."

Hoover said the bureau had tapped wires only in cases of kidnaping or of crimes "where either a human life was at stake or where the activities of persons under investigation were of such an aggravated criminal nature as to justify the use of extraordinary means to detect their activities and cause their apprehension."

Some senators said the wire-tapping ban incorporated in the 1934 communications act was not clear.

Senator Johnson said he thought congress should enact a law dealing with this question alone. He said there might be grounds for some exceptions to a general prohibition against the use of wire tapping and listening devices, such as in kidnaping cases.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY EASTERN STAR

SHREVEPORT, La., March 16.—(AP)—Miss Juanita R. Jackson of Lecompte and John Cousins of New Orleans yesterday were elected grand matron and patron, respectively, of the Louisiana Order of Eastern Star.

Other officers elected were:

Ernest Gillen, Plain Dealing, associate grand patron; Mrs. Nina L. Ginsberg, Alexandria, associate grand matron; Mrs. Mattie R. Major, Rosedale, grand conductress; Miss Ella Taine, Covington, associate grand conductress; Mrs. Camilla Barrow, St. Francisville, grand secretary; Mrs. S. D. McGoldrick, Coushatta, grand treasurer.

Appointive officers as named by Mrs. Jackson are as follows: Mrs. Shirley Gallagher, Mer Rouge, grand chaplain; Mrs. Lessie K. Kelley, Alexandria, grand marshal; Mrs. Belle P. Cox, Basile, grand organist; Mrs. Dot Lutter, Leesville, grand Ada; Mrs. Carrie Beard, Baton Rouge, grand Ruth; Mrs. Alma Cousins, New Orleans, grand Esther; Mrs. Gladys R. Ray, Lecompte, grand Martha; Mrs. Nannie O. Townsend, Boyce, grand Electra; Mrs. Mabel McCoy, Shreveport, grand warder, and Dr. B. F. Bremer, Glenmora, grand sentinel.

Alexandria was chosen the convention city for 1941 and the date of the annual meeting was set for March 13-14.

Mrs. Lovie V. Gregory of Monroe and James H. Rowland of Shreveport were the worthy grand matron and patron serving during the past year.

CHANGES SOUGHT IN STATE LAWS

committed in the furtherance of the crime takes place.

6. Provide for selection of alternate jurors in criminal trials as is now done in federal courts.

On the committee with Hardin are Eugene Stanley of New Orleans, attorney general-designate, J. B. Nachain of Alexandria and E. E. Talbot of New Orleans. The report was made at the first meeting of the recently created Louisiana State Law institute which met in the law building at the Louisiana State university.

"The investigations of official misconduct in this state," the report said, "have served to point out a very great weakness in that portion of our criminal statutes which have for their object the prevention and punishment of misconduct and dishonesty on the part of public officials and employes.

"We have many varied detailed statutes punishing various and sundry kinds of larceny, but there is no statute directly punishing defrauding the state of Louisiana or its subdivisions or its institutions. As our law now stands, there is no crime of conspiracy except to commit 12 named felonies."

In pointing out that there was no statute punishing making of false claims or overcharging the state or its subdivisions, the report commented that: "If there had been such a statute, recent investigations would have uncovered enough evidence to clutter the courts for the next five years with prosecutions."

Asserting that the present statute on dual-office holding is "woefully deficient," the report said, "It is easy to understand why the public is confused and misled and unable to understand why the constitution denounces dual-office holding and yet it is so difficult to convict a person of the offense."

"The public is naturally indignant at the revelations of public officials and members of public boards having financial interests in public contracts," the report continued, "but in the recent case of state vs. Abernathy (L. P. Abernathy, former chairman of the Louisiana highway commission and former member of the Louisiana State university board of supervisors) the supreme court affirmed a construction of act 128 of 1906 that largely emasculates the statute unless the interested official actually voted on the matter of interest. Of course, a dishonest official would carefully save himself from being punished for his dishonesty by using all of the influence of his official position to profit thereby and yet refrain from the actual voting on the award of a contract."

The committee's recommendations that action be taken at the current legislative session were referred to the council of the institute with power to act.

Herbert F. Goodrich of the University of Pittsburgh, advisor on professional relations, American Law institute, suggested that the state institute seek a workable interpretation of conflicting supreme court decisions in double-taxation cases and commended the Louisiana body for not having entered into controversial issues until it had well established itself.

The meeting was presided over by John H. Tucker, Shreveport, president of the institute, who gave an outline of the history of the group.

At the morning session Charles F. Fletchinger, New Orleans, treasurer, gave a financial report; Dr. J. Denson Smith, L. S. U., reported on the compilation of the Louisiana codes; Dr. Harriet S. Daggett, L. S. U., reported for the institute committee on compilation of statutes; John Minor Wisdom, Tulane university, New Orleans, reported on a model non-profit corporation act, and Judge Pierre Crabites, L. S. U., who has undertaken the translation into English of Planiol's elementary of the civil law, told of the progress he has made.

Others talking during the afternoon included Edward Dunbar of New Orleans, vice-chairman of the American Law institute restatement annotations committee; Walter Suthon, New Orleans, vice-chairman of the civil law committee; Henry G. McMahon, Baton Rouge, vice-chairman of the procedural law committee; George Wilson, New Orleans, vice-chairman of the statutory revision committee; Eugene Nabors, New Orleans, chairman of the publications committee, and Dan Deballion, Lafayette, chairman of the membership committee.

DEATHS

ROY FINK

JONESBORO, La., March 16.—(Special)—Roy Fink, employe of Southern Advance Bag and Paper company for the past seven years, died at the Hodge clinic March 10 as the result of an appendicitis operation.

Born June 13, 1883, Mr. Fink was 57 years old, and was employed as a machinist in bag factory No. 2.

The deceased is survived, by his widow, Mrs. Bessie Fink, and five sisters, Mrs. Mary Bogue of Fort Worth, Tex.; Mrs. Grace Roberts of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Leona Logemann of Lexington, Ky.; Mrs. Eleon Hudson of Laguna Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Zulnie Trammell of Austin, Tex.

A short funeral service was held at Mr. Fink's Hodge residence with Rev. G. A. Nelson reading the ceremony, after which the body was carried to Jefferson, Tex., for its last resting place, under the direction of Edmonds Funeral home.

ROUNTREE FUNERAL

FERRIDAY, La., March 16.—(Special)—Last rites were held Friday morning for Josiah Lyle Rountree, "grand old man of Concordia parish," who died in the Ferriday hospital at 12:35 o'clock on Thursday after a brief illness.

The funeral was held from the Union church in Vidalia Friday morning at 10 o'clock with the Rev. W. W. Woodward, Methodist minister of Sicily Island, officiating. Masonic rites were conducted at the grave in Natchez, Miss., where interment took place with the Concordia lodge No. 305 and the Harmony and Andrew Jackson lodges of Natchez in charge.

The veteran parish treasurer, who was 91 years of age at the time of his death, was recently presented with a loving cup by the Louisiana State Police Jury association in recognition of his long years of service as parish treasurer. He was the oldest official both in years and time of public service in the state at the time of his passing. He had served as parish treasurer since 1896. He also held an honorary life membership in the Concordia Masonic lodge and was the oldest director of the Concordia Bank and Trust company of Vidalia and Ferriday.

Before turning over the Concordia Sentinel, official parish journal, to his son, Percy L. Rountree, Sr., he had been editor and publisher of this paper and of the Concordia Eagle, which he founded in Vidalia in 1880. He served his apprenticeship in the printing business in Natchez on the Natchez Courier, now the Natchez Democrat. Mr. Rountree was born in Natchez on February 4, 1849, the son of the late John Rountree and Sarah Lyle Rountree. Surviving him are his sons, Percy L. Rountree, Sr., editor of the Concordia Sentinel; William L. Rountree, editor of the Madison Journal, Tallulah; two daughters, Mrs. Fred Falkenheiner and Mrs. C. E. Shiele of Vidalia, eight grandchildren and one nephew, Josiah P. Scott, editor and publisher of the Tensas Gazette in St. Joseph.

The funeral was largely attended and there were numerous floral offerings.

JONES GETS JOB

BATON ROUGE, La., March 16.—(AP)—Louie A. Jones, warden of the state penitentiary for the past four year, who was replaced Wednesday by State Senator James A. Richardson under an appointment by Governor Earl K. Long, was today made farm superintendent by Theophile S. Landry, general manager of the penitentiary.

DANGER TO CANAL IS POINTED OUT

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP)—A war department official estimate that a single raid by as few as 24 hostile bombers might block the Panama canal for months was disclosed today.

In testimony given the senate appropriations committee behind closed doors, Brigadier General George V. Strong of the general staff added that the dispatch of such a force was "well within the capabilities of several foreign powers."

Though the canal's garrison has been strongly reinforced since the European war started, General Strong reported that recent exhaustive studies and tests by military officials had shown that air attacks could be "readily" launched daily from a single aircraft carrier or from a relatively small land air base.

Even more feared, he said, is sabotage, particularly by a ship laden with hidden explosives.

TUGWELL PREDICTS ANNUAL DEFICIT

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell said the recent transfer of $2,064,000 of highway funds to the school fund would permit schools to remain open for the regular term but predicted an annual $1,000,000 deficit hereafter unless additional revenue is provided.

Meanwhile, in Baton Rouge, the Morning Advocate said some attorneys doubted the wisdom and legality of the transfer of highway funds.

Tugwell recently declared a surplus in the hghway bond sinking fund, over and above the amounts necessary for meeting maturities and interest payments.

After this declaration, the $2,064,000 surplus reverted to the general highway fund from which the state board of liquidation transferred the sum to the school fund. The liquidation board provided any residue left in the school fund should be repaid to the highway fund.

The Advocate pointed out the federal highway-aid law provides any reduction or transfer of a state's highway funds incurs a mandatory penalty of one-third the apportionment the state would have received.

SAMUEL UNTERMYER DIES IN CALIFORNIA

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., March 16.—(AP)—Samuel Untermyer, 62, New York corporation lawyer and crusader for Jewish rights, died at his winter home today.

Untermyer had been ill for several weeks, Death came in mid-afternoon.

Palm Springs for years had been his winter residence.

He had not been as active in recent years as formerly although periodically he came out with a denunciation of German treatment of Jews and a prediction that Hitler's policies would bring economic ruin.

He long hed campaigned for labor and the underdog, wherever found, but, wealthy, indulged his tastes for dapper dress. He seldom was seen without an orchid in his lapel.

Untermyer died in his luxurious home in the heart of Palm Springs, a desert resort frequented by Hollywood film stars and wealthy easterners. With him were his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Untermyer, who flew here from New York 10 days ago.

SCENE FROM ALADDIN'S LAMP

The Princess Bedr-el-budur (Marijane Morley) gazes in horror at the wicked magician (Ralph Clanton) to whom she has mistakenly given the magic lamp, and in whose power she and her household have been placed by his possession of the lamp. As clever as she is lovely, her mind is already at work at the problem of how to recover the lamp. A scene from "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp." This play will be presented at the Neville High school auditorium Tuesday at 4 p.m., and is the third of a series by the Clare Tree Major players. Mrs. J. E. Bryant is chairman of the Barkdull Faulk P.-T. A. committee which has arranged for these plays which are being well received by both children for whom they are specially given and also by adults.

SENATORS SEE WIDE ESPIONAGE

phone lines of a state attorney general and the use of recording discs to reproduce the conversations of public officials.

If it is given the "go ahead" signal, the committee also is expected to inquire into the use of listening devices by government agencies, particularly the federal bureau of investigation and the alcohol tax unit, in obtaining leads on criminal cases.

Green said his chief interest in the inquiry was centered in his home state of Rhode Island, where a federal grand jury investigation of alleged tapping of state officials' wires was ordered recently.

Senator Johnson, Democrat, Colorado, said he would insist, if the inquiry were ordered, that certain Colorado citizens be called for testimony concerning the placing of a microphone in the office of former Governor Teller Ammons, who succeeded Johnson as chief executive of the state.

The interstate commarce committee already has received reports, said Senator Schwartz, Democrat, Wyoming, that a New York detective agency tapped wires in several states, reputedly acting in some instances at the direction of political groups.

Some members said the recent denial by J. Edgar Hoover that the G-men ever had used wire-tapping in violation of existing laws would not deter the committee from looking into the instances where the F. B. I. admittedly has employed this method to obtain "leads."

Hoover said the bureau had tapped wires only in cases of kidnaping or of crimes "where either a human life was at stake or where the activities of persons under investigation were of such an aggravated criminal nature as to justify the use of extraordinary means to detect their activities and cause their apprehension."

Some senators said the wire-tapping ban incorporated in the 1934 communications act was not clear.

Senator Johnson said he thought congress should enact a law dealing with this question alone. He said there might be grounds for some exceptions to a general prohibition against the use of wire tapping and listening devices, such as in kidnaping cases.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY EASTERN STAR

SHREVEPORT, La., March 16.—(AP)—Miss Juanita R. Jackson of Lecompte and John Cousins of New Orleans yesterday were elected grand matron and patron, respectively, of the Louisiana Order of Eastern Star.

Other officers elected were:

Ernest Gillen, Plain Dealing, associate grand patron; Mrs. Nina L. Ginsberg, Alexandria, associate grand matron; Mrs. Mattie R. Major, Rosedale, grand conductress; Miss Ella Taine, Covington, associate grand conductress; Mrs. Camilla Barrow, St. Francisville, grand secretary; Mrs. S. D. McGoldrick, Coushatta, grand treasurer.

Appointive officers as named by Mrs. Jackson are as follows: Mrs. Shirley Gallagher, Mer Rouge, grand chaplain; Mrs. Lessie K. Kelley, Alexandria, grand marshal; Mrs. Belle P. Cox, Basile, grand organist; Mrs. Dot Lutter, Leesville, grand Ada; Mrs. Carrie Beard, Baton Rouge, grand Ruth; Mrs. Alma Cousins, New Orleans, grand Esther; Mrs. Gladys R. Ray, Lecompte, grand Martha; Mrs. Nannie O. Townsend, Boyce, grand Electra; Mrs. Mabel McCoy, Shreveport, grand warder, and Dr. B. F. Bremer, Glenmora, grand sentinel.

Alexandria was chosen the convention city for 1941 and the date of the annual meeting was set for March 13-14.

Mrs. Lovie V. Gregory of Monroe and James H. Rowland of Shreveport were the worthy grand matron and patron serving during the past year.

committed in the furtherance of the crime takes place.

6. Provide for selection of alternate jurors in criminal trials as is now done in federal courts.

On the committee with Hardin are Eugene Stanley of New Orleans, attorney general-designate; J. B. Nacham of Alexandria and E. E. Talbot of New Orleans. The report was made at the first meeting of the recently created Louisiana State Law institute which met in the law building at the Louisiana State university.

"The investigations of official misconduct, in this state," the report said, "have served to point out a very great weakness in that portion of our criminal statutes which have for their object the prevention and punishment of misconduct and dishonesty on the part of public officials and employes.

"We have many varied detailed statutes punishing various and sundry kinds of larceny, but there is no statute directly punishing defrauding the state of Louisiana or its subdivisions or its institutions. As our law now stands, there is no crime of conspiracy except to commit 12 named felonies."

In pointing out that there was no statute punishing making of false claims or overcharging the state or its subdivisions, the report commented that: "If there had been such a statute, recent investigations would have uncovered enough evidence to clutter the courts for the next five years with prosecutions."

Asserting that the present statute on dual-office holding is "woefully deficient," the report said, "It is easy to understand why the public is confused and misled and unable to understand why the constitution denounces dual-office holding and yet it is so difficult to convict a person of the offense."

"The public is naturally indignant at the revelations of public officials and members of public boards having financial interests in public contracts," the report continued, "but in the recent case of state vs. Abernathy (L. P. Abernathy, former chairman of the Louisiana highway commission and former member of the Louisiana State university board of supervisors) the supreme court affirmed a construction of act 128 of 1906 that largely emasculates the statute unless the interested official actually voted on the matter of interest. Of course, a dishonest official would carefully save himself from being punished for his dishonesty by using all of the influence of his official position to profit thereby and yet refrain from the actual voting on the award of a contract."

The committee's recommendations that action be taken at the current legislative session were referred to the council of the institute with power to act.

Herbert F. Goodrich of the University of Pittsburgh, advisor on professional relations, American Law institute, suggested that the state institute seek a workable interpretation of conflicting supreme court decisions in double-taxation cases and commended the Louisiana body for not having entered into controversial issues until it had well established itself.

The meeting was presided over by John H. Tucker, Shreveport, president of the institute, who gave an outline of the history of the group.

At the morning session Charles F. Fletchinger, New Orleans, treasurer, gave a financial report; Dr. J. Denson Smith, L. S. U., reported on the compilation of the Louisiana codes; Dr. Harriet S. Daggett, L. S. U., reported for the institute committee on compilation of statutes; John Minor Wisdom, Tulane university, New Orleans, reported on a model non-profit corporation act, and Judge Pierre Crabites, L. S. U., who has undertaken the translation into English of Planiol's elementary of the civil law, told of the progress he has made.

Others talking during the afternoon included Edward Dunbar of New Orleans, vice-chairman of the American Law institute restatement annotations committee; Walter Suthon, New Orleans, vice-chairman of the civil law committee; Henry G. McMahon, Baton Rouge, vice-chairman of the procedural law committee; George Wilson, New Orleans, vice-chairman of the statutory revision committee; Eugene Nabors, New Orleans, chairman of the publications committee, and Dan Debaillon, Lafayette, chairman of the membership committee.

DEATHS

ROY FINK

JONESBORO, La., March 16.—(Special)—Roy Fink, employe of Southern Advance Bag and Paper company for the past seven years, died at the Hodge clinic March 10 as the result of an appendicitis operation.

Born June 13, 1883, Mr. Fink was 57 years old, and was employed as a machinist in bag factory No. 2.

The deceased is survived, by his widow, Mrs. Bessie Fink, and five sisters, Mrs. Mary Bogue of Fort Worth, Tex.; Mrs. Grace Roberts of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Leona Logemann of Lexington, Ky.; Mrs. Eleon Hudson of Laguna Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Zulnie Trammell of Austin, Tex.

A short funeral service was held at Mr. Fink's Hodge residence with Rev. G. A. Nelson reading the ceremony, after which the body was carried to Jefferson, Tex., for its last resting place, under the direction of Edmonds Funeral home.

ROUNTREE FUNERAL

FERRIDAY, La., March 16.—(Special)—Last rites were held Friday morning for Josiah Lyie Rountree, "grand old man of Concordia parish," who died in the Ferriday hospital at 12:35 o'clock on Thursday after a brief illness.

The funeral was held from the Union church in Vidalia Friday morning at 10 o'clock with the Rev. W. W. Woodward, Methodist minister of Sicily Island, officiating. Masonic rites were conducted at the grave in Natchez, Miss., where interment took place with the Concordia lodge No. 305 and the Harmony and Andrew Jackson lodges of Natchez in charge.

The veteran parish treasurer, who was 91 years of age at the time of his death, was recently presented with a loving cup by the Louisiana State Police Jury association in recognition of his long years of service as parish treasurer. He was the oldest official both in years and time of public service in the state at the time of his passing. He had served as parish treasurer since 1896. He also held an honorary life membership in the Concordia Masonic lodge and was the oldest director of the Concordia Bank and Trust company of Vidalia and Ferriday.

Before turning over the Concordia Sentinel, official parish journal, to his son, Percy L. Rountree, Sr., he had been editor and publisher of this paper and of the Concordia Eagle, which he founded in Vidalia in 1880. He served his apprenticeship in the printing business in Natchez on the Natchez Courier, now the Natchez Democrat. Mr. Rountree was born in Natchez on February 4, 1849, the son of the late John Rountree and Sarah Lyle Rountree. Surviving him are his sons, Percy L. Rountree, Sr., editor of the Concordia Sentinel; William L. Rountree, editor of the Madison Journal, Tallulah; two daughters, Mrs. Fred Falkenheiner and Mrs. C. E. Shiele of Vidalia, eight grandchildren and one nephew, Josiah P. Scott, editor and publisher of the Tensas Gazette in St. Joseph.

The funeral was largely attended and there were numerous floral offerings.

JONES GETS JOB

BATON ROUGE, La., March 16.—(AP)—Louie A. Jones, warden of the state penitentiary for the past four year, who was replaced Wednesday by State Senator James A. Richardson under an appointment by Governor Earl K. Long, was today made farm superintendent by Theophile S. Landry, general manager of the penitentiary.

With the Russo-Finnish peace treaty ending the northern European conflict, Germans are ready for renewed activity on the western front. Shown above is a battery of German troops at their gun stations on the Siegfried line.

DANGER TO CANAL IS POINTED OUT

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP)—A war department official estimate that a single raid by as few as 24 hostile bombers might block the Panama canal for months was disclosed today.

In testimony given the senate appropriations committee behind closed doors, Brigadier General George V. Strong of the general staff added that the dispatch of such a force was "well within the capabilities of several foreign powers."

Though the canal's garrison has been strongly reinforced since the European war started, General Strong reported that recent exhaustive studies and tests by military officials had shown that air attacks could be "readily" launched daily from a single aircraft carrier or from a relatively small land air base.

Even more feared, he said, is sabotage, particularly by a ship laden with hidden explosives.

TUGWELL PREDICTS ANNUAL DEFICIT

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell said the recent transfer of $2,064,000 of highway funds to the school fund would permit schools to remain open for the regular term but predicted an annual $4,000,000 deficit hereafter unless additional revenue is provided.

Meanwhile, in Baton Rouge, the Morning Advocate said some attorneys doubted the wisdom and legality of the transfer of highway funds.

Tugwell recently declared a surplus in the hghway bond sinking fund, over and above the amounts necessary for meeting maturities and interest payments.

After this declaration, the $2,064,000 surplus reverted to the general highway fund from which the state board of liquidation transferred the sum to the school fund. The liquidation board provided any residue left in the school fund should be repaid to the highway fund.

The Advocate pointed out the federal highway-aid law provides any reduction or transfer of a state's highway funds incurs a mandatory penalty of one-third the apportionment the state would have received.

SAMUEL UNTERMYER DIES IN CALIFORNIA

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., March 16.—(AP)—Samuel Untermyer, 62, New York corporation lawyer and crusader for Jewish rights, died at his winter home today.

Untermyer had been ill for several weeks, Death came in mid-afternoon.

Palm Springs for years had been his winter residence.

He had not been as active in recent years as formerly although periodically he came out with a denunciation of German treatment of Jews and a prediction that Hitler's policies would bring economic ruin.

He long had campaigned for labor and the underdog, wherever found, but, wealthy, indulged his tastes for dapper dress. He seldom was seen without an orchid in his lapel.

Untermyer died in his luxurious home in the heart of Palm Springs, a desert resort frequented by Hollywood film stars and wealthy easterners. With him were his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Untermyer, who flew here from New York 10 days ago.

S.S.S. TONIC must be good

So many people take it

—to increase appetite

—to boost energy

COUNTLESS thousands of men and women can testify to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought them.

The facts are simple because of all conditions effecting the human body a low blood count is most deceptive. If you feel rundown . . . lack a keen appetite . . . have lost weight . . . don't give up until you restore those precious red-blood-cells back to normal.

S.S.S. Tonic may be just what you need to get you on the right road to health and happiness again.

In S.S.S. Tonic you go after the trouble in two ways . . . first you increase the appetite and better your stomach digestion—thus making better use of the food you eat—secondly, thin, weak, watery blood is made rich and red again thus giving you a boost in energy.

Try S.S.S. which any drug store can supply and no ethical dealer will suggest a substitute. The big 20 oz. size is a two week's treatment and represents a saving in the purchase price. ©S.S.S. Co.

BRITISH PREMIER TO DEFEND SELF

ing frequent, some of the public clamored for bombs, not leaflets.

Military correspondents and public men constantly suggest this or that strategy for winning the war, criticize Chamberlain and his government for doing this or that.

Chamberlain goes on his quiet way, seemingly unmindful of criticism, confident, determined and apparently thinking neither of his age nor retirement.

He looks fresh and healthy as before the war. An attack of gout put him to bed for a short time but he kept on working in his bedroom and soon was back to his usual long hours.

Why does Chamberlain cling to his post as prime minister?

Some think a personal grudge against Hitler spurs him on.

Others contend that he has not forsaken but put into cold storage his "appeasement" program for the "duration," and when the time comes will attempt to carry out his own ideas of a European peace.

These and other factors probably contribute to his perseverance.

But perhaps the best answer is that Neville Chamberlain thinks he can do the job better than anyone else.

No one stands out at the moment as a likely successor, unless it is Winston Churchill. His future, like Chamberlain's, depends largely on the course of the war.

Widespread discontent with the government's prosecution of the war or a revolt against some of its policies might overthrow Chamberlain. But Churchill's chances of succession might at the same time be prejudiced by his own connection with the government unless he led a revolt against it.

And Chamberlain has an uncanny ability to ride out political storms.

At 71 he presses on along his own course.

NUMBER OF BRITISH VESSELS ARE SUNK

LONDON, March 16—(AP)—A new upswing in German mine warfare today claimed two British naval trawlers and several merchant ships while Britain wrote its own warlike postscript to a week of siege by announcing flights by her bombers over both German-occupied Poland and Helgoland Bight.

The trawlers sunk were the Peridot and the Maida, both by mines. The commander and five crewmen of the Maida were believed lost. The crew of the Peridot was saved.

The 1,589-ton British steamer Melrose sank in the North sea after an explosion, with 18 of her crew of 23 missing, and two Greek ships, the Panachrandos, 4,661 tons and the Flora, 2,980 tons, were sunk mysteriously.

British officials said they could not confirm German claims that one British patrol vessel had been sunk and another damaged by German air raiders.

Shortly after the sinkings of the British vessels were disclosed, Netherlands naval officials advised ships flying that nation's flag to remain in harbor because of the discovery of new danger zones.

The planes which reconnoitered Helgoland Bight met some "opposition" from German fighters and anti-aircraft guns but suffered no casualties, the communique reported.

British aerial patrols, the ministry said, engaged in a "running fight" off the English coast with a Nazi bomber "in which the enemy attacked repeatedly" but "finally escaped in the clouds" after being slightly damaged.

Meanwhile Britain's drive to have a half million troops in France by fall gathered impetus as it was disclosed that men over 27 years of age probably would be called up in May.

Figures issued today by Lloyds Gazette listed total allied and neutral merchant shipping losses to date at 383 ships aggregating 1,199,938 tons as compared to German losses of 34 ships with a tonnage of 184,641. The German losses did not include 27 vessels captured.

The Gazette said Britain had lost 168 ships, France 16, Norway 42, Sweden 33 and Poland one.

(An Associated Press tabulation today showed 473 merchant and naval ships lost by all nations since the war began. These included: Britain 217, Germany 43, France 20, Norway 53, Sweden 37, Denmark 22, Netherlands 22 and Greece 21.)

which he showed unusual adaptability. He opened up the practice of medicine in Jonesville, La., where he located until 1922 with the exception of a short time in the World war when he was on the medical staff at Camp Pike base hospital.

Immediately upon leaving Jonesville in 1922, he went to St. Louis, where he pursued a post-graduate course in pediatrics. When he had completed his studies, he came to Monroe and opened an office in the Ouachita National bank building. He continued to maintain his office until about six years ago, when ill health caused him almost entrely to withdraw from active practice.

Dr. Yancey was possessed of an unusually genial nature and made a wide circle of friends. He held membership in the Ouachita parish Medical society, the Fifth District Medical society, Louisiana State Medical society and in the American Medical association. He was active in Masonry, being a member of the Consistory, Grotto, Shrine, Royal Arch Masons and Order of the Eastern Star.

For years he was one of the outstanding members of the Monroe Lions club and was foremost in all civic enterprises that meant the development of a better city, parish, state and nation. In his religious affiliation he was a member of Grace Episcopal church.

He leaves an only son, Dr. Cyril Yancey, of New Orleans; his mother, Mrs. Alice Yancey, of Jonesville; a brother, William L. Yancey of Jonesville, and a sister, Mrs. H. M. Venable, of Monroe.

Familiar to veterans of the A. E. F. will be these scenes, packed with the suspense, thrills, and care involved in running the U-boat gantlet between Canada and England. GERMANY GAINS 5-FOLD DIVIDENDS to the principal source of irritation between Italy and Russia, according to well-informed Berlin political circles.

It is recognized here that the Italian people definitely sympathized with the Finns. To have tried to intensify trade relations between Italy and Soviet Russia during the northern conflict would have been extremely unpopular.

Now, however, as seen through German eyes, the road is open to better Russian-Italian commercial relations.

Spain, according to advices received here, was torn between gratitude for German help during the Spanish Civil war and regret that relations between Germany and the Holy See left much to be desired.

Von Ribbentrop, it is known, asked on his own initiative—with Adolf Hitler's approval—for an audience with the holy father.

This gesture, and the fact that the Pope and the German statesman had a long talk, appear to have made a deep impression on Spain, so far as can be judged here, and German-Spanish friendship received a new fillip thereby.

When Von Ribbentrop departed for Rome, informed sources generally took it for granted that he would, through the mouth of Mussolini, have a parting message for the American fact-finder.

The change in the European picture wrought by the Russian-Finnish peace alone is said to have made some of Welles' notes on the German attitude obsolete.

Therefore, von Ribbentrop's journey to Rome, right ahead of Welles' final visit, seemed decidedly opportune.

IRISH BELIEVE TROUBLE REMOTE

day in the liturgical calendar after March 17, which will be devoted to Palm Sunday observances.

Traditional Irish conceptions of St. Patrick and "the wearing of the green" have been shaken by revelations of Father Myles Roman, a Catholic priest.

Irishmen have been told that the popular picture of St. Patrick as a mitred bishop wearing episcopal vestments, carrying a jeweled pastoral staff and banishing the snakes from Ireland is "full of anachronisms."

Such staffs, asserts Father Roman, were not fashioned until 500 years after St. Patrick's death, and the high mitre for 1,000 years after his death in A. D. 461.

St. Patrick is frequently pictured as wearing green, although green has been Ireland's national color for hardly a century. When Ireland was deprived of her parliament early in the 19th century the Orangemen of the north and the Nationalists of the south rose to defend their legislature. The northerners used orange as their color and the southerners used blue. Because green is produced by the mixture of blue and yellow the two parties adopted a green flag to symbolize their unity.

KENTUCKY DEPUTY SHERIFF KILLED

JACKSON, Ky., March 16—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Wilson Deaton, 31, was shot to death on a highway near here today, the second son of Sheriff Walter Deaton to be felled by bullets in "bloody Breathitt" county within a month.

The deputy was slain, his father said, while trying to halt a roadside fight among four unidentified men. Mose Bush, 28, who jumped off a truck with young Deaton to intervene in the fight, was treated at the Jackson hospital for minor wounds.

The four brawlers fled to nearby hills and eluded possemen, but state highway patrolmen detained two unnamed women, who had been with the four men and who screamed during the shooting, "Pour it on 'em! Pour it on 'em."

Fred Deaton, 28, a brother of the slain deputy, was wounded seriously in a pistol duel in front of the Jackson postoffice February 24 in which Lewis Combs, 34, a state tax collector, was killed. Recovering in a Lexington hospital, Fred Deaton was indicted on a murder charge by the Breathitt county grand jury last Tuesday.

Jonesville

Mrs. W. C. Stroud was hostess to members of Circle 1 of the Methodist W. M. S. in her home.

Bible lotto was enjoyed during the afternoon and delicious refreshments served at the close of the meeting.

Enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Stroud were Mrs. Lee Lazarus, Mrs. E. Young, Jr., Mrs. Harold Dees, Mrs. C. F. Farrar, Mrs. Maggie Lazarus, Mrs. Cicero Hull, Mrs. P. J. Rison and Miss Martha Whittaker.

The Methodist W. M. S. Circle 2 held its social meeting for the month of February with Mrs. W. L. Frisbie as hostess in her home on Mound street.

Those attending this meeting were Mrs. O. V. Hooker, Mrs. O. R. Wurster, Mrs. L. C. Spencer, Mrs. B. Z. Forman, Mrs. Lee Arnaud, Mrs Henry Uttinger, and Rev. Jim Sensintaffar.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Morris and Cyril Yancey of New Orleans spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. L. Lancey.

Mrs. Lola Ussery, of Shreveport, spent last week-end with relatives and friends in Jonesville.

Miss Rowena Kirby of St. Joseph spent last week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kirby.

C. C. Elkins and E. W. Dayton visited in Lafayette, where they attended the state baord association meeting.

Mrs. Tommye Moseley was hostess to the members of her bridge club in her home on Simpson drive.

Early spring flowers were used to decorate the living room where the guests enjoyed an afternoon of contract. Mrs. W. C. Stroud won high score, Mrs. W. L. Frisbie second, and Mrs. Moseley cut consolation.

Delicious refreshments were served the guests.

A delightful event was the "victory feast" given by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dayton, Sr., in their home on Little River.

Long tables were placed across the porch and lawn and were attractively decorated with jonquils, violets and other spring blossoms.

Over 300 guests, including people from Shreveport, Alexandria and Monroe enjoyed the delicious barbecue of turkey, chicken and chittlings with all the fixings, and helped to celebrate the election of Governor Sam Jones and Representative G. C. Womack.

The members of the Jonesville Bridge club were entertained by Mrs. Henry Uttinger in her home on Simpson drive.

Mrs. W. C. Stroud won high score prize, Mrs. Uttinger second, and consolation was cut by Mrs. C. E. Encte.

A delicious salad course was enjoyed at the conclusion of the games.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lazarus of St. Francisville, Mrs. Henry Dorsey and Ray Lazarus of Natchez, Mrs. Clara Denig of Gilham, and Mrs. Spurgeon Lambert and children of Natchez visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Lazarus. Mrs. Denig remained with her parents for a visit of a few days.

tobacco farmer here at home and the producer of raisins and prunes and apples and winter pears has each lost his best customer. His exports have been severely curtailed."

"Only quick and heavy government purchases, as well as loans, have kept him from fully realizing just how serious a blow has been dealt him. From the information now available to us, it looks as though this situation will grow more acute during the coming fiscal year."

The senate is scheduled to take up the farm bill Monday after completing action on the "anti-politics" measure that has produced two weeks of the bitterest debate on this session.

The measure, sponsored by Senator Hatch, Democrat, New Mexico, would extend political restrictions now covering federal employes to thousands of state employes paid in whole or part by federal funds. The senate has agreed to vote on the measure at 3 p.m., eastern standard time, Monday.

An amendment adopted this week would forbid individual political contributions in excess of $5,000. Democratic opponents of the measure backed the amendment with the admitted intention of embarrassing the Republicans.

In a statement today, Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the Republican national finance committee, took note of this strategy and said the Republican party in recent years had "trended constantly toward broadening the base of its financial support." The party, he said, would "scrupulously" live up to the legislation if it were enacted.

All efforts to contact the trapped men had failed.

Ireland, in hip boots and work clothes, was directing rescue operations personally.

Huge pumps were utilized in an effort to suck the "black damp" from the pits.

Scores of rescue workers, some of whom had been called only two months ago to a mine at Bartley in neighboring West Virginia to remove 91 blast victims, were pressed into emergency service here.

A mine car, speeding madly out of control, shot out of the entrance at noon, an unconscious operator at the driver's post. This was the first indication that a blast had occurred.

Steve Olexia, the operator, was overcome by "black damp" after the explosion wrecked the ventilating system of the mine.

Expert rescue workers from other mines in this vicinity were mobilized and immediately began extrication operations under the personal direction of Ireland.

A Cleveland resident, Ireland was in St. Clairsville on business and immediately upon being notified of the explosion entered the mine, which employs from 500 to 1,000 men.

Richards, Sanders and four other men plunged into the rescue work without gas masks and were overcome after going only 150 feet. The others were revived.

Both the Ohio division of mines and the United States bureau of mines at Pittsburgh sent specially-equipped rescue cars to the scene, located in a hilly district.

The mine is known as a "drift" working because its entries are made into coal veins from the side of a hill.

Mine attaches said the trapped miners probably were near the ground surface, but that it would be impractical to attempt digging an emergency shaft to reach them.

E. W. Grove, in charge of the federal mine rescue crew, said after talking with mine officials that the explosion may have been caused by either gas or coal dust.

BRITISH PREMIER TO DEFEND SELF

ing frequency some of the public clamored for bombs, not leaflets.

Military correspondents and public men constantly suggest this or that strategy for winning the war—criticize Chamberlain and his government for doing this or that.

Chamberlain goes on his quiet way, seemingly unmindful of criticism, confident, determined, and apparently thinking neither of his age nor retirement.

He looks fresh and healthy as before the war. An attack of gout put him to bed for a short time but he kept on working in his bedroom and soon was back to his usual long hours.

Why does Chamberlain cling to his post as prime minister?

Some think a personal grudge against Hitler spurs him on.

Others contend that he has not forsaken but put into cold storage his "appeasement" program for the "duration," and when the time comes will attempt to carry out his own ideas of a European peace.

These and other factors probably contribute to his perseverance.

But perhaps the best answer is that Neville Chamberlain thinks he can do the job better than anyone else.

No one stands out at the moment as a likely successor, unless it is Winston Churchill. His future, like Chamberlain's, depends largely on the course of the war.

Widespread discontent with the government's prosecution of the war or a revolt against some of its policies might overthrow Chamberlain. But Churchill's chances of succession might at the same time be prejudiced by his own connection with the government—unless he led a revolt against it.

And Chamberlain has an uncanny ability to ride out political storms.

NUMBER OF BRITISH VESSELS ARE SUNK

LONDON, March 16.—(AP)—A new upswing in German mine warfare today claimed two British naval trawlers and several merchant ships while Britain wrote its own warlike postscript to a week of siege by announcing flights by her bombers over both German-occupied Poland and Helgoland Bight.

The trawlers sunk were the Peridot and the Maida, both by mines. The commander and five crewmen of the Maida were believed lost. The crew of the Peridot was saved.

The 1,589-ton British steamer Melrose sank in the North sea after an explosion, with 18 of her crew of 23 missing, and two Greek ships, the Panachrandos, 4,661 tons and the Flora, 2,980 tons, were sunk mysteriously.

British officials said they could not confirm German claims that one British patrol vessel had been sunk and another damaged by German air raiders.

Shortly after the sinkings of the British vessels were disclosed, Netherlands naval officials advised ships flying that nation's flag to remain in harbor because of the discovery of new danger zones.

The planes which reconnoitered Helgoland Bight met some "opposition" from German fighters and antiaircraft guns but suffered no casualties, the communique reported.

British aerial patrols, the ministry said, engaged in a "running fight" off the English coast with a Nazi bomber "in which the enemy attacked repeatedly" but "finally escaped in the clouds" after being slightly damaged.

Meanwhile Britain's drive to have a half million troops in France by fall gathered impetus as it was disclosed that men over 27 years of age probably would be called up in May.

Figures issued today by Lloyds Gazette listed total allied and neutral merchant shipping losses to date at 383 ships aggregating 1,199,938 tons as compared to German losses of 34 ships with a tonnage of 184,641. The German losses did not include 27 vessels captured.

The Gazette said Britain had lost 168 ships, France 16, Norway 42, Sweden 33 and Poland one.

(An Associated Press tabulation today showed 473 merchant and naval ships lost by all nations since the war began. These included: Britain 217, Germany 43, France 20, Norway 53, Sweden 37, Denmark 22, Netherlands 22 and Greece 21.)

which he showed unusual adaptability. He opened up the practice of medicine in Jonesville, La., where he located until 1922 with the exception of a short time in the World war when he was on the medical staff at Camp Pike base hospital.

Immediately upon leaving Jonesville in 1922, he went to St. Louis, where he pursued a post-graduate course in pediatrics. When he had completed his studies, he came to Monroe and opened an office in the Ouachita National bank building. He continued to maintain his office until about six years ago, when ill health caused him almost entrely to withdraw from active practice.

Dr. Yancey was possessed of an unusually genial nature and made a wide circle of friends. He held membership in the Ouachita parish Medical society, the Fifth District Medical society, Louisiana State Medical society and in the American Medical association. He was active in Masonry, being a member of the Consistory, Grotto, Shrine, Royal Arch Masons and Order of the Eastern Star.

For years he was one of the outstanding members of the Monroe Lions club and was foremost in all civic enterprises that meant the development of a better city, parish, state and nation. In his religious affiliation he was a member of Grace Episcopal church.

He leaves an only son, Dr. Cyril Yancey, of New Orleans; his mother, Mrs. Alice Yancey, of Jonesville; a brother, William L. Yancey of Jonesville, and a sister, Mrs. H. M. Venable, of Monroe.

GERMANY GAINS 5-FOLD DIVIDENDS

to the principal source of irritation between Italy and Russia, according to well-informed Berlin political circles.

It is recognized here that the Italian people definitely sympathized with the Finns. To have tried to intensify trade relations between Italy and Soviet Russia during the northern conflict would have been extremely unpopular.

Now, however, as seen through German eyes, the road is open to better Russian-Italian commercial relations.

Spain, according to advices received here, was torn between gratitude for German help during the Spanish Civil war and regret that relations between Germany and the Holy See left much to be desired.

Von Ribbentrop, it is known, asked on his own initiative—with Adolf Hitler's approval—for an audience with the holy father.

This gesture, and the fact that the Pope and the German statesman had a long talk, appear to have made a deep impression on Spain, so far as can be judged here, and German-Spanish friendship received a new fillip thereby.

When Von Ribbentrop departed for Rome, informed sources generally took it for granted that he would, through the mouth of Mussolini, have a parting message for the American fact-finder.

The change in the European picture wrought by the Russian-Finnish peace alone is said to have made some of Welles' notes on the German attitude obsolete.

Therefore, von Ribbentrop's journey to Rome, right ahead of Welles' final visit, seemed decidedly opportune.

IRISH BELIEVE TROUBLE REMOTE

day in the liturgical calendar after March 17, which will be devoted to Palm Sunday observances.

Traditional Irish conceptions of St. Patrick and "the wearing of the green" have been shaken by revelations of Father Myles Roman, a Catholic priest.

Irishmen have been told that the popular picture of St. Patrick as a mitred bishop wearing episcopal vestments, carrying a jeweled pastoral staff and banishing the snakes from Ireland is "full of anachronisms."

Such staffs, asserts Father Roman, were not fashioned unitl 500 years after St. Patrick's death, and the high mitre for 1,000 years after his death in A. D. 461.

St. Patrick is frequently pictured as wearing green, although green has been Ireland's national color for hardly a century. When Ireland was deprived of her parliament early in the 19th century the Orangemen of the north and the Nationalists of the south rose to defend their legislature. The northerners used orange as their color and the southerners used blue. Because green is produced by the mixture of blue and yellow the two parties adopted a green flag to symbolize their unity.

KENTUCKY DEPUTY SHERIFF KILLED

JACKSON, Ky., March 16.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Wilson Deaton, 31, was shot to death on a highway near here today, the second son of Sheriff Walter Deaton to be felled by bullets in "bloody Breathitt" county within a month.

The deputy was slain, his father said, while trying to halt a roadside fight among four unidentified men. Mose Bush, 28, who jumped off a truck with young Deaton to intervene in the fight, was treated at the Jackson hospital for minor wounds.

The four brawlers fled to nearby hills and eluded possemen, but state highway patrolmen detained two unnamed women, who had been with the four men and who screamed during the shooting, "Pour it on 'em! Pour it on 'em."

Fred Deaton, 28, a brother of the slain deputy, was wounded seriously in a pistol duel in front of the Jackson postoffice February 24 in which Lewis Combs, 34, a state tax collector, was killed. Recovering in a Lexington hospital, Fred Deaton was indicted on a murder charge by the Breathitt county grand jury last Tuesday.

Mrs. Lola Ussery, of Shreveport, spent last week-end with relatives and friends in Jonesville.

Miss Rowena Kirby of St. Joseph spent last week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kirby.

C. C. Elkins and E. W. Dayton visited in Lafayette, where they attended the state baord association meeting.

Mrs. Tommye Moseley was hostess to the members of her bridge club in her home on Simpson drive.

Early spring flowers were used to decorate the living room where the guests enjoyed an afternoon of contract. Mrs. W. C. Stroud won high score, Mrs. W. L. Frisbie second, and Mrs. Moseley cut consolation.

Delicious refreshments were served the guests.

A delightful event was the "victory feast" given by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dayton, Sr., in their home on Little River.

Long tables were placed across the porch and lawn and were attractively decorated with jonquils, violets and other spring blossoms.

Over 300 guests, including people from Shreveport, Alexandria and Monroe enjoyed the delicious barbecue of turkey, chicken and chittlings with all the fixings, and helped to celebrate the election of Governor Sam Jones and Representative G. C. Womack.

The members of the Jonesville Bridge club were entertained by Mrs. Henry Uttinger in her home on Simpson drive.

Mrs. W. C. Stroud won high score prize, Mrs. Uttinger second, and consolation was cut by Mrs. C. E. Enete.

A delicious salad course was enjoyed at the conclusion of the games.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lazarus of St. Francisville, Mrs. Henry Dorsey and Ray Lazarus of Natchez, Mrs. Clara Denig of Gilham, and Mrs. Spurgeon Lambert and children of Natchez visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Lazarus. Mrs. Denig remained with her parents for a visit of a few days.

"Only quick and heavy government purchases, as well as loans, have kept him from fully realizing just how serious a blow has been dealt him. From the information now available to us, it looks as though this situation will grow more acute during the coming fiscal year."

The senate is scheduled to take up the farm bill Monday after completing action on the "anti-politics" measure that has produced two weeks of the bitterest debate on this session.

The measure, sponsored by Senator Hatch, Democrat, New Mexico, would extend political restrictions now covering federal employes to thousands of state employes paid in whole or part by federal funds. The senate has agreed to vote on the measure at 3 p.m., eastern standard time, Monday.

An amendment adopted this week would forbid individual political contributions in excess of $5,000. Democratic opponents of the measure backed the amendment with the admitted intention of embarrassing the Republicans.

In a statement today, Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the Republican national finance committee, took note of this strategy and said the Republican party in recent years had "trended constantly toward broadening the base of its financial support." The party, he said, would "scrupulously" live up to the legislation if it were enacted.

WELFARE CLINIC WORK OUTLINED

Miss Lucille Woodville, Public Health Nurse, Describes Results Obtained

Details of the work of the Monroe Maternity Welfare clinic were outlined by Miss Lucille Woodville, public health nurse, in a talk to the Twin City P.-T. A. recently. She said that the clinic is now stressing, from an educational viewpoint, the value of each mother's obtaining complete medical care during pregnancy.

Patients are instructed not only to confine the knowledge they gain to one small group, but they return to their homes imbued with the spirit to teach others what they have learned. They are taught that medical and dental care are of primary importance, and that healthful habits will promote better homes.

The aim of the program is not merely to prevent deaths, Miss Woodville said, but to improve the health of all. The problem is not entirely medical but is economic, social and educational. Continuing she spoke as follows:

"Recent studies of maternity mortality leads to one conclusion. Between one-half and two-thirds of maternal deaths are preventable, and that maternal mortality goes hand in hand with infant mortality. It is reasonable to assume, therefore, that through the provision of good antepartum care by physicians and nurses, the practice of good obstetrics, lives can be saved.

"We are now asking each mother to demand medical care before the fifth month and patients who report to the clinic later than this are given special instructions.

"The clinic is open to white women and negroes, being held once each week for mothers of each race, Mondays at 8 a.m. for white mothers, and Thursdays at 8 a.m. for negro mothers.

"No patient is accepted at the clinic without a written request from a physician, in event she has already consulted a physician.

"A small fee of $15 is charged at the clinic but indigent oases, where it is impossible to pay the fee, receive the same treatment as do others.

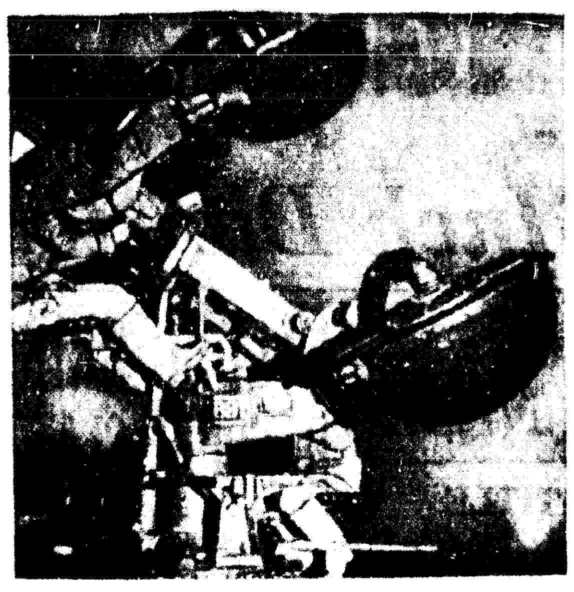
"Dr. William F. Guerriero and Dr. C. Prentiss Gray, Jr., have served the clinic as physicians since it was formed. Dr. Guerriero is now pursuing a course in advanced obstetrics in New Orleans, and Dr. R. M. Simonton is assisting Dr. Gray at the clinic.

"The nursing service is furnished by the Ouachita parish health department with a special maternity nurse as supervisor of the maternity work.

"From January, 1937, to December, 1939, the following statistics are provided:

"Patients admitted, 429; deliveries at home, 218; deliveries in hospitals, 72, visits paid clinics, 2,370; postportal examinations, 306; Wasserman's (positive) 76; treatments received (Wasserman's) 75. A total of 139 patients were discharged to private physicians, delivered by midwives, moved out of town, or were not pregnant."

HOW PARIS SPOTS, TRAILS AND TRAPS AIR RAIDERS



France's eastern border is ringed with listening posts equipped with huge mechanical "ears."

Group command gets word, "Enemy crosses border."

Course of plane is calculated and plotted on concentric circles of map representing sky.

Group command officers follow approach of enemy plane on "listening corrector," notify batteries.

The bomber spotted, anti-aircraft battery officers set their guns by huge range finder.

Muzzle thrusting skyward, the big "Archie" is ready to fire.

German raiders bent on bombing Paris will have to elude the sharp ears and pointing fingers of a multitude of modern scientific "sentinels" that protect the French capital. How these operate are shown in the exclusive photos above.

With Paris as a center, concentric circles of defense lines ripple out, right up to the eastern frontier. Here are the listening posts, with their mechanical "ears." They detect planes crossing border, warning is phoned to group command posts further back. Group command's task is to locate the planes and calculate where they will appear over the city itself. Following the flight of the plane with a "listening corrector," mathematical calculations enable officers to plot its course on concentric circles of chart representing the sky. Battery groups and pursuit squadrons nearest the danger spot are notified.

Having, with searchlights and other means, spotted the enemy, anti-aircraft artillery officers use huge range-finders to set their guns. Then they blast away, trapping the enemy plane in a cross-fire from strategically located batteries.

TOWN HALL IS GIVEN APPROVAL

Chamber Of Commerce President Praises Talent Presented In City

Town Hall as a worthwhile community institution has been given complete endorsement by the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe through C. C. Boardman, president.

In commenting on Town Hall, President Boardman released the following statement.

"It is my considered judgment that Town Hall is one of the most worthwhile institutions in the Twin Cities. It brings to our citizenship worthwhile discussions of social, economic and political problems from nationally recognized authorities in these various fields. Town Hall further presents discussions by recognized individuals of current events.

"Mental refreshing and stimulation is an outstanding need of the average individual. We become acquainted, from an abstract approach, with facts and philosophies through reading material of various kinds from various sources. Town Hall, through the individual speakers who appear on its programs, projects our thinking beyond this abstract scope and vitalizes it through the avenue of a personal touch and contact with the Town Hall speakers.

"Town Hall presents seven outstanding speakers for the very nominal membership fee of $5.00 which is an outstanding bargain in educational values. It is a genuine pleasure to unreservedly endorse Town Hall as a worthwhile community institution, with the recommendation that our progressive citizens, particularly those who are members of our Chamber of Commerce, support Town Hall by subscribing for as many memberships as will meet the needs of themselves and their families."

YOUTHFUL ACCUSED BURGLAR ARRESTED

E. J. Courson, 18, of Collinston, charged with breaking and entering in the daytime, was arrested here yesterday by members of the sheriff's department.

Courson is accused of entering the home of Victor Cesas, near Swartz, last February 5 and taking a shotgun. Sheriff's deputies said the shotgun had been recovered.

PALM SUNDAY WILL BE OBSERVED AT CHURCH

Palm services today at St. James Methodist church, negro, at Adams and Congo streets, Rev. G. C. Hayward, pastor, will consist of a sermon at 11 a.m., preached by Dr. W. Scott Chinn, superintendent of the Shreveport-Monroe district. His subject will be "Make Christ the Welcome Guest." At 2:30 p.m. an interdenominational youth's meeting with Elbert Collins, presiding, will discuss the subject, "Youth Accepts the Challenge to Help Christ Build a Better World." A number of local Christian workers will speak. At 7:30 p.m. Dr. Chinn will preach "The Eagle Stirreth Her Nest" with special singing by the choir.

The Lenten services will continue up to Easter with preaching every night by Dr. Chinn, who is conducting the revival.

Monday night's subject will be "The Prodigal Son," with tableaux. Wednesday night will be for men only, and Thursday afternoon at 6 p.m. will be devoted to women only, followed by the administering of the Lord's Supper at 9 p.m. and a special service on Good Friday when eight ministers starting at 10:30 a.m. will speak upon the eight sayings upon the cross, closing with the sermon upon the death and burial of Christ by Dr. Chinn.

Reserved seats will be provided and a general invitation is extended to all to worship during these Lenten services.

WHITE SOX WILL BEGIN TRAINING MARCH 25

SEVERAL SQUAD MEMBERS START WORK THIS WEEK

Seven Exhibition Games Are Slated; Pruitt, Soltis Won't Report

With a squad of 28 players, old and new, under contract the Monroe White Sox will go into training here March 25 for their 1940 campaign in the Cotton States league, it was announced last night.

Although March 25 is the official date on which all prospects must report, several are expected to begin training on their own this week. Tom Perry and Kelton Maxfield, southpaw hurlers, have already arrived here and will begin going through drills at Casino park before the others come in. Maxfield and Perry can expect to have company before the week is over, however, as others arriving early will be out to join them.

Seven exhibition games already have been slated, the first to come within five days after Manager Doug "Poco" Taitt begins putting his charges through the training grind.

On March 30, less than two weeks, the Sox go to Alexandria for an engagement with the Reds of the Evangeline league, and the Alexandria club will come here the following day for a return game. The Shreveport Sports will be here for two games, April 3 and 4. The Jackson, Miss., club of the Southeastern loop will come to Monroe for a game on April 9, and Greenville's Buckshots, rival club in the Cotton States circuit, will invade Casino park for two games April 13 and 14.

Monroe baseball fans may see the pitching staff and outfield shaping up with something like the one the Sox had to close the season with last year, but new faces will predominate in the infield.

The roster, as announced by Manager Taitt, includes only Frank Hackney, second baseman, from the 1939 infield.

Some names familiar to sports followers of this area will be seeking to fill the gaps at first and third base and at shortstop.

Fluitt Hundley, second baseman for L. S. U. last spring and a Monroe boy, is expected to work for the shortstop berth.

The Chatham ace of the Big Six league, Kirby Jones, is planning to try for Murrell Jones' old place at first base, and a Jones boy at the initial corner should please local fans. Kirby Jones was a pitcher, first baseman and outfielder for Chatham and his batting average for 1938, the same year Murrell Jones was hitting .357 for Clarks of the same semipro circuit, was a plump .514 for 19 games.

Quinton Fortenberry, Lake Providence boxing star, will also seek a tryout for an infield spot.

Other infielders listed are Verner Riha, Howard Taylor, John LaBue and Herman Goodnight.

Guy "Red" Pruitt, third baseman here the past two seasons, will not be here, having been put on the Sox's voluntarily retired list at Pruitt's request, Club President Max Moses said. Pruitt has a year-round job in New Jersey, it was reported, and plans to quit baseball entirely. Should he return to diamond warfare, he will come back to the Monroe fold, it was stated.

NATION'S CRACK CAGERS TO PLAY IN DENVER MEET

Nuggets Will Defend National A. A. U. Title Against 48 Teams

DENVER, March 16.—(AP)—Heavy shooting, basketball variety, will resound in this mile-high mountain city for the next seven days with a Denver team holding the fort against attacks from all directions.

Denver's Nuggets, veterans wise in the ways of high-speed basketball, will defend their National A. A. U. championship against a field of 48 competitors from all over the union.

The week-long one-miss-and-you're-out tournament will start at 10 a.m., Mountain Standard Time, tomorrow. Eleven games will be run off daily from morning until midnight for three days to slice the starting list to the top 16 teams for Wednesday's third round.

The two survivors will clash for the championship on Saturday night, Easter Eve. The Nuggets outpointed the Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips 66 club in the 1939 finals, 25 to 22, and both are well liked as finalists again this year by most critics.

This year's tournament is a coast-to-coast, border-to-border hookup, with teams from New York and California, Minnesota and New Mexico, Washington and Louisiana.

The Rocky Mountain section and the broad midwest have nominated 14 hopefuls apiece. The eastern sector and the west coast have seven color-bearers each, the southwest five and the south two.

Eight teams are seeded—The Nuggets; Phillips; Eugene, Ore.; Rubensteins; Oakland, Calif., Golden States; St. Louis, Rangers; Hollywood Twentieth Century; San Francisco Olympic club and the Oklahoma City 89ers.

All have drawn first round byes, along with Montana University; Penn Athletic club; New York Ohrbachs; Amsterdam, N. Y., Textiles; Kearny, N. J., Condons; Shreveport, La., Morris and Dickson, and the Seattle Savidges.

The Nuggets, Phillips, St. Louis Rangers and Oklahoma City 89ers are from the Missouri Valley A. A. U. League, which has produced the national champion for the last 14 years.

Nine college teams are in the field, including Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers of Weatherford, entered for the 20th consecutive year. The Eugene Rubensteins have several of the Oregon University stars who won the National Athletic Association title last season.

The No. 1 veteran of the big cage show is dark visaged Melvin Miller, Oakland Golden States forward, who has checked in for his 14th tournament.

FINAL MATCH IN BEST BALL MEET SCHEDULED TODAY

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The highly-regarded team of Horton Smith and National Amateur Champion Marvin "Bud" Ward will meet the dark horse combination of Henry Poe and Harold Mandly tomorrow in the 36-hole final match of the national $3,000 amateur-professional best ball golf tournament.

The deadly putting of Smith, Oak Park, Ill., pro, was a major factor in his and the Spokane, Wash., star's one up victory today over the youthful team of Clyde Usina, Jr., West Palm Beach, Fla., pro, and Walter Burkemo, Evanston, Ill., amateur, in a 36-hole semifinals battle.

Poe, Reading, Pa., professional, and Handley, Westhersfield, Conn., amateur, advanced with a one up decision over another unheralded team, Herman Keiser, Springfield, Mo., and Dick Doeschler, Jacksonville, Fla., schoolboy.

After 33 holes the Smith-Ward, Usina-Burkemo match stood all even. Then came the deciding break on the short 34th green. Ward, who had been of little help to his professional partner, especially during the morning round, poked his tee shot stiff to the pin and got down a short putt for a birdie two and a win. Once in front the Smith-Ward machine left no openings and the last two holes were halved.

The other semifinal match was also a dogfight all the way. One down after playing 30 holes, Poe holed a 50-footer to square the match on the 31st green. Then Mandly sank a 20-foot putt on the 34th to put his side in front. The final two holes were halved.

FIRES CHARGES OF 'CARPET-BAGGING' AT DIXIE SCHOOLS

COLUMBIA, Ohio, March 16.—(AP)—H. G. Olsen, Ohio State University basketball coach, fired charges of athletic "carpet-bagging" against several southern colleges tonight following alleged attempts to recruit athletes at the 18th Annual Ohio High school basketball tournament.

Olsen asserted coaches of certain southern institutions, here for the tournament, "are not welcome."

At least one southern mentor was ejected from the vicinity of one of the better team's dressing room, Olsen said.

Olsen's statement:

"The tactics of the carpet-baggers have always had a bad odor about them. That was true in the south after the Civil war and it is just as true today in the athletic world.

"Ohio is suffering an invasion of athletic carpet-bagger-representatives of certain southern educational institutions, who seem to have two outstanding qualifications, first a full money bag, and second no scruples about undermining the natural and normal loyalty of Ohio boys to the colleges of Ohio."

FENSKE SETS NEW INDOOR TRACK MARK

CHICAGO, March 16.—(AP)—Charles (Chuck) Fenske, bespectacled Wisconsin star, set a new world's indoor record for the three-quarters mile paced run at the 12th annual Armour Tech relays tonight, stepping the distance in 2:59.7 on the Chicago field house dirt track.

His performance bettered the 3:01.2 time turned in Thursday night by John Borican at Dartmouth.

Fenske, whose performances on eastern tracks this winter earned him recognition as "the miler of the year," was paced by Jerome Baumer and Howard Schoenicke of the University of Wisconsin.

Fenske was clocked in 29 seconds for the 220, 58.7 for the quarter, 1:30 for 660 yards, 2 minutes flat for the half mile, and 2:30 at the five-eighths point. He had a brilliant "kick" at the finish which drew a roar from the 2,500 spectators.

The listed world's mark for the three-quarters is 3:03.4, set by Lloyd Hahn of Nebraska in 1925. But Borican Thursday night turned in his 3:01.2 for an official mark which Fenske clipped one and five-tenths seconds.

COOKE WINS BERMUDA MEN'S SINGLES TITLE

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 16.—(AP)—Elwood T. Cooke of Portland, Ore., the tournament's second-seeded player, today won the Bermuda men's single tennis championship with a decisive 6-1, 7-5, 6-3 victory over Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass., defeated second-seeded Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-4, to win the women's singles title according to form. The two singles victor then teamed up to win the mixed doubles crown by defeating Miss Betz and Henry Prusoff of Seattle, 6-1, 6-2, in a match which produced eight consecutive deuced games in the second set.

INDIAN SPRINTER LAYS CLAIM TO DASH RECORD

LONG BEACH, Calif., March 16.—(AP)—Clyde Jeffrey of Stanford university claimed a world record equalling performance today by winning the 100-yard dash in 9.4 seconds in the Long Beach relays.

Jeffrey broke the tape four yards in front of Mickey Anderson of Southern California, with Jim Ruffin, unattached, third. Meet officials said gauges recorded wind pressure of less than the required two miles per hour. Jesse Owens and Frank Wykoff are co-owners of the world record.

Southern Club Event Continues Today With 15-Inch Class Running

Rabbits in Strozier's peach orchard and adjoining woods on the Farmerville road had a hectic day yesterday and will be in for more disturbances today as the Southern Beagle club's sanction field trial goes into its concluding day of activity.

Beaglers from throughout this section of the country entered dogs in the meet which got under way yesterday.

Forty-three 13-inch classers were entered in yesterday's events with winners being named in the 13-inch, all-age males division. Only the first series, with the exception of four entries, was completed in the 13-inch, all-age females division yesterday, but the races in that division will be completed today along with the 15-inch, all-age classes.

Pocahontas Cicero, 13-inch male, owned by Dr. Robbin Harris, Jackson, Miss., was adjudged winner in his division. Stone's Smokey, owned by H. L. Stone, Grandberry, Tex., placed second; Jigsaw Puzzle, also owned by Dr. Harris, ran third; Yeargan's Bill, owned by E. D. Yeargan, Dallas, Tex., was fourth; and Lawson's Potomac Pepper, a ten-year-old hound, owned by W. E. Lawson, Monroe, got the reserve place.

Twenty-one dogs ran in the 13-inch, all-age males division.

Twenty-two 13-inch, all-age females were entered but only 18 were run yesterday. Four others are to be run this morning.

Several 15-inch class hounds were entered yesterday and more may be on hand this morning for the runnings in the two divisions of that class. However, the 15-inch class entry will not be as heavy as that in the more popular 13-inch classes, it was indicated.

Pete Childress of Wisner judged the races efficiently and his work was complimented by the beagle owners and handlers. C. H. Hemil, New Orleans, assisted Childress.

BULLDOGS DEFEAT WISNER MITTMEN

FERRIDAY, La., March 16.—(Special—The Ferriday Bulldogs won their first home boxing meet of the season by trimming the Wisner Bulldogs, 8 1-2 to 5 1-2, on a card featured by two knockouts.

L. V. Alford, 126, Ferriday, knocked out H. Ferrington in the first round, and Jess Gilbert, 170, of Wisner, stopped Wilton Bennett midway of the second round.

Other results were as follows with the visitors named first:

60 pounds, Scott decisioned J. Hickingbottom; 66 pounds, Whittington outpointed Y. Brister; 79 pounds, Drongoole and Bass drew; 76 pounds, Ryals technically knocked out Green; 81 pounds, Allbritton lost to Cowan; 83 pounds, Campbell was technically knocked out by Boyd; 88 pounds, McDonall was decisioned by Hurry; 90 pounds, Furr beat Poole; 112 pounds, H. Allbritton lost to A. Alford; 118 pounds, Newman was technically knocked out by Bolton; 140 pounds, Tisdale lost to Fedric; and Laiche lost to Wilson.

Ferriday meets the Sicily Island mittmen here Tuesday.

ZEKE GETS CHANCE TO SELL HIMSELF

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—If there is a major league club wanting big Zeke Bonura for a first baseman, it can go direct to Zeke now to talk terms.

After an unsuccessful salary discussion today with President Horace Stoneham and Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants, Bonura announced he had been given permission to make a deal for himself. He said he intended to see Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, whose club played the Giants in an exhibition game today.

As for his holdout status, Zeke complained:

"I probably could get an agreement if I could talk to Mr. Stoneham alone. But Terry is always there, too, and he doesn't seem to want me.

"They offered me $10,000, a cut of $5,000. Can you imagine that? I'd rather go back to New Orleans and work for ten dollars a day than take a cut—just to show them I mean business. I'd like to call his bluff and let them get along with a rookie at first base."

SAYS MINOR LEAGUES TO MEET IN ATLANTA

ATLANTA, March 16.—(AP)—The Atlanta Journal said today Atlanta was to be the site of the thirty-ninth annual minor league baseball meeting Dec. 4-6.

George M. Trautman, vice president and committee chairman, and Earl Mann, president of the Atlanta Crackers and also member of the executive committee met here yesterday to consider invitations. They held the proxies of the other two committee members, Dr. E. M. Wilder, president of the South Atlantic League, and Judge William G. Bramham, president of the minor leagues.

Other cities bidding for the meeting were Toledo, St. Paul, Baltimore, Fort Worth, Jacksonville, Indianapolis, San Antonio, Minneapolis and Sioux City.

Wrestling Title Bout On Tap Tuesday Night

Kallio To Defend Championship Against Mobley At Fairgrounds

Monroe mat fans will get their first glimpse of championship wrestling in four months Tuesday night when Gus Kallio, junior light-heavy wrestling champion of the United States, defends his crown in a title bout with Rex Mobley. Carlos Ramos, Mexican recognized as the junior light-heavy champ of the world, last showed fans how a champion wrestles on November 16 of last year, dropping Otto Ludwig in a match at the local arena.

The Twin City Bus company will provide transportation to the championship wrestling match at the Ouachita Valley fairgrounds Tuesday night, Promoter Gus Kallio said last night.

Buses will leave from the corner of DeSiard and South Grand streets at 7 and 7:30 p.m., go north on Walnut street, cross the new traffic bridge and proceed to the fairgrounds. Passengers will be picked up at any point along the route. The buses also will run following the matches, Kallio said. Fare will be 10 cents each way.

Kallio will oppose Mobley, winner of the elimination contest in the local arena to determine a contender for the title, in the feature bout of a card that includes a match between Jack Curtis and Irish McGee. The bouts will be staged in the exhibit building at the Ouachita Valley fairgrounds. Both bouts will be for the best two out of three falls with a one-hour time limit. A decision will be rendered in both bouts if there is no deciding fall.

Kallio, who has wrestled only twice in the last year in a regular bout, nevertheless has kept in top condition through daily workouts and a strict training schedule and has shown in his two showings that he has lost none of the skill and little of the speed and endurance that once carried him to the top of the middleweight wrestling heap. The local promoter wrestled Cyclone Mackey here last June 8 and, although Kallio dropped a two-out-three decision to the Texan, Mackey, who was in top shape and wrestling several times weekly at the time, appeared as tired as Kallio at the finish.

Kallio's other match was held here February 27 against Allen Parker and the latter went down in two straight falls. The Mackey bout lasted 35 minutes and the match with Parker went a total wrestling time of 29 minutes and Kallio proved he still has the endurance necessary for championship wrestling by forcing the pace throughout both battles.

However, the champion is expected to be forced the limit against Mobley, lanky Texas City, Tex., grappler who has a record of five wins, one draw and a lone loss in competition in the local arena. Mobley has taken the measure of Ken Ackles, Charlie Keene, Curtis, and Bob Castle twice and has lost his only match to Cyclone Burns. The draw was in a previous meeting with Curtis.

Burns, the only grappler who has defeated Mobley in local competition, was forced to withdraw from the elimination tourney when weakened by an attack of "flu."

The other match on the Tuesday night card—Curtis against McGee—should go to Curtis on the basis of records in the local ring.

The program will get under way at 8:15 o'clock. Admission will be 65 cents for ringside seats, 40 cents general admission and 25 cents for students. Tickets are on sale at Frenchie's cafe and the Green Mill inn, both in Monroe.

TIDE MARKSMEN WIN

STARKVILLE, Miss., March 16.—(AP)—Alabama's rifle team, led by Captain Sam Burkhalter, captured the sectional meet of the National Rifle association here today with a 1,349 out of a possible 1,500. Burkhalter, all-American marksman, topped all scorers with 285 out of 300 targets. Georgia Tech was second with 1,324; Mississippi State third, 1,320; Louisiana State university fourth, 1,317; and Florida, defending champion, fifth, 1,288.

SOUTHERN CLUBS WORK OUT KINKS

Reds Send Conway To Birmingham With Seven Other Players

ATLANTA, March 16.—(AP)—The Chattanooga Lookouts came up today with two "holdouts." Pitcher Lena Stiles was one and, of all people, Lookout President Joe Engel was the other.

Genial Joe announced:

"He says he won't report. He's a holdout, is he? Well, so am I. He will report to me or no one, for I'm not going to trade him."

All other Chattanooga candidates are expected to join the pitchers, catchers and a few others already in camp at Deland, Fla.

Two Southern association clubs received word of help from major league teams.

The Birmingham Barons, holding two daily drills beginning today at Sumter, S. C., heard that eight players were coming from the Cincinnati Reds. Pitchers John Thomas Deets, Lawrence Bobeck, John Liske and Harold Erickson, and infielders Charlie Aleno, Joe Bestudik, John Conway and Cyril Moran are due to join the Barons Monday.

Vic Bradford, former University of Alabama star who batted .334 for Clinton, Iowa, in the Three-Eye league last year, was ordered by the New York Giants to report to the Knoxville Smokies at Valdosta, Ga. Manager Neil Caldwell was cheered by the good condition of the Vols, particularly Infielders Dutch Meyer and Jim McLeod.

Manager Hal Anderson headed for Florida to seek more talent for his New Orleans Pels. Anderson hopes to get help from the St. Louis Cardinals and two of their farms, Rochester and Columbus.

Outfielder Bill Kats checked into the Little Rock camp as warm weather permitted the Travelers to get in more strenuous activity. With Boots Poffenberger in camp and determined to prove he can "pitch and win," the Nashville Vol roster lacks only two outfielders and five infielders of reaching full strength at the Sanford, Fla., camp.

Les Gabrielson, purchased from Hollywood, has not reported to the Memphis Chicks at Wauchula, Fla. He was considered the Chicks' answer to their first base problem. Manager Truck Hannah sought a good-fielding mound staff by chasing his pitchers off the mound after bunts and other infield knocks.

BULLDOG GRID BANQUET SLATED

60 Guests Expected To Attend Fete At Ruston School Wednesday

RUSTON, La., March 16.—(Special)—About 60 guests will be invited to attend a football luncheon in the new dining hall at Louisiana Tech next Wednesday at noon, the dinner to be the preliminary of an occasion to mark the close of spring practice.

At 2:30 o'clock that afternoon, the varsity gridiron candidates will be divided into two squads for a regulation game, which will be the last of football here until drills start next September.

Athletic Director Joe Aillet, who is arranging details of the banquet, said the invited guests would include Mayor Sam Caldwell of Shreveport, president of the Tech alumni association, the presidents of parish units of the alumni organization, some newspaper representatives and heads of departments at Tech. The guests also will include Mayor Charles C. Goyne of Ruston. A. W. Ford, chairman of the faculty committee on athletics, will be toastmaster at the luncheon, Coach Aillet announced.

Besides the luncheon guests, the Tech students, townspeople and other sport fans are invited to attend the football game Wednesday afternoon, the coach said.

The football lettermen this week elected their leaders for next fall. Pirkle Vise, a halfback of Homer, was chosen as captain and Paul Bonin, a guard of Vinton, was named alternate captain. Both will be seniors next fall.

The "T" club also has elected officers. Ora (Ding) Merriott, football and basketball player, was chosen as president of the lettermen's club; Paul Bonin, vice-president, and George Rooney, basketball player, secretary-treasurer.

MICHIGAN WINS 7TH TITLE IN BUTLER RELAYS

Brilliant Anchor Leg In Mile Event Gives Wolverines Victory

INDIANAPOLIS, March 16.—(AP)—Warren Breidenbach, Michigan's great quarter-miler, stole the show tonight with a brilliant anchor leg run in the university mile relay to give the Wolverines their seventh straight Butler University indoor relays team championship.

The Wolverine team total was 37 1-2 points. Indiana University was runner-up in the team competition with 34 3-20 points.

Briedenbach's great sprint in the final point-scoring event of the relays overshadowed Greg Rice's attempt to crack the world's indoor record for the mile and a half. Rice, former Notre Dame star, won the event but his time was 6:42, almost five seconds slower than the record. A brilliant 4:16.2 mile by Campbell Kane, a fast-stepping sophomore, enabled Indiana's Hoosiers to break their own world indoor record for the medley relay.

Indiana's time was 10:10.3, as compared with the old record 10:14, set in 1938.

Indiana and Michigan battled on even terms throughout the race, but Kane beat out Ralph Schwarzkope of Michigan in the last 25 yards of the anchor leg.

POSTMAN HOME WINS

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C., March 16.—(AP)—Postman Home, 10-year-old chestnut gelding entered by Mrs. Eva Spillman of The Plains, Va., with J. Harrison up, won the Sandhills challenge cup race, three miles over timber, at the Barber estate course this afternoon. The time was 7:8. Gil Blas, owned by Carleton S. Palmer of Southern Pines and New York, with L. Murdock up, was second.

WHITE SOX WILL BEGIN TRAINING MARCH 25

Seven Exhibition Games Are Slated; Pruitt, Soltis Won't Report

With a squad of 28 players, old and new, under contract, the Monroe White Sox will go into training here March 25 for their 1940 campaign in the Cotton States league, it was announced last night.

Although March 25 is the official date on which all prospects must report, several are expected to begin training on their own this week. Tom Perry and Kelton Maxfield, southpaw hurlers, have already arrived here and will begin going through drills at Casino park before the others come in. Maxfield and Perry can expect to have company before the week is over, however, as others arriving early will be out to join them.

Seven exhibition games already have been slated, the first to come within five days after Manager Doug "Poco" Taitt begins putting his charges through the training grind.

On March 30, less than two weeks, the Sox go to Alexandria for an engagement with the Reds of the Evangeline league, and the Alexandria club will come here the following day for a return game. The Shreveport Sports will be here for two games, April 3 and 4. The Jackson, Miss., club of the Southeastern loop will come to Monroe for a game on April 9, and Greenville's Buckshots, rival club in the Cotton States circuit, will invade Casino park for two games April 13 and 14.

Monroe baseball fans may see the pitching staff and outfield shaping up with something like the one the Sox had to close the season with last year, but new faces will predominate in the infield.

The roster, as announced by Manager Taitt, includes only Frank Hackney, second baseman, from the 1939 infield.

Some names familiar to sports followers of this area will be seeking to fill the gaps at first and third base and at shortstop.

Fluitt Hundley, second baseman for L. S. U. last spring and a Monroe boy, is expected to work for the shortstop berth.

The Chatham ace of the Big Six league, Kirby Jones, is planning to try for Murrell Jones' old place at first base, and a Jones boy at the initial corner should please local fans. Kirby Jones was a pitcher, first baseman and outfielder for Chatham and his batting average for 1938, the same year Murrell Jones was hitting .357 for Clarks of the same semipro circuit, was a plump .514 for 19 games.

Quinton Fortenberry, Lake Providence boxing star, will also seek a tryout for an infield spot.

Other infielders listed are Verner Riha, Howard Taylor, John LaBue and Herman Goodnight.

Guy "Red" Pruitt, third baseman here the past two seasons, will not be here, having been put on the Sox's voluntarily retired list at Pruitt's request, Club President Max Moses said. Pruitt has a year-round job in New Jersey, it was reported, and plans to quit baseball entirely. Should he return to diamond warfare, he will come back to the Monroe fold, it was stated

NATION'S CRACK CAGERS TO PLAY IN DENVER MEET

Nuggets Will Defend National A. A. U. Title Against 48 Teams

DENVER, March 16.—(AP)—Heavy shooting, basketball variety, will resound in this mile-high mountain city for the next seven days with a Denver team holding the fort against attacks from all directions.

Denver's Nuggets, veterans wise in the ways of high-speed basketball, will defend their National A. A. U. championship against a field of 48 competitors from all over the union.

The week-long one-miss-and-you're-out tournament will start at 10 a.m., Mountain Standard Time, tomorrow. Eleven games will be run off daily from morning until midnight for three days to slice the starting list to the top 16 teams for Wednesday's third round.

The two survivors will clash for the championship on Saturday night, Easter Eve. The Nuggets outpointed the Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips 66 club in the 1939 finals, 25 to 22, and both are well liked as finalists again this year by most critics.

This year's tournament is a coast-to-coast, border-to-border hookup, with teams from New York and California, Minnesota and New Mexico, Washington and Louisiana.

The Rocky Mountain section and the broad midwest have nominated 14 hopefuls apiece. The eastern sector and the west coast have seven color-bearers each, the southwest five and the south two.

Eight teams are seeded—The Nuggets; Phillips; Eugene, Ore.: Rubensteins; Oakland, Calif., Golden States; St. Louis, Rangers; Hollywood Twentieth Century; San Francisco Olympic club and the Oklahoma City 89ers.

All have drawn first round byes, along with Montana University; Penn Athletic club; New York Ohrbachs; Amsterdam, N. Y., Textiles; Kearny, N. J., Condons; Shreveport, La., Morris and Dickson, and the Seattle Savidges.

The Nuggets, Phillips, St. Louis Rangers and Oklahoma City 89ers are from the Missouri Valley A. A. U. League, which has produced the national champion for the last 14 years.

Nine college teams are in the field, including Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers of Weatherford, entered for the 20th consecutive year. The Eugene Rubensteins have several of the Oregon University stars who won the National Athletic Association title last season.

The No. 1 veteran of the big cage show is dark visaged Melvin Miller, Oakland Golden States forward, who has checked in for his 14th tournament.

FINAL MATCH IN BEST BALL MEET SCHEDULED TODAY

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The highly-regarded team of Horton Smith and National Amateur Champion Marvin "Bud" Ward will meet the dark horse combination of Henry Poe and Harold Mandly tomorrow in the 36-hole final match of the national $3,000 amateur-professional best ball golf tournament.

The deadly putting of Smith, Oak Park, Ill., pro, was a major factor in his and the Spokane, Wash., star's one up victory today over the youthful team of Clyde Usina, Jr., West Palm Beach, Fla., pro, and Walter Burkemo, Evanston, Ill., amateur, in a 36-hole semifinals battle.

Poe, Reading, Pa., professional, and Handley, Westhersfield, Conn., amateur, advanced with a one up decision over another unheralded team, Herman Keiser, Springfield, Mo., and Dick Doeschler, Jacksonville, Fla., schoolboy.

After 33 holes the Smith-Ward, Usina-Burkemo match stood all even. Then came the deciding break on the short 34th green. Ward, who had been of little help to his professional partner, especially during the morning round, poked his tee shot stiff to the pin and got down a short putt for a birdie two and a win. Once in front the Smith-Ward machine left no openings and the last two holes were halved.

The other semifinal match was also a dogfight all the way. One down after playing 30 holes, Poe holed a 50-footer to square the match on the 31st green. Then Mandly sank a 20-foot putt on the 34th to put his side in front. The final two holes were halved.

Twenty-two 13-inch, all-age females were entered but only 18 were run yesterday. Four others are to be run this morning.

Several 15-inch class hounds were entered yesterday and more may be on hand this morning for the runnings in the two divisions of that class. However, the 15-inch class entry will not be as heavy as that in the more popular 13-inch classes, it was indicated.

Pete Childress of Wisner judged the races efficiently and his work was complimented by the beagle owners and handlers. C. H. Hemil, New Orleans, assisted Childress.

BULLDOGS DEFEAT WISNER MITTMEN

FERRIDAY, La., March 16.—(Special)—The Ferriday Bulldogs won their first home boxing meet of the season by trimming the Wisner Bulldogs, 8 1-2 to 5 1-2, on a card featured by two knockouts.

L. V. Alford, 126, Ferriday, knocked out H. Ferrington in the first round, and Jess Gilbert, 170, of Wisner, stopped Wilton Bennett midway of the second round.

Other results were as follows with the visitors named first:

60 pounds, Scott decisioned J. Hickingbottom; 66 pounds, Whittington outpointed Y. Brister; 79 pounds, Drongoole and Bass drew; 76 pounds, Ryals technically knocked out Green; 81 pounds, Allbritton lost to Cowan; 83 pounds, Campbell was technically knocked out by Boyd; 88 pounds, McDonall was decisioned by Hurry; 90 pounds, Furr beat Poole; 112 pounds, H. Allbritton lost to A. Alford; 118 pounds, Newman was technically knocked out by Bolton; 140 pounds, Tisdale lost to Fedric; and Laiche lost to Wilson.

Ferriday meets the Sicily Island mittmen here Tuesday.

ZEKE GETS CHANCE TO SELL HIMSELF

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—If there is a major league club wanting big Zeke Bonura for a first baseman, it can go direct to Zeke now to talk terms.

After an unsuccessful salary discussion today with President Horace Stoneham and Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants, Bonura announced he had been given permission to make a deal for himself. He said he intended to see Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, whose club played the Giants in an exhibition game today.

As for his holdout status, Zeke complained:

"I probably could get an agreement if I could talk to Mr. Stoneham alone. But Terry is always there, too, and he doesn't seem to want me.

"They offered me $10,000, a cut of $5,000. Can you imagine that? I'd rather go back to New Orleans and work for ten dollars a day than take a cut—just to show them I mean business. I'd like to call his bluff and let them get along with a rookie at first base."

SAYS MINOR LEAGUES TO MEET IN ATLANTA

ATLANTA, March 16.—(AP)—The Atlanta Journal said today Atlanta was to be the site of the thirty-ninth annual minor league baseball meeting Dec. 4-6.

George M. Trautman, vice president and committee chairman, and Earl Mann, president of the Atlanta Crackers and also member of the executive committee met here yesterday to consider invitations. They held the proxies of the other two committee members, Dr. E. M. Wilder, president of the South Atlantic League, and Judge William G. Bramham, president of the minor leagues.

Other cities bidding for the meeting were Toledo, St. Paul, Baltimore, Fort Worth, Jacksonville, Indianapolis, San Antonio, Minneapolis and Sioux City.

Wrestling Title Bout On Tap Tuesday Night

Kallio To Defend Championship Against Mobley At Fairgrounds

Monroe mat fans will get their first glimpse of championship wrestling in four months Tuesday night when Gus Kallio, junior light-heavy wrestling champion of the United States, defends his crown in a title bout with Rex Mobley. Carlos Ramos, Mexican recognized as the junior light-heavy champ of the world, last showed fans how a champion wrestles on November 16 of last year, dropping Otto Ludwig in a match at the local arena.

Kallio will oppose Mobley, winner of the elimination contest in the local arena to determine a contender for the title, in the feature bout of a card that includes a match between Jack Curtis and Irish McGee. The bouts will be staged in the exhibit building at the Ouachita Valley fairgrounds. Both bouts will be for the best two out of three falls with a one-hour time limit. A decision will be rendered in both bouts if there is no deciding fall.

Kallio, who has wrestled only twice in the last year in a regular bout, nevertheless has kept in top condition through daily workouts and a strict training schedule and has shown in his two showings that he has lost none of the skill and little of the speed and endurance that once carried him to the top of the middleweight wrestling heap. The local promoter wrestled Cyclone Mackey here last June 8 and, although Kallio dropped a two-out-three decision to the Texan, Mackey, who was in top shape and wrestling several times weekly at the time, appeared as tired as Kallio at the finish.

Kallio's other match was held here February 27 against Allen Parker and the latter went down in two straight falls. The Mackey bout lasted 35 minutes and the match with Parker went a total wrestling time of 29 minutes and Kallio proved he still has the endurance necessary for championship wrestling by forcing the pace throughout both battles.

However, the champion is expected to be forced the limit against Mobley, lanky Texas City, Tex., grappler who has a record of five wins, one draw and a lone loss in competition in the local arena. Mobley has taken the measure of Ken Ackles, Charlie Keene, Curtis, and Bob Castle twice and has lost his only match to Cyclone Burns. The draw was in a previous meeting with Curtis.

Burns, the only grappler who has defeated Mobley in local competition, was forced to withdraw from the elimination tourney when weakened by an attack of "flu."

The other match on the Tuesday night card—Curtis against McGee—should go to Curtis on the basis of records in the local ring.

The program will get under way at 8:15 o'clock. Admission will be 65 cents for ringside seats, 40 cents general admission and 25 cents for students. Tickets are on sale at Frenchie's cafe and the Green Mill inn, both in Monroe.

The Twin City Bus company will provide transportation to the championship wrestling match at the Ouachita Valley fairgrounds Tuesday night, Promoter Gus Kallio said last night.

Buses will leave from the corner of DeSiard and South Grand streets at 7 and 7:30 p.m., go north on Walnut street, cross the new traffic bridge and proceed to the fairgrounds. Passengers will be picked up at any point along the route. The buses also will run following the matches, Kallio said. Fare will be 10 cents each way.

TIDE MARKSMEN WIN

STARKVILLE, Miss., March 16.—(AP)—Alabama's rifle team, led by Captain Sam Burkhalter, captured the sectional meet of the National Rifle association here today with a 1,349 out of a possible 1,500. Burkhalter, all-American marksman, topped all scorers with 285 out of 300 targets. Georgia Tech was second with 1,324; Mississippi State third, 1,320; Louisiana State university fourth, 1,317; and Florida, defending champion, fifth, 1,288.

SOUTHERN CLUBS WORK OUT KINKS

Reds Send Conway To Birmingham With Seven Other Players

ATLANTA, March 16.—(AP)—The Chattanooga Lookouts came up today with two "holdouts." Pitcher Lena Stiles was one and, of all people, Lookout President Joe Engel was the other.

Genial Joe announced:

"He says he won't report. He's a holdout, is he? Well, so am I. He will report to me or no one, for I'm not going to trade him."

All other Chattanooga candidates are expected to join the pitchers, catchers and a few others already in camp at Deland, Fla.

Two Southern association clubs received word of help from major league teams.

The Birmingham Barons, holding two daily drills beginning today at Sumter, S. C., heard that eight players were coming from the Cincinnati Reds. Pitchers John Thomas Deets, Lawrence Bobeck, John Liske and Harold Erickson, and infielders Charlie Aleno, Joe Bestudik, John Conway and Cyril Moran are due to join the Barons Monday.

Vic Bradford, former University of Alabama star who batted .334 for Clinton, Iowa, in the Three-Eye league last year, was ordered by the New York Giants to report to the Knoxville Smokies at Valdosta, Ga. Manager Neil Caldwell was cheered by the good condition of the Vols, particularly Infielders Dutch Meyer and Jim McLeod.

Manager Hal Anderson headed for Florida to seek more talent for his New Orleans Pels. Anderson hopes to get help from the St. Louis Cardinals and two of their farms, Rochester and Columbus.

Outfielder Bill Kats checked into the Little Rock camp as warm weather permitted the Travelers to get in more strenuous activity. With Boots Poffenberger in camp and determined to prove he can "pitch and win," the Nashville Vol roster lacks only two outfielders and five infielders of reaching full strength at the Sanford, Fla., camp.

Les Gabrielson, purchased from Hollywood, has not reported to the Memphis Chicks at Wauchula, Fla. He was considered the Chicks' answer to their first base problem. Manager Truck Hannah sought a good-fielding mound staff by chasing his pitchers off the mound after bunts and other infield knocks.

BULLDOG GRID BANQUET SLATED

60 Guests Expected To Attend Fete At Ruston School Wednesday

RUSTON, La., March 16.—(Special)—About 60 guests will be invited to attend a football luncheon in the new dining hall at Louisiana Tech next Wednesday at noon, the dinner to be the preliminary of an occasion to mark the close of spring practice.

At 2:30 o'clock that afternoon, the varsity gridiron candidates will be divided into two squads for a regulation game, which will be the last of football here until drills start next September.

Athletic Director Joe Aillet, who is arranging details of the banquet, said the invited guests would include Mayor Sam Caldwell of Shreveport, president of the Tech alumni association, the presidents of parish units of the alumni organization, some newspaper representatives and heads of departments at Tech. The guests also will include Mayor Charles C. Goyne of Ruston. A. W. Ford, chairman of the faculty committee on athletics, will be toastmaster at the luncheon, Coach Aillet announced.

Besides the luncheon guests, the Tech students, townspeople and other sport fans are invited to attend the football game Wednesday afternoon, the coach said.

The football lettermen this week elected their leaders for next fall. Pirkle Vise, a halfback of Homer, was chosen as captain and Paul Bonin, a guard of Vinton, was named alternate captain. Both will be seniors next fall.

The "T" club also has elected officers. Ora (Ding) Merriott, football and basketball player, was chosen as president of the lettermen's club; Paul Bonin, vice-president, and George Rooney, basketball player, secretary-treasurer.

MICHIGAN WINS 7TH TITLE IN BUTLER RELAYS

Brilliant Anchor Leg In Mile Event Gives Wolverines Victory

INDIANAPOLIS, March 16.—(AP)—Warren Breidenbach, Michigan's great quarter-miler, stole the show tonight with a brilliant anchor leg run in the university mile relay to give the Wolverines their seventh straight Butler University indoor relays team championship.

The Wolverine team total was 37 1-2 points. Indiana University was runner-up in the team competition with 34 3-20 points.

Briedenbach's great sprint in the final point-scoring event of the relays overshadowed Greg Rice's attempt to crack the world's indoor record for the mile and a half. Rice, former Notre Dame star, won the event but his time was 6:42, almost five seconds slower than the record. A brilliant 4:16.2 mile by Campbell Kane, a fast-stepping sophomore, enabled Indiana's Hoosiers to break their own world indoor record for the medley relay.

Indiana's time was 10:10.3, as compared with the old record 10:14, set in 1938.

Indiana and Michigan battled on even terms throughout the race, but Kane beat out Ralph Schwarzkope of Michigan in the last 25 yards of the anchor leg.

POSTMAN HOME WINS

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C., March 16.—(AP)—Postman Home, 10-year-old chestnut gelding entered by Mrs. Eva Spillman of The Plains, Va., with J. Harrison up, won the Sandhills challenge cup race, three miles over timber, at the Barber estate course this afternoon. The time was 7:8. Gil Blas, owned by Carleton S. Palmer of Southern Pines and New York, with L. Murdock up, was second.

NEVILLE BOXERS EASILY WIN RING TOURNEY

TIGER MITTMEN TAKE 7 TITLES FOR 39 POINTS

Victors Make Clean Sweep Of Trophies; Farmerville Team Second

The Neville High school Tigers made a clean sweep of all trophies offered in the eighth annual district boxing tournament here last night and members of the Bengal team won seven of the ten individual championships.

Neville won the team trophy with a total of 39 points, and Farmerville was runnerup for the team crown with 18 points. Other team scores were Bossier City, 15; Clarks, 12; Grayson, 3; and Wisner, 1.

The lightweight division trophy, awarded for most points scored in the classes from 90 to 118 pounds, was won by the Bengals with 21 points. Bossier City scored 13 points. Clarks totalled 7, and Farmerville got four in that division.

The Farmerville aggregation pressed Neville closely for the heavyweight division award, for points scored in the weights from 126 to 165, but Neville nosed out the Farmers, 18 to 14. Clarks scored five points in the heavyweight division, Grayson scored three, Bossier City tallied two and Wisner got one point.

The individual champions:

90 pounds—Salvadore Danna, Neville.
98 pounds—Sylvian Wiggins, Neville.
105 pounds—Harold Cornett, Neville.
112 pounds—Don Walsdorf, Bossier City.
118 pounds—Guy Miller, Neville.
126 pounds—Buck Brantley, Neville.
135 pounds—Robert Gates, Neville.
145 pounds—W. M. Ferguson, Clarks.
155 pounds—Louis Ladart, Neville.
165 pounds—Junior Davis, Farmerville.

In one of the greatest battles on the card, W. M. Ferguson, Clarks, beat Ben Davis, Farmerville, in a rousing 145-pound final. Ferguson, who advanced to the finals with a first round knockout over Talmadge Stout, Neville, in the semifinals, was master of the situation almost throughout the entire battle, but Davis bored in stubbornly and made the fight an interesting one all the way.

Neville battlers won three championships by technical knockouts, and another won a crown without putting up a single fight.

Salvadore Danna scored the Bengals' first technical knockout when he stopped T. J. Franklin, Clarks, in the second round. Sylvian Wiggins came out like a whirlwind to polish off Roy Patton, Clarks, in the first round; and Buck Brantley, 126, won over Pete Traylor, Farmerville, in the first round after jarring the Farmer with stiff blows and cutting a gash over his right eye.

Robert Gates, Bengal 135-pounder, went to the finals Friday night on a forfeit from Wilbur Christman, Clarks,

L. S. U. Baseball And Tennis Teams Open Campaigns This Week

BATON ROUGE, La., March 16.—(AP)—Two Louisiana State university athletic teams start their seasons this week with prospects of bringing Southeastern conference championships to the Ole War Skule.

The baseball team, defending the championship won last year, opens its schedule Friday and Saturday with an intersectional series against Northwestern university.

Saturday the tennis team meets Vanderbilt in its first game, with visions of winning the first net title in L. S. U. history.

Coach Harry Rabenhorst, beginning his 15th season as baseball tutor, can start a veteran at every position except third base.

Ray Radovich, a junior, and Seniors Jesse Danna and Bryan Hammett form the nucleus of a brilliant pitching staff. Two football stars, Ken Kavanaugh and Charley Anastasio, furnish most of the dynamite. Anastasio was the team's leading hitter with .387 last season and Kavanaugh pounded .341 in the cleanup spot. Both are outfielders.

Three sophomores from the east form the backbone of the tennis team expected to be the best the Tigers have ever had. Billy Umstaedter of Milburn, N. J., national indoor junior singles champion, and Bernard Jacoby of New York are battling for the No. 1 Place. Walton Ayres, also of Milburn, is the third soph expected to play against the Commodores. L. C. Kirkland, Jr., of Columbia, Miss., is the only veteran from the team which finished third last year in the conference tournament at Sewanee, Tenn.

Meanwhile six members of the Tigers' conference champion boxing team, including five Southeastern titleholders, are preparing for shots at national intercollegiate titles in the tournament April 4-5-6 at Sacramento, Calif.

Headed by Al Michael and Heston Daniel, runners-up last year, the Tigers hold a 5-3 team victory over Wisconsin, 1939 national titlist. The Tigers finished second to Wisconsin last year.

Michael, Daniel, Snyder Parham, Rodney Belaire and Herbert "Peg" Kendrick are conference champs. Charley Polito is the sixth man entering the nationals.

SOLD TO JACKSON

THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 16.—(AP)—Pitcher Bill (Bump) Hudson has been sold conditionally to the Jackson, Miss., team in the Southeastern League after a brief tour with the Thomasville Georgia-Florida League club. Hudson was obtained for Thomasville through Baltimore, under a player agreement. He came here near the end of the 1939 season, won three and lost six games.

Exhibition Games

BOSOX BEAT REDS

SARASOTA, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox continued their conquests of Grapefruit circuit rivals today by smashing out a 10-3 decision over the Cincinnati Reds.

Emerson Dickman, Denny Galehouse and Dick Sayles held the National League champions well in hand and the Sox artillery pounded the offerings of Johnny Vander Meer and "Whitey" Moore vigorously throughout the game. Jimmie Foxx, Bobby Doerr and Doc Cramer got doubles.

Both teams suffered casualties, Ernie Lombardi of the Red's getting a split finger while Lou Finney was hit on the index finger by one of Vander Meer's slants.

Cincinnati (N)	010 000 101—	3	9	2
Boston (A)	200 204 02x—	10	10	0

PHILLIES WIN

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Phillies won their third straight exhibition game today scoring two runs in the eighth inning on four straight bases on balls and an infield out to beat Syracuse of the International League, 6 to 5.

Syracuse had taken the lead in the sixth by pounding Tom Pullig for five hits and four runs. However, Pitcher Bill Gates walked Bill Atwood, Jack Bolling, Del Young and Ed Levy in succession in the eighth to tie the score, then Bolling came home with the winning run on Joe Marty's infield out.

INDIANS VICTORS

SEBRING, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians turned in their third straight grapefruit league victory today, defeating the Newark Bears, ranking farm of the New York Yankees, 7 to 2.

After the first two men in the Bears' lineup delivered a single and a triple for a first-inning run, Indian hurlers Al Smith, Don Pulford and Al Milnar had no trouble with the International league club.

Rollie Hemsley of the Tribe, batting from his new left-handed stance, got two doubles, and Ben Chapman, Jeff Heath and Ken Keltner contributed one double each. Russ Peters collected a triple.

YANKS NIP CARDS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—Presenting their regular infield in its entirety for the first time this spring, the New York Yankees edged out the St. Louis Cardinals 4 to 3 today in an installment of their exhibition series.

The decision came in typical Yankee fashion in the eighth when, with two out, Red Rolfe and Tom Henrich singled and Charley Keller slammed a terrific drive that was misjudged by Harold Epps in centerfield and went for a home run.

Earlier Joe Gordon had homered.

SOX DEFEAT CUBS

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 16.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox today defeated the Chicago Cubs 9 to 4 to give the American leaguers their second victory in the first three games of their exhibition series with their city rival.

The Cubs got only six hits, two in the last inning. Clay Bryant took the mound for the Cubs, hoping to show that his ailing arm held promise, but he lasted only the first inning.

Score by innings:

GIANTS DROP NATS

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—Having beaten the world champion Yankees yesterday, the New York Giants continued their assault on American League opposition today with a 13 to 2 conquest of the Washington Senators.

While the Giants' pitchers were holding Bucky Harris' motley collection to nine scattered hits, the National Leaguers assembled no less than 20 safeties off four Washington hurlers and took advantage of five more or less sandlot errors.

TIGERS TRIP DODGERS

LAKELAND, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—Dick Bartell, who at one time and another in his National League career proved an awful nuisance to the Brooklyn Dodgers, beat them 3 to 2 in an exhibition game today for the Detroit Tigers.

In the eighth inning Bartell drove home Earl Averill with the winning run on a single off Steve Rachunok, a former Detroit pitcher freed by commissioner K. M. Landis.

It was the fourth consecutive loss against American League foes for the Dodgers.

BUCS BLAST PADRES

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 16.—(AP)—An eight-run splurge in the second inning, starting off with Captain Arky Vaughan's triple, aided the Pittsburgh Pirates in a 12-8 exhibition victory over the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League today.

Big Pat Tobin threw a scare into the Pirates by fanning six of them in the last three innings. He looked good at a time when Pittsburgh is dickering to put him on the payroll.

A'S BEAT STARS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 16.—(AP)—With Ed Heusser, Herman Besse and George Caster pitching five hit ball and Benny McCoy driving in two runs on a double, the Philadelphia Athletics shut out Hollywood, of the Pacific Coast league 3 to 0 today. It was the A's 10th win in 13 starts.

McCoy's two bagger came in the third inning. The A's last tally came in the fifth on Bill Lillard's triple and Wally Moses' single.

Philadelphia (A) ..	002 010 000—	3	7	0
Hollywood (PAC) .	000 000 000—	0	5	2

RED WINGS SLAP BEES

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Rochester Red Wings of the International league took a 5-4 game from the Boston Bees today, pushing across an unearned run in the eighth to break a 4-4 tie.

Despite the defeat, Manager Casey Stengel smiled at the work of Shortstop Eddie Miller, who went the full nine innings, handling five chances perfectly and smashing out a triple in a fourth inning uprising by the Bees. Lou Fette also looked good in a three-inning chore, limiting the Wings to two hits and holding them scoreless.

Rochester landed on Bill Posedel for three runs in the first and scored another in the third. Boston scored one in the first and tied it up in the fourth with three runs.

LIONS PILE UP 56 POINTS TO SHADE HORNETS

Sievers Is Outstanding Performer; Columbia Takes Third Place

The Ouachita Parish High school's track and field team won its first meet of the season here yesterday by taking a quadrangular affair from Rayville, Louisiana Training institute and Columbia at Brown field.

Coach Woodrow Turner's Lions won with 56 points but they were hard pressed by the Hornets of Rayville who came in second with 53 points.

Columbia and L. T. I. held a battle of their own for third place with the Columbia aggregation nosing out the Pelicans, 34 to 31.

Warren Sievers, Ouachita ace, was the outstanding performer of the meet, winning first places in the 70-yard high hurdles, pole vault, hop-step-jump, and running with the winning mile relay team. C. H. Young won two first places for the Lions, taking the 100-yard dash and 440-yard dash. Young was also on the winning mile relay team.

The Lions won eight first places. Rayville got four firsts, while Columbia got two firsts and L. T. I. one.

Next Friday night, however, the Lions can really expect keener competition when they go against some of the best teams in Louisiana and Mississippi in the second annual Ouachita Parish High School Relay carnival which will be held here.

The summary:

70-yard high hurdles—Sievers, Ouachita, first; Harrigill, Rayville, second; Brown, Ouachita, third. Winning time, 9.8 seconds.

Mile run—Waller, Rayville, first; Martin, L. T. I., second; Berry, Ouachita, third; Ostten, Columbia, fourth. Time, 5:36.

120-yard low hurdles—Pate, Ouachita, first; Velchoff, Rayville, second; Reitzell, Columbia, third; Jordan, L. T. I., fourth. Time, 15 seconds.

440-yard dash—Young, Ouachita, first; Morgan, Columbia, second; Deer, Rayville, third; and Rogers, Rayville, fourth. Time, 56 seconds.

220-yard dash—Brown, Ouachita, first; Strawn, L. T. I., second; Hemme, Rayville, third; Duke, Columbia, fourth. Time, 24.9 seconds.

880-yard dash—Dopson, Rayville, first; Damper, Rayville, second; Wood, L. T. I., third; Fisher, Columbia, fourth. Time, 2:17.8.

Mile relay—Ouachita (Sievers, Kimball, Moncrief and Young), first; Rayville (Deer, Nethlands, Hemme and Waller), second; Columbia (Reitzell, Ostten, Morgan and Fisher), third; L. T. I. (Langian, Benoit, Thomas and Phillips), fourth. Time, 3:46.4.

Pole vault—Sievers, Ouachita, first; Phillips, L. T. I., second; Bass, Rayville, third. Height, 9 feet, six inches.

Shot put—Hemme, Rayville, first; Wright, Ouachita, second; Morgan, Columbia, third; Benoit, L. T. I., fourth. Distance, 35 feet, three and three-quarter inches.

Broad jump—Strawn, L. T. I., first; Duke, Columbia, second; Ulmer, Rayville, third; Cook, Ouachita, fourth. Distance, 20 feet, four inches.

Hop-step and jump—Sievers, Ouachita, first; Strawn, L. T. I., second; Ulmer, Rayville, third; Slocum, Columbia, fourth. Distance, 39 feet, six inches.

High jump—Brown, Columbia, first; Bass, Rayville, second; Paul Cook, L. T. I., third; Pexy Cook, Ouachita, fourth. Height, five feet, seven inches.

Discus—Morgan, Columbia, first; Eason, Ouachita, second; Bass, Rayville, third; Jordan, L. T. I., fourth. Distance, 97 feet, seven and a half inches.

Javelin—Morley, Rayville, first; Slocum, Columbia, second; Thomas, L. T. I., third; Brown, Ouachita, fourth. Distance, 128 feet, seven and a half inches.

BAYOU BENGAL NINE DEFEATS PELS, 5-4

BATON ROUGE, La., March 16.—(AP)—The Louisiana State university baseball team, Southeastern conference champions, defeated the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern association today 5 to 4.

Three of the Tiger pitchers kept the Pels bottled up without issuing a walk for eight innings. When two were out in the ninth with two Pelicans on base, a sophomore outfielder dropped a fly ball and New Orleans rallied to tie the score at 4-4.

Joe Moock, who dropped the fly, scored the winning run for Louisiana State in the 10th inning after tripling to deep right.

Power Gives Junior Loop Edge In All-Star Battle

Yankee Bombers Form Major Threat To National League Nine

By Whitney Martin

TAMPA, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Finnish relief fund will be helped and baseball's pre-season publicists will be helped, but there was a general feeling tonight that what may happen to the National League in its all-star game with the American League tomorrow just can't be helped.

The expected 15,000 spectators who will contribute close to $20,000 to the fund will see an American League starting line-up which for sheer power probably has never been matched in an all-star game, with the power topped by a superb mound staff.

The two league squads of 25 men each were chosen through a poll of sports writers from the teams in Florida, thus eliminating participation by the Cubs and Pirates of the National League and Browns, White Sox and Athletics of the American League.

From a National League standpoint it was very unfortunate that the Yankees were not training in California, or better yet, Siberia. Joe McCarthy, Yankee manager who will pilot the American League team tomorrow, has named five of his siege guns as starters, with a possible Yankee pitcher making a sixth.

Adding to the National League's distress, the American League squad is extremely healthy, and only Red Ruffing, Dominic DiMaggio and Charley Gehringer are not in a position to take part in the game.

The Nationals, on the other hand, are afflicted with an epidemic of holdouts, injuries and ailments which have necessitated numerous changes. Only today Ernie Lombardi suffered a split finger which will keep him out of action.

However, the National league fans are taking the philosophical attitude that the game is purely an exhibition, at least from the loser's standpoint, and at this stage of the season, with pitchers throwing hope balls and batting eyes out of focus, it actually is even more so than the annual mid-season encounter.

There is enough rivalry between the two leagues, however, to make each player give his best, and a victory will give the winning league a talking point in future arguments, with the National league the loser bringing up the old defense that it wasn't the American league which won but the Yanks.

Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati manager, who is in charge of the National squad, said that each of the 25 men will get into the game, and just to be sure Morrie Arnovich, the "forgotten man" last year, is very much in evidence, he will lead the batting order. McCarthy also is expected to give every man his chance.

Both pilots have been cagey about their starting pitchers. It was believed tonight McKechnie would start one of his own boys, Bucky Walters or Paul Derringer, and that McCarthy might choose either Buck Newsom, Dutch Leonard or Lefty Gomez. He said Bob Feller would not start.

Considering the power of the American league batting order it appeared tonight that it was strictly up to the National league pitchers to make it a contest, and there is enough class there to do it. Walters, Derringer, Clyde Shoun, Harry Gumbert, Luke Hamlin, Kirby Higbe and Morton Cooper all have what it takes when they are right.

The crowd, with favorable weather, is expected to be one of the largest to see a game in the south. It was announced tonight that the 7,000 reserved seats were sold, and that well over $10,000 already was in the till.

The game is scheduled to start at 1:15 p.m. (eastern standard time). It will be broadcast over the mutual network.

Victors Make Clean Sweep Of Trophies; Farmerville Team Second

The Neville High school Tigers made a clean sweep of all trophies offered in the eighth annual district boxing tournament here last night and members of the Bengal team won seven of the ten individual championships.

Neville won the team trophy with a total of 39 points, and Farmerville was runnerup for the team crown with 18 points. Other team scores were Bossier City, 15; Clarks, 12; Grayson, 3; and Wisner, 1.

The lightweight division trophy, awarded for most points scored in the classes from 90 to 118 pounds, was won by the Bengals with 21 points. Bossier City scored 13 points, Clarks totalled 7, and Farmerville got four in that division.

The Farmerville aggregation pressed Neville closely for the heavyweight division award, for points scored in the weights from 126 to 165, but Neville nosed out the Farmers, 18 to 14. Clarks scored five points in the heavyweight division, Grayson scored three, Bossier City tallied two and Wisner got one point.

The individual champions:

90 pounds—Salvadore Danna, Neville.

98 pounds—Sylvian Wiggins, Neville.

105 pounds—Harold Cornett, Neville.

112 pounds—Don Walsdorf, Bossier City.

118 pounds—Guy Miller, Neville.

126 pounds—Buck Brantley, Neville.

135 pounds—Robert Gates, Neville.

145 pounds—W. M. Ferguson, Clarks.

155 pounds—Louis Ladart, Neville.

165 pounds—Junior Davis, Farmerville.

In one of the greatest battles on the card, W. M. Ferguson, Clarks, beat Ben Davis, Farmerville, in a rousing 145-pound final. Ferguson, who advanced to the finals with a first round knockout over Talmadge Stout, Neville, in the semifinals, was master of the situation almost throughout the entire battle, but Davis bored in stubbornly and made the fight an interesting one all the way.

Neville battlers won three championships by technical knockouts, and another won a crown without putting up a single fight.

Salvadore Danna scored the Bengals' first technical knockout when he stopped T. J. Franklin, Clarks, in the second round. Sylvian Wiggins came out like a whirlwind to polish off Roy Patton, Clarks, in the first round; and Buck Brantley, 126, won over Pete Traylor, Farmerville, in the first round after jarring the Farmer with stiff blows and cutting a gash over his right eye.

Robert Gates, Bengal 135-pounder, went to the finals Friday night on a forfeit from Wilbur Christman, Clarks,

TIGERS BID FOR 2 LOOP TITLES

L. S. U. Baseball And Tennis Teams Open Campaigns This Week

BATON ROUGE, La., March 16.—(AP)—Two Louisiana State university athletic teams start their seasons this week with prospects of bringing Southeastern conference championships to the Ole War Skule.

The baseball team, defending the championship won last year, opens its schedule Friday and Saturday with an intersectional series against Northwestern university.

Saturday the tennis team meets Vanderbilt in its first game, with visions of winning the first net title in L. S. U. history.

Coach Harry Rabenhorst, beginning his 15th season as baseball tutor, can start a veteran at every position except third base.

Ray Radovich, a junior, and Seniors Jesse Danna and Bryan Hammett form the nucleus of a brilliant pitching staff. Two football stars, Ken Kavanaugh and Charley Anastasio, furnish most of the dynamite. Anastasio was the team's leading hitter with .387 last season and Kavanaugh pounded .341 in the cleanup spot. Both are outfielders.

Three sophomores from the east form the backbone of the tennis team expected to be the best the Tigers have ever had. Billy Umstaedter of Milburn, N. J., national indoor junior singles champion, and Bernard Jacoby of New York are battling for the No. 1 Place. Walton Ayres, also of Milburn, is the third soph expected to play against the Commodores. L. C. Kirkland, Jr., of Columbia, Miss., is the only veteran from the team which finished third last year in the conference tournament at Sewanee, Tenn.

Meanwhile six members of the Tigers' conference champion boxing team, including five Southeastern titleholders, are preparing for shots at national intercollegiate titles in the tournament April 4-5-6 at Sacramento, Calif.

Headed by Al Michael and Heston Daniel, runners-up last year, the Tigers hold a 5-3 team victory over Wisconsin, 1939 national titlist. The Tigers finished second to Wisconsin last year.

Michael, Daniel, Snyder Parham, Rodney Belaire and Herbert "Peg" Kendrick are conference champs. Charley Polito is the sixth man entering the nationals.

SOLD TO JACKSON

THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 16.—(AP)—Pitcher Bill (Bump) Hudson has been sold conditionally to the Jackson, Miss., team in the Southeastern League after a brief tour with the Thomasville Georgia-Florida League club. Hudson was obtained for Thomasville through Baltimore, under a player agreement. He came here near the end of the 1939 season, won three and lost six games.

BOSOX BEAT REDS

SARASOTA, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox continued their conquests of Grapefruit circuit rivals today by smashing out a 10-3 decision over the Cincinnati Reds.

Emerson Dickman, Denny Galehouse and Dick Sayles held the National League champions well in hand and the Sox artillery pounded the offerings of Johnny Vander Meer and "Whitey" Moore vigorously throughout the game. Jimmie Foxx, Bobby Doerr and Doc Cramer got doubles.

Both teams suffered casualties, Ernie Lombardi of the Red's getting a split finger while Lou Finney was hit on the index finger by one of Vander Meer's slants.

PHILLIES WIN

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Phillies won their third straight exhibition game today scoring two runs in the eighth inning on four straight bases on balls and an infield out to beat Syracuse of the International League, 6 to 5.

Syracuse had taken the lead in the sixth by pounding Tom Pullig for five hits and four runs. However, Pitcher Bill Gates walked Bill Atwood, Jack Bolling, Del Young and Ed Levy in succession in the eighth to tie the score, then Bolling came home with the winning run on Joe Marty's infield out.

INDIANS VICTORS

SEBRING, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians turned in their third straight grapefruit league victory today, defeating the Newark Bears, ranking farm of the New York Yankees, 7 to 2.

After the first two men in the Bears' lineup delivered a single and a triple for a first-inning run, Indian hurlers Al Smith, Don Pulford and Al Milnar had no trouble with the International league club.

Rollie Hemsley of the Tribe, batting from his new left-handed stance, got two doubles, and Ben Chapman, Jeff Heath and Ken Keltner contributed one double each. Russ Peters collected a triple.

YANKS NIP CARDS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—Presenting their regular infield in its entirety for the first time this spring, the New York Yankees edged out the St. Louis Cardinals 4 to 3 today in an installment of their exhibition series.

The decision came in typical Yankee fashion in the eighth when, with two out, Red Rolfe and Tom Henrich singled and Charley Keller slammed a terrific drive that was misjudged by Harold Epps in centerfield and went for a home run.

Earlier Joe Gordon had homered.

SOX DEFEAT CUBS

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 16.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox today defeated the Chicago Cubs 9 to 4 to give the American leaguers their second victory in the first three games of their exhibition series with their city rival.

The Cubs got only six hits, two in the last inning. Clay Bryant took the mound for the Cubs, hoping to show that his ailing arm held promise, but he lasted only the first inning.

GIANTS DROP NATS

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—Having beaten the world champion Yankees yesterday, the New York Giants continued their assault on American League opposition today with a 13 to 2 conquest of the Washington Senators.

While the Giants' pitchers were holding Bucky Harris' motley collection to nine scattered hits, the National Leaguers assembled no less than 20 safeties off four Washington hurlers and took advantage of five more or less sandlot errors.

TIGERS TRIP DODGERS

LAKELAND, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—Dick Bartell, who at one time and another in his National League career proved an awful nuisance to the Brooklyn Dodgers, beat them 3 to 2 in an exhibition game today for the Detroit Tigers.

In the eighth inning Bartell drove home Earl Averill with the winning run on a single off Steve Rachunok, a former Detroit pitcher freed by commissioner K. M. Landis.

It was the fourth consecutive loss against American League foes for the Dodgers.

BUCS BLAST PADRES

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 16.—(AP)—An eight-run splurge in the second inning, starting off with Captain Arky Vaughan's triple, aided the Pittsburgh Pirates in a 12-8 exhibition victory over the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League today.

Big Pat Tobin threw a scare into the Pirates by fanning six of them in the last three innings. He looked good at a time when Pittsburgh is dickering to put him on the payroll.

RED WINGS SLAP BEES

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Rochester Red Wings of the International league took a 5-4 game from the Boston Bees today, pushing across an unearned run in the eighth to break a 4-4 tie.

Despite the defeat, Manager Casey Stengel smiled at the work of Shortstop Eddie Miller, who went the full nine innings, handling five chances perfectly and smashing out a triple in a fourth inning uprising by the Bees. Lou Fette also looked good in a three-inning chore, limiting the Wings to two hits and holding them scoreless.

Rochester landed on Bill Posedel for three runs in the first and scored another in the third. Boston scored one in the first and tied it up in the fourth with three runs.

LIONS PILE UP 56 POINTS TO SHADE HORNETS

Sievers Is Outstanding Performer; Columbia Takes Third Place

The Ouachita Parish High school's track and field team won its first meet of the season here yesterday by taking a quadrangular affair from Rayville, Louisiana Training institute and Columbia at Brown field.

Coach Woodrow Turner's Lions won with 56 points but they were hard pressed by the Hornets of Rayville who came in second with 53 points.

Columbia and L. T. I. held a battle of their own for third place with the Columbia aggregation nosing out the Pelicans, 34 to 31.

Warren Sievers, Ouachita ace, was the outstanding performer of the meet, winning first places in the 70-yard high hurdles, pole vault, hop-step-jump, and running with the winning mile relay team. C. H. Young won two first places for the Lions, taking the 100-yard dash and 440-yard dash. Young was also on the winning mile relay team.

The Lions won eight first places. Rayville got four firsts, while Columbia got two firsts and L. T. I. one.

Next Friday night, however, the Lions can really expect keener competition when they go against some of the best teams in Louisiana and Mississippi in the second annual Ouachita Parish High School Relay carnival which will be held here.

The summary:

70-yard high hurdles—Sievers, Ouachita, first; Harrigill, Rayville, second; Brown, Ouachita, third. Winning time, 9.8 seconds.

100-yard dash—Young, Ouachita, first; Strawn, L. T. I., second; Hemme, Rayville, third; Slocum, Columbia, fourth. Time, 10 seconds.

Mile run—Waller, Rayville, first; Martin, L. T. I., second; Berry, Ouachita, third; Ostten, Columbia, fourth. Time, 5:3.6.

120-yard low hurdles—Pate, Ouachita, first; Velchoff, Rayville, second; Reitzell, Columbia, third; Jordan, L. T. I., fourth. Time, 15 seconds.

220-yard dash—Brown, Ouachita, first; Strawn, L. T. I., second; Hemme, Rayville, third; Duke, Columbia, fourth. Time, 24.9 seconds.

880-yard dash—Dopson, Rayville, first; Damper, Rayville, second; Wood, L. T. I., third; Fisher, Columbia, fourth. Time, 2:17.8.

Mile relay—Ouachita (Sievers, Kimball, Moncrief and Young), first; Rayville (Deer, Nethlands, Hemme and Waller), second; Columbia (Reitzell, Ostten, Morgan and Fisher), third; L. T. I. (Langian, Benoit, Thomas and Phillips), fourth. Time, 3:46.4.

Pole vault—Sievers, Ouachita, first; Phillips, L. T. I., second; Bass, Rayville, third. Height, 9 feet, six inches.

Shot put—Hemme, Rayville, first; Wright, Ouachita, second; Morgan, Columbia, third; Benoit, L. T. I., fourth. Distance, 35 feet, three and three-quarter inches.

Broad jump—Strawn, L. T. I., first; Duke, Columbia, second; Ulmer, Rayville, third; Cook, Ouachita, fourth. Distance, 20 feet, four inches.

Hop-step and jump—Sievers, Ouachita, first; Strawn, L. T. I., second; Ulmer, Rayville, third; Slocum, Columbia, fourth. Distance, 39 feet, six inches.

High jump—Brown, Columbia, first; Bass, Rayville, second; Paul Cook, L. T. I., third; Pexy Cook, Ouachita, fourth. Height, five feet, seven inches.

Discus—Morgan, Columbia, first; Eason, Ouachita, second; Bass, Rayville, third; Jordan, L. T. I., fourth. Distance, 97 feet, seven and a half inches.

Javelin—Morley, Rayville, first; Slocum, Columbia, second; Thomas, L. T. I., third; Brown, Ouachita, fourth. Distance, 128 feet, seven and a half inches.

BAYOU BENGAL NINE DEFEATS PELS, 5-4

BATON ROUGE, La., March 16.—(AP)—The Louisiana State university baseball team, Southeastern conference champions, defeated the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern association today 5 to 4.

Three of the Tiger pitchers kept the Pels bottled up without issuing a walk for eight innings. When two were out in the ninth with two Pelicans on base, a sophomore outfielder dropped a fly ball and New Orleans rallied to tie the score at 4-4.

Joe Moock, who dropped the fly, scored the winning run for Louisiana State in the 10th inning after tripling to deep right.

Power Gives Junior Loop Edge In All-Star Battle

Yankee Bombers Form Major Threat To National League Nine

By Whitney Martin

TAMPA, Fla., March 16.—(AP)—The Finnish relief fund will be helped and baseball's pre-season publicity will be helped, but there was a general feeling tonight that what may happen to the National League in its all-star game with the American League tomorrow just can't be helped.

The expected 15,000 spectators who will contribute close to $20,000 to the fund will see an American League starting lineup which for sheer power probably has never been matched in an all-star game, with the power topped by a superb mound staff.

The two league squads of 25 men each were chosen through a poll of sports writers from the teams in Florida, thus eliminating participation by the Cubs and Pirates of the National League and Browns, White Sox and Athletics of the American League.

From a National League standpoint it was very unfortunate that the Yankees were not training in California, or better yet, Siberia. Joe McCarthy, Yankee manager who will pilot the American League team tomorrow, has named five of his siege guns as starters, with a possible Yankee pitcher making a sixth.

Adding to the National League's distress, the American League squad is extremely healthy, and only Red Ruffing, Dominic DiMaggio and Charley Gehringer are not in a position to take part in the game.

The Nationals, on the other hand, are afflicted with an epidemic of holdouts, injuries and ailments which have necessitated numerous changes. Only today Ernie Lombardi suffered a split finger which will keep him out of action.

However, the National league fans are taking the philosophical attitude that the game is purely an exhibition, at least from the loser's standpoint, and at this stage of the season, with pitchers throwing hope balls and batting eyes out of focus, it actually is, even more so than the annual midseason encounter.

There is enough rivalry between the two leagues, however, to make each player give his best, and a victory will give the winning league a talking point in future arguments, with the National league the loser, bringing up the old defense that it wasn't the American league which won but the Yanks.

Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati manager who is in charge of the National squad, said that each of the 25 men will get into the game, and just to be sure Morrie Arnovich, the "forgotten man" last year, is very much in evidence, he will lead the batting order. McCarthy also is expected to give every man his chance.

Both pilots have been cagey about their starting pitchers. It was believed tonight McKechnie would start one of his own boys, Bucky Walters or Paul Derringer, and that McCarthy might choose either Buck Newsom, Dutch Leonard or Lefty Gomez. He said Bob Feller would not start.

Considering the power of the American league batting order it appeared tonight that it was strictly up to the National league pitchers to make it a contest, and there is enough class there to do it. Walters, Derringer, Clyde Shoun, Harry Gumbert, Luke Hamlin, Kirby Higbe and Morton Cooper all have what it takes when they are right.

The crowd, with favorable weather, is expected to be one of the largest to see a game in the south. It was announced tonight that the 7,000 reserved seats were sold, and that well over $10,000 already was in the till.

The game is scheduled to start at 1:15 p.m. (eastern standard time). It will be broadcast over the mutual network.

LION NETTERS MARK VICTORY

Local Tennis Team Defeats Waterproof, 6-2, On Center Courts

The Ouachita Parish High school tennis team walloped the Waterproof High school netters, 6 to 2, here yesterday on the Northeast Center of L. S. U. courts.

The Lions were subdued a week ago, 17 to 3, by Bolton of Alexandria, but they showed improvement in handing the Waterproof aggregation the setback yesterday.

Coach George Riser last night announced the local netters would meet the Fair Park Indians in Shreveport Wednesday, and also said he was seeking a meet for next Saturday, since Ruston has cancelled the date the Bearcats had for the Lions at that time.

The Lions, in winning yesterday, took both boys' singles matches, divided a pair of girls' singles matches, won two mixed doubles events and the boys' doubles, and lost the girls' doubles.

The boys' singles, Nelson Abell, Ouachita, trimmed Whitfield Butler, 6-1, 6-0; and Hugh Hackley, Ouachita, beat Byron Butler, 6-3, 6-1.

Helen Drake Miller, Waterproof, won the first girls' singles event from Opal Cummings, 6-4, 6-3; and Charlotte Padgett, Ouachita, won the other singles match from May Goldman, 7-5, 6-4.

The combination of Abell and Hackley proved too much for the Butler boys, both lefthanded twins, as the locals took the boys' doubles match, 6-0, 6-0.

Misses Miller and Goldman combined to trim Ouachita's girls' doubles team of Nell Rainbolt and Miss Padgett, 6-1, 6-1.

In the mixed doubles Hackley and Miss Rainbolt beat W. Butler and Miss Goldman, 6-1, 6-1; and Abell and Miss Padgett defeated B. Butler and Miss Miller, 6-2, 6-2.

LIVES UP TO NAME

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—(AP)—No Competition lived up to his name, leading all the way to win the mile and a sixteenth $2,500-added Yerba Buena handicap at Tanforan today in 1:44. He paid $7.40, $4.00 and $2.40. The crowd of 18,000 watched the favorite Haelfly make a gallant close to finish second paying $2.80 and $2.40. Wedding Call was third and paid $2.40.

TIGER MITTMEN TAKE 7 TITLES

and then won the class title when Curtis McDougal, Farmerville, forfeited to him in the final.

Gold, silver and bronze medals were awarded all individual first, second and third place winners in all classes. The trophies were presented the Neville team by C. L. Madden, vice-president of the Louisiana High School Athletic association.

The championship and consolation results:

90 pounds: Salvadore Donna, Neville, technically knocked out T. J. Franklin, Clarks, second round. Consolation: Lawrence McKenzie, Bossier City, beat Johnny Davis, Farmerville.

98 pounds: Sylvian Wiggins, Neville, technically knocked out Roy Patton, Clarks, first round. Consolation: Harold Bond, Bossier City, won on a forfeit from Rossie Kennedy, Farmerville.

105 pounds: Harold Cornett, Neville, outpointed Bob Murray, Bossier City. Lorell Aldrich, Clarks, won third, only three entries.

145 pounds: W. M. Ferguson, Clarks, defeated Ben Davis, Farmerville. Consolation: Asa Wyman, Wisner, won on a forfeit from Talmadge Stout, Neville.

155 pounds: Louis Ladar, Neville, outpointed Clyde Honeycutt, Grayson. No third.

165 pounds: Junior Davis, Farmerville, decisioned R. C. "Red" Rivers, Neville. No third.

The officials were Thurman Pardue and Bill Bass, Southwestern Louisiana Institute, and Eddie Wojecki, Louisiana Tech, judges; Sam Jones, referee; J. B. Swanson, anouncer; and Dr. W. L. Bendel, timer.

SEVERAL SQUAD MEMBERS REPORT

Carmen Soltis, purchased from Andalusia of the Alabama-Florida league as a good shortstop prospect to replace Johnny Conway, won't be here. Soltis has refused to report, club officials said, and will not be looked for.

Returning pitchers are Floyd Speer and George Taitt, right-handers, and Maxfield, Perry and Lawrence Hinton, portsiders. New additions to the squad are Jack Cohan, Louis Boyne, Leon Langston and Hubert Young.

Maxfield, Perry, Hinton and Speer will be counted on considerably to bear the hurling load this season and young Taitt, a rookie last season, should be ready for a better year.

The No. 1 catched will be Bobby Schang, who will also assist Taitt in the managerial duties this season. Other catchers listed are Theo Williford, former Northeast Center of L. S. U. athlete who worked out with the locals last spring and entered Union university in the fall, and Carl Pettigrew, James Brownlee and Melvin Russell.

Outfielders returning are Bob Hill, Dale Englehorn and, of course, Manager Taitt. Robert Burt, Ruston's stellar outfielder in the Ouachita Valley loop last season, will also join the Sox, along with Ed Knight, who was here a short time late last season, and James Marino.

Manager Taitt is in Shreveport at present looking over Shreveport's timber in anticipation of obtaining the three players due the Sox on option from that club as the last phase of the deal that took Murrell Jones to the camp of the Texas leaguers. He will be back late this week ready to get his charges into action.

The Knot-Hole Gang is also being organized and youngsters planning to join the organization that will permit them to witness the Sox in week-day battles are urged to watch for the applications, to be run in this newspaper soon.

Club officials also announced that repair work on Casino park was almost completed, and fans will find the stands much more to their liking this year.

TARKIO COLLEGE TAKES CAGE TITLE

KANSAS CITY, March 16.—(AP)—A whirlwind team from Tarkio (Mo.) college won the National Intercollegiate Basketball title tonight by defeating San Diego (Calif.) State, 52 to 42.

It was the Californians' second unsuccessful bid for the crown. A year ago they were nosed out by Southwestern college of Winfield, Kas., 32 to 31.

Delta State of Cleveland, Miss., defeated Hamline university of St. Paul, 45 to 26, for third place in the tournament.

Therman (Blackie) Blackledge, forward for Delta and the tournament's high scorer, dropped in 14 more points tonight to boost his total for the five games to 86 points.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP)—The books have made Bobby Jones a 25-1 shot in the Augusta Masters' tournament . . . Buddy Baer, the fighter, weighed 13 pounds at birth and has been growing ever since. . . . Mike Tresh, White Sox catcher, has succumbed to the California weather and will buy a home and move his family out there . . . Welby Van Horn, who may be on top of the tennis heap before you know it, will confide in a magazine piece soon that he hates to watch tennis—"too dull and uninteresting." . . . Valentin Campolo may not be the best heavyweight in the world, but he's always trying. He threw his shoulder out of joint hopping a sparring partner yesterday.

Today's guest star:

Dan Desmond, Sioux City (Ia.) Journal: "Johnny Paychek is going to train for Joe Louis behind locked gates . . . and we out here in the hinterland know the terrible secret he's trying to hide."

The Texas Christian football team plans to fly to and from Chapel Hill for the North Carolina U. game next fall. . . . President Ford Frick has promised Lon Warneke a chance to umpire in the National league when his pitching days are over. . . . Johnny Bulla, the golf pro and Sam Snead, the same, are thinking of buying a plane to cover the winter circuit by air next season. . . . Jimmy Foxx says the Giants look awfully small to him. . . . And if the dope the Boston scribes are getting is true, Horace Stoneham and Bill Terry don't expect to see another bunting flying in the Polo Grounds breeze for another four seasons.

Ready to go!

The U. of Arkansas is all set for the next basketball season. . . . The Kings may have departed, but the captains haven't. . . . The coach can put on the floor as starters one captain, one sub-captain, one ex-captain and one ex-sub-captain. . . . (A sub-captain is an alternate who takes over when the regular head man is off the court.)

Did Larry MacPhail and Dolf Camilli nearly stage a fist fight at Clearwater yesterday, or was it only a rumor? . . . Invitations to the $5,000 Goodall Round Robin tournament haven't been issued yet, but they're reserving No. 1 for Jimmy Demaret, toast of the winter circuit. . . . Umpire Red Ormsby, who has 12 kids, has seven of 'em in Florida and transports 'em to and from the games in a truck. . . . Fourteen hockey writers are coming to New York with the Boston Bruins Tuesday night. . . . Victor McLaglen, noted character actor, is the latest celebrity to become a trotting horse owner.

Believe-it-or-not:

This may be an old story about baseball's "Mr. Brains," but it has just hit this desk. . . . Back in 1928, wealthy Chicago admirers of Moe Berg, tried to present him with a $25,000 purse. . . . Berg turned it down. . . . "I've done nothing to merit it," he said.

Tough guy, eh!

Coach Paddy Driscoll of Marquette was almost knocked off his feet when Jimmy Caldwell, 121-pound freshman back, reported and said: "I am the toughest blocking back in the middle-west."

BENGAL SWIMMERS IN WIN OVER DUKE TEAM

BATON ROUGE, La., March 16.—(AP)—Louisiana State's swimming team set its sights on the Southeast conference championship this afternoon after defeating Duke university, champions of the Southern conference, 51 to 24, in the field house pool.

The score was identical with the one by which Florida, which in the past has had a strangle hold on the S. E. C. crown, won over the Blue Devils in a recent meet. This would indicate that the conference tourney at Atlanta Friday and Saturday will be a battle between Florida's champions and Louisiana State's challengers.

Not only did Coach W. G. Higginbotham's team win over the invaders, but his medly relay team of Albert Kleinpeter, Will Sherwood and Tom Kleck upset Duke's national junior champions in record time of four minutes, five seconds. In all, three L. S. U. pool records were broken and a fourth was newly established. Since the medley relay race was 360 yards, the first time ever sum at that distance in the pool, it goes down as a record. The time of 4:05 was considered good.

CLAIMS RECORD

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif., March 16.—(AP)— Lou Fagerol, veteran San Marino, Calif., pilot, claimed a new world's powerboat record of 97.774 m.p.h. after a two-way test over a measured mile in Newport bay today. C. C. Deming, American Power Boat association timer, refereed the test of Fagerol's new speedster, So Long. He said the former mark, 92.308 m.p.h., was established in Florida last year by George Cannon.

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths inch cotton today at 10 southern spot markets was 13 points lower at 10.48 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 10.78; middling 7-8ths inch average 10.30 cents a pound.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed quiet 11 points lower. Sales 127. Low middling 3.43; middling 10.53; good middling 10.98, receipts 4,443; stock 737,421.

New York

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP)—Weakness in outside markets and a sharp decline in Bombay unloosed a general liquidating movement in cotton futures today. Final prices were 10 to 13 down.

Straddle selling by Indian brokers, commission house and southern liquidation met only a moderate demand from spot interests, cooperatives and trade.

Uncertainties over European developments caused much of the selling, brokers said.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP)—Stocks, heavy, "peace decline" continues. Bonds, lower, all groups share setback. Foreign exchange, firm, sterling rallies briskly. Cotton, heavy; foreign and domestic selling. Sugar, easy; nervous speculative pressure. Metals, quiet, demand for copper remains sluggish. Wool tops, depressed; liquidation attracts stop-loss orders.

CHICAGO—Wheat, higher. Corn, about steady. Cattle, steady. Hogs, steady.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP)—European peace rumors continued to permeate the Wall Street atmosphere today and, while these seemingly had little actual basis, many so-called "war babies" added 1 to more than 2 points to Friday's losses.

Prices were at their worst in the first hour, with offerings tending to dry up at the start of the final lap. Aircrafts and steels were the principal sufferers, although minus signs were well distributed in all departments. Mild buying at the last enabled many issues to close above the day's bottoms.

Dealings picked up on the extension of yesterday's relapse and, despite late slow-downs, transfers for the two hours of approximately 450,000 shares were the largest for any Saturday this year.

Short selling was a bit more noticeable and touching off of stop-loss orders here and there contributed to the softness of the list as a whole. Penetration of what the chartists call "important" support points was said to have invited some liquidation.

Exceptionally optimistic 1939 earnings reports received scant attention in view of the fears among speculative contingents that a sudden cessation of overseas hostilities would hit corporations in this country whose profits are being propped by war purchases.

Bonds were down and commodities mixed. Securities at Amsterdam, only important market open abroad, weakened. The pound sterling recovered in terms of the dollar.

While some traders inclined to blame the market's backwardness partly on selling from foreign sources, commission houses with connections abroad found no signs of "dumping" by trans-Atlantic holders.

There was gossip anent the possibility of the president's special representative, Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles, bringing back concrete peace proposals from the belligerents when he returns home in the next week or so.

112 pounds: Don Walsdorf, Bossier City, beat Jimmy Brashier, Farmerville. Jack Gallien, Neville, won third, only three entries.

145 pounds: W. M. Ferguson, Clarks, defeated Ben Davis, Farmerville. Consolation: Asa Wyman, Wisner, won on a forfeit from Talmadge Stout, Neville.

155 pounds: Louis Ladar, Neville, outpointed Clyde Honeycutt, Grayson. No third.

165 pounds: Junior Davis, Farmerville, decisioned R. C. "Red" Rivers, Neville. No third.

The officials were Thurman Pardue and Bill Bass, Southwestern Louisiana institute, and Eddie Wojecki, Louisiana Tech, judges; Sam Jones, referee; J. B. Swanson, anouncer; and Dr. W. L. Bendel, timer.

Carmen Soltis, purchased from Andalusia of the Alabama-Florida league as a good shortstop prospect to replace Johnny Conway, won't be here. Soltis has refused to report, club officials said, and will not be looked for.

Returning pitchers are Floyd Speer and George Taitt, right-handers, and Maxfield, Perry and Lawrence Hinton, portsiders. New additions to the squad are Jack Cohan, Louis Boyne, Leon Langston and Hubert Young.

Maxfield, Perry, Hinton and Speer will be counted on considerably to bear the hurling load this season and young Taitt, a rookie last season, should be ready for a better year.

The No. 1 catched will be Bobby Schang, who will also assist Taitt in the managerial duties this season. Other catchers listed are Theo Williford, former Northeast Center of L. S. U. athlete who worked out with the locals last spring and entered Union university in the fall, and Carl Pettigrew, James Brownlee and Melvin Russell.

Outfielders returning are Bob Hill, Dale Engiehorn and, of course, Manager Taitt. Robert Burt, Ruston's stellar outfielder in the Ouachita Valley loop last season, will also join the Sox, along with Ed Knight, who was here a short time late last season, and James Marino.

Manager Taitt is in Shreveport at present looking over Shreveport's timber in anticipation of obtaining the three players due the Sox on option from that club as the last phase of the deal that took Murrell Jones to the camp of the Texas leaguers. He will be back late this week ready to get his charges into action.

The Knot-Hole Gang is also being organized and youngsters planning to join the organization that will permit them to witness the Sox in week-day battles are urged to watch for the applications, to be run in this newspaper soon.

Club officials also announced that repair work on Casino park was almost completed, and fans will find the stands much more to their liking this year.

TARKIO COLLEGE TAKES CAGE TITLE

KANSAS CITY, March 16.—(AP)—A whirlwind team from Tarkio (Mo.) college won the National Intercollegiate Basketball title tonight by defeating San Diego (Calif.) State, 52 to 42.

It was the Californians' second unsuccessful bid for the crown. A year ago they were nosed out by Southwestern college of Winfield, Kas., 32 to 31.

Delta State of Cleveland, Miss., defeated Hamline university of St. Paul, 45 to 26, for third place in the tournament.

Therman (Blackie) Blackledge, forward for Delta and the tournament's high scorer, dropped in 14 more points tonight to boost his total for the five games to 86 points.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP)—The books have made Bobby Jones a 25-1 shot in the Augusta Masters' tournament. . . . Buddy Baer, the fighter, weighed 13 pounds at birth and has been growing ever since. . . . Mike Tresh, White Sox catcher, has succumbed to the California weather and will buy a home and move his family out there. . . . Welby Van Horn, who may be on top of the tennis heap before you know it, will confide in a magazine piece soon that he hates to watch tennis—"too dull and uninteresting." . . . Valentin Campolo may not be the best heavyweight in the world, but he's alway's trying. He threw his shoulder out of joint bopping a sparring partner yesterday.

Today's guest star:

Dan Desmond, Sioux City (Ia.) Journal: "Johnny Paychek is going to train for Joe Louis behind locked gates . . . and we out here in the hinterland know the terrible secret he's trying to hide."

The Texas Christian football team plans to fly to and from Chapel Hill for the North Carolina U. game next fall. . . . President Ford Frick has promised Lon Warneke a chance to umpire in the National league when his pitching days are over. . . . Johnny Bulla, the golf pro and Sam Snead, the same, are thinking of buying a plane to cover the winter circuit by air next season. . . . Jimmy Foxx says the Giants look awfully small to him. . . . And if the dope the Boston scribes are getting is true, Horace Stoneham and Bill Terry don't expect to see another bunting flying in the Polo Grounds breeze for another four seasons.

Ready to go!

The U. of Arkansas is all set for the next basketball season. . . . The Kings may have departed, but the captains haven't. . . . The coach can put on the floor as starters one captain, one sub-captain, one ex-captain and one ex-sub-captain. . . . (A sub-captain is an alternate who takes over when the regular head man is off the court.)

Did Larry MacPhail and Dolf Camilli nearly stage a fist fight at Clearwater yesterday, or was it only a rumor? . . . Invitations to the $5,000 Goodall Round Robin tournament haven't been issued yet, but they're reserving No. 1 for Jimmy Demaret, toast of the winter circuit. . . . Umpire Red Ormsby, who has 12 kids, has seven of 'em in Florida and transports 'em to and from the games in a truck. . . . Fourteen hockey writers are coming to New York with the Boston Bruins Tuesday night. . . . Victor McLaglen, noted character actor, is the latest celebrity to become a trotting horse owner.

Believe-it-or-not:

This may be an old story about baseball's "Mr. Brains," but it has just hit this desk. . . . Back in 1928, wealthy Chicago admirers of Moe Berg, tried to present him with a $25,000 purse. . . . Berg turned it down. . . . "I've done nothing to merit it," he said.

Tough guy, eh!

Coach Paddy Driscoll of Marquette was almost knocked off his feet when Jimmy Caldwell, 121-pound freshman back, reported and said: "I am the toughest blocking back in the middle-west."

BENGAL SWIMMERS IN WIN OVER DUKE TEAM

BATON ROUGE, La., March 16.—(AP)—Louisiana State's swimming team set its sights on the Southeast conference championship this afternoon after defeating Duke university, champions of the Southern conference, 51 to 24, in the field house pool.

The score was identical with the one by which Florida, which in the past has had a strangle hold on the S. E. C. crown, won over the Blue Devils in a recent meet. This would indicate that the conference tourney at Atlanta Friday and Saturday will be a battle between Florida's champions and Louisiana State's challengers.

Not only did Coach W. G. Higginbotham's team win over the invaders, but his medly relay team of Albert Kleinpeter, Will Sherwood and Tom Klock upset Duke's national junior champions in record time of four minutes, five seconds. In all, three L. S. U. pool records were broken and a fourth was newly established. Since the medley relay race was 360 yards, the first time ever sum at that distance in the pool, it goes down as a record. The time of 4:05 was considered good.

CLAIMS RECORD

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif., March 16.—(AP)— Lou Fagerol, veteran San Marino, Calif., pilot, claimed a new world's powerboat record of 97.774 m.p.h. after a two-way test over a measured mile in Newport bay today. C. C. Deming, American Power Boat association timer, refereed the test of Fagerol's new speedster, So Long. He said the former mark, 92.308 m.p.h., was established in Florida last year by George Cannon.

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—Poor cables, week-end long liquidation and easiness in other commodity markets were responsible for declines of more than 50 cents a bale in cotton futures here today. Closing prices were steady at net losses of 9 to 11 points.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths inch cotton today at 10 southern spot markets was 13 points lower at 10.48 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 10.78; middling 7-8ths inch average 10.30 cents a pound.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed quiet 11 points lower. Sales 127. Low middling 9.43; middling 10.53; good middling 10.98; receipts 4,443; stock 737,421.

New York

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP)—Weakness in outside markets and a sharp decline in Bombay unloosed a general liquidating movement in cotton futures today. Final prices were 10 to 13 down.

Straddle selling by Indian brokers, commission house and southern liquidation met only a moderate demand from spot interests, cooperatives and trade.

Uncertainties over European developments caused much of the selling, brokers said.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP)—European peace rumors continued to permeate the Wall Street atmosphere today and, while these seemingly had little actual basis, many so-called "war babies" added 1 to more than 2 points to Friday's losses.

Prices were at their worst in the first hour, with offerings tending to dry up at the start of the final lap. Aircrafts and steels were the principal sufferers, although minus signs were well distributed in all departments. Mild buying at the last enabled many issues to close above the day's bottoms.

Dealings picked up on the extension of yesterday's relapse and, despite late slow-downs, transfers for the two hours of approximately 450,000 shares were the largest for any Saturday this year.

Short selling was a bit more noticeable and touching off of stop-loss orders here and there contributed to the softness of the list as a whole. Penetration of what the chartists call "important" support points was said to have invited some liquidation.

Exceptionally optimistic 1939 earnings reports received scant attention in view of the fears among speculative contingents that a sudden cessation of overseas hostilities would hit corporations in this country whose profits are being propped by war purchases.

Bonds were down and commodities mixed. Securities at Amsterdam, only important market open abroad, weakened. The pound sterling recovered in terms of the dollar.

While some traders inclined to blame the market's backwardness partly on selling from foreign sources, commission houses with connections abroad found no signs of "dumping" by trans-Atlantic holders.

There was gossip anent the possibility of the president's special representative, Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles, bringing back concrete peace proposals from the belligerents when he returns home in the next week or so.

Would YOU Like To Lose 15 Lbs. Of FAT?

Then Read This and Get Busy!

How would you like to safely and harmlessly lose some of that ugly fat in a few weeks? How would you like to lose your double chin and your bulging hips and stomach and along with it get the increase in energy and improvement in health which so often accompanies excess fat reduction?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to gently activate liver, bowels and kidneys. Cut down your caloric intake. Eat wisely and satisfyingly.

Then after 30 days, weigh yourself again and just see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat. Money back if not joyfully satisfied.

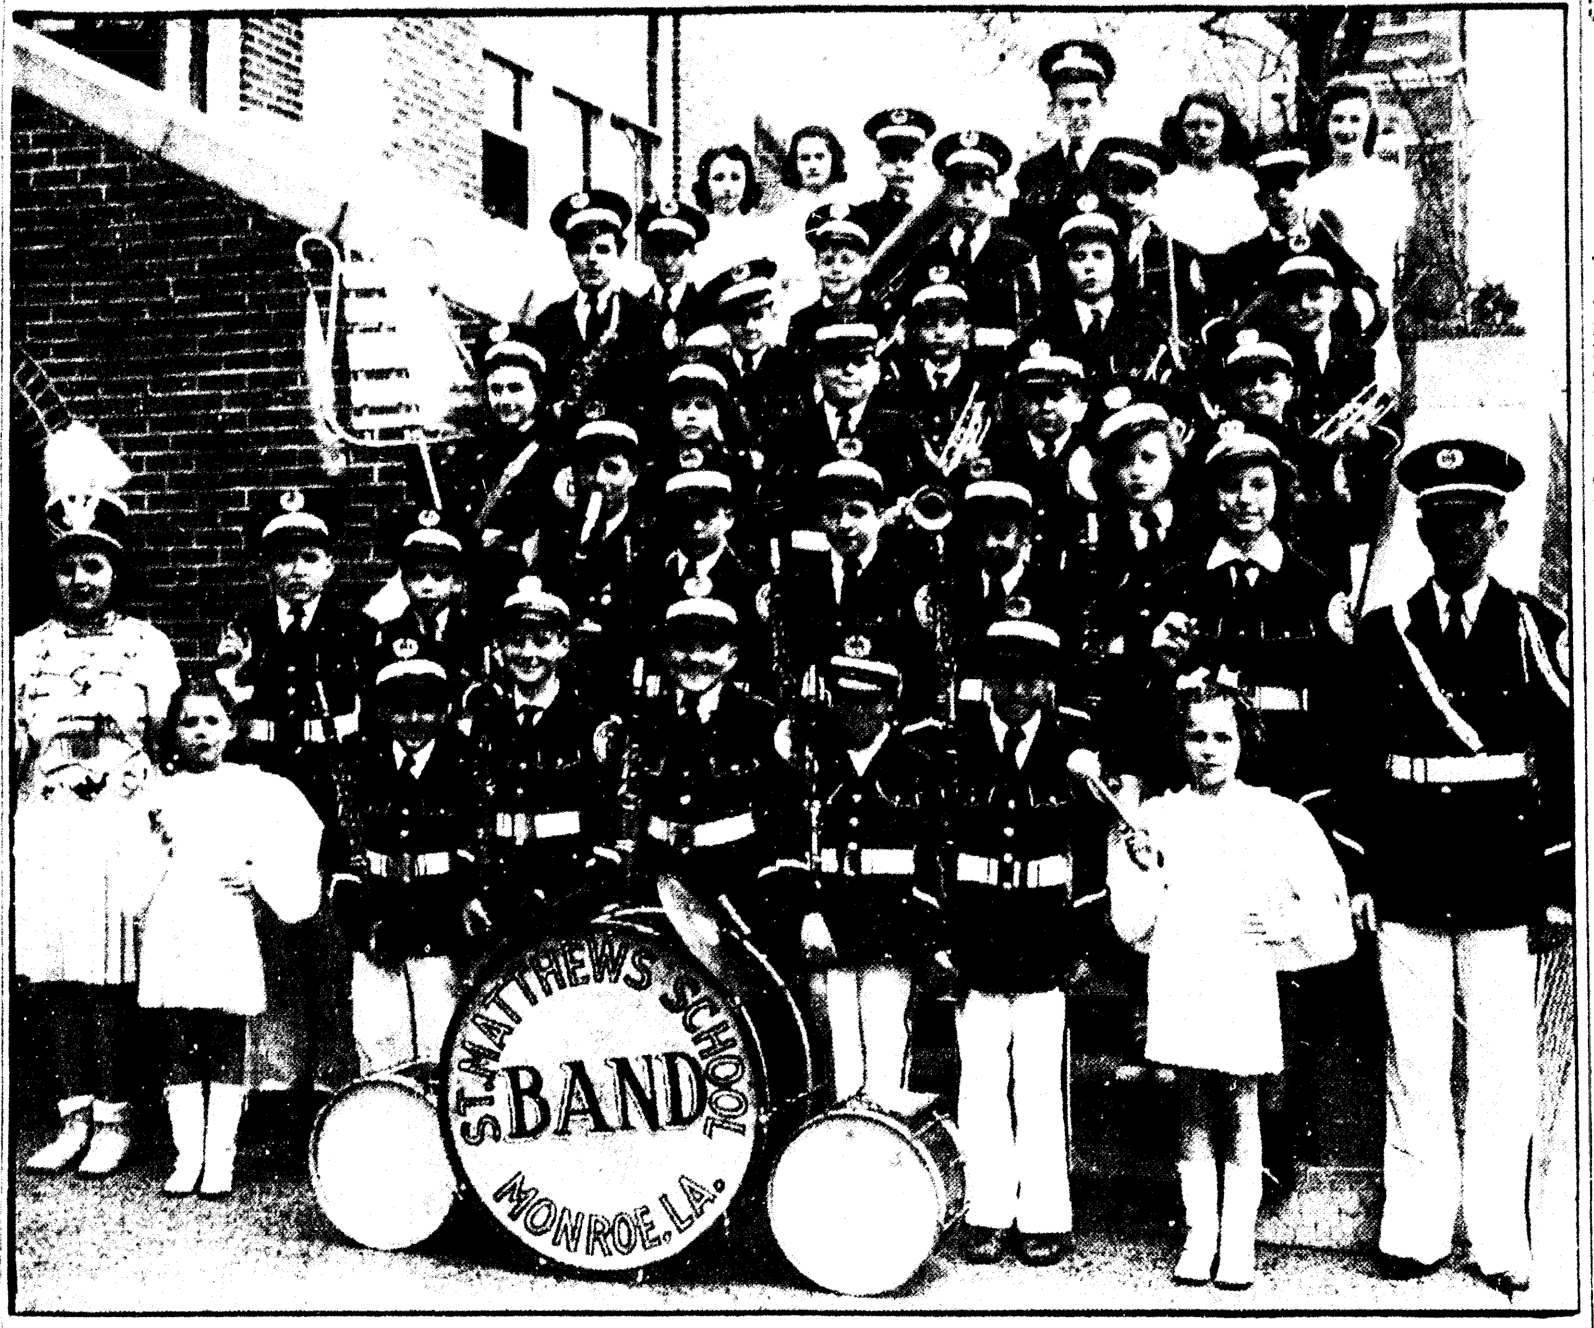
ST. MATTHEW'S FINEST GET NEW UNIFORMS



The St. Matthew's school band, sponsored by the P.-T. A. and organized by F. G. Butcher, is the youngest high school band in Monroe. In less than two years it has grown to an organization of 35 pieces. Uniforms of maroon and white have recently been purchased and the band members are decidedly proud of their spick and span appearance these days.

The band now comprises a varied assortment of instruments, the newest of which are a recently acquired bass clarinet and a bell lyre. Five majorettes have been added, two of which are tiny tots.

During the short time the band has been organized the group has been invited to play at a number of functions of importance. They have participated in parades, before school assemblies and other gatherings. In the 1939 music festival at Ruston they participated and received the rating of "very good." In the state contest at Shreveport the group was awarded third place. The band the past week participated in the annual music festival at Ruston.

NEW ACTIVITY OF BRAIN REPORTED

Miniature Lightning Built Up By Single Cells And Sent To Others

By Stephen J. McDonough
(Associated Press Science Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—A new kind of electrical brain activity was reported today before the closing session of the Federated Biological societies.

It is miniature lightning, Dr. B. Libet and Dr. R. W. Gerard of the University of Chicago declared, because a single cell builds up an electrical charge similar to the charges developed in thunderstorm clouds and then shoots it off to an adjoining cell like a thunderbolt striking the ground.

This method of transmission of electrical energy, which is apparently vital in the magnetism of body cells, is entirely different from the nerve impulses, they said. In the nerves electrical currents travel along them in the same way that electric power is carried by wires. The lightning action of cells, however, is an electrical bond throughout the body which keeps all of them working together.

The electric charges are only onemillionth of a volt or less, Dr. Libet reported, but they perform the same as million-volt potentials of current. In experiments on the isolated brains of frogs they proved that such charges move across the brain in waves and are transmitted even though the nerves which transmit sensation are cut or blocked by drugs.

Further study of these electrical currents is expected to aid materially in determining the points in the brain where the activity originates and how it spreads to control functions of the body, he added.

Dr. D. W. Bronk of the University of Pennsylvania added that recent experiments on nerve cells in which they were stimulated by electrical currents 40 times per second showed that they will continue to shoot out impulses for several seconds after the stimulation is stopped. Then they quit and refuse to respond to excitation until they have rested for a brief period.

Smoking may be purely psychological stimulation rather than physical, Dr. F. E. Franke of St. Louis university told members of the American Physiological society, one of the units of the federation.

It was found in experiments on 21 medical students that smoking constricted the blood vessels, but the constriction began as long as two minutes before smoking began and "fake smoking" by puffing on an unlighted cigarette "may cause greater constriction in a subject than actual smoking," he reported.

New evidence that athletes strain their hearts in races and games was announced by Dr. M. M. Ellis of the University of Missouri. He studied the hearts of 65 active athletes with both X-rays and the electrocardiograph, the machine which records the electrical activity of the heart. Thirty-seven out of the group were found to have enlarged hearts or enlargement of various parts.

Dr. Robert H. Dreisbach of the University of Chicago told members of the federation that coffee drinkers are actually addicts to caffeine and that some persons will develop violent headaches unless they have their morning cup of coffee.

He studied a group of persons by giving them caffeine capsules, then withdrawing the drug entirely. As a result moderate to severe headaches resulted, sometimes making the person unable to work.

COMMUNISM TO BE DISCUSSED

Dr. C. K. Smith To Deal With Subject In Morning Sermon Today

"Is America Turning Toward Communism?" will be the theme of the morning sermon today at the First Methodist church in West Monroe by the pastor, Dr. C. Karlos Smith. Because of the timeliness of the theme, it is expected that there will be a large attendance and the pastor invites the general public to be present. His evening theme will be: "The Ninety and Nine." Commenting on the morning service, Dr. Smith stated that every man in the Twin Cities should hear the discussion of communism.

Beginning today with the baptism of babies and reception of children into church membership at the morning hour, followed by a theme suited to Palm Sunday, Dr. A. M. Freeman will initiate the carrying out of plans for the week immediately preceding Easter at the First Methodist church of Monroe.

There will be a special series of pre-Easter services each night during the coming week at the First Methodist church here. On Good Friday there will be a sunrise 30-minute convocation led by the pastor and an evening dramatic program, "Spiritual Fellowship With Those Who Suffer," rendered by the young people's division, at which time a sacrificial offering will be made for war victims in China and Europe.

PEACE

West Monroe, La.,
March 15, 1940.

To the Editor:

I see by my morning paper (Monroe World) that the Russian-Finnish war has ended. If the writer is correct Finland is the fifth nation to be sold down the river of anti-Christ and yet there are three more to go, namely, Norway, Sweden and Denmark. With these three well on the voyage the back doors of the two warring non-Christian nations will be closed to all possible trouble from that direction.

Eight nations with a total population of 71,896,758, all firm believers in Christ, will be cast into slavery to serve Germany and Russia in their pla. to disintegrate the British empire. The only material power on earth that can stop this awful carnage is the good old U. S. A. England, under the influence of her umbrella-carrying chancellor, has forfeited her opportunity of ever stopping the host of Godless nations once these nations become united.

If past performances can be relied upon, it is hard to believe that this same umbrella holding hand will not let Holland, Belgium and Rumania, one at the time, go down the river of anti-Christ to join the other eight nations in slavery. Strange as it may seem it is up to the Christian nations to say whether it's peace at any price or buckets of blood now or barrels of blood later.

Would YOU Like To Lose 15 Lbs. Of FAT?

Then Read This and Get Busy!

How would you like to safely and harmlessly lose some of that ugly fat in a few weeks? How would you like to lose your double chin and your bulging hips and stomach and along with it get the increase in energy and improvement in health which so often accompanies excess fat reduction?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to gently activate liver, bowels and kidneys. Cut down your calcric intake. Eat wisely and satisfyingly.

Then after 30 days, weigh yourself again and just see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat. Money back if not joyfully satisfied.

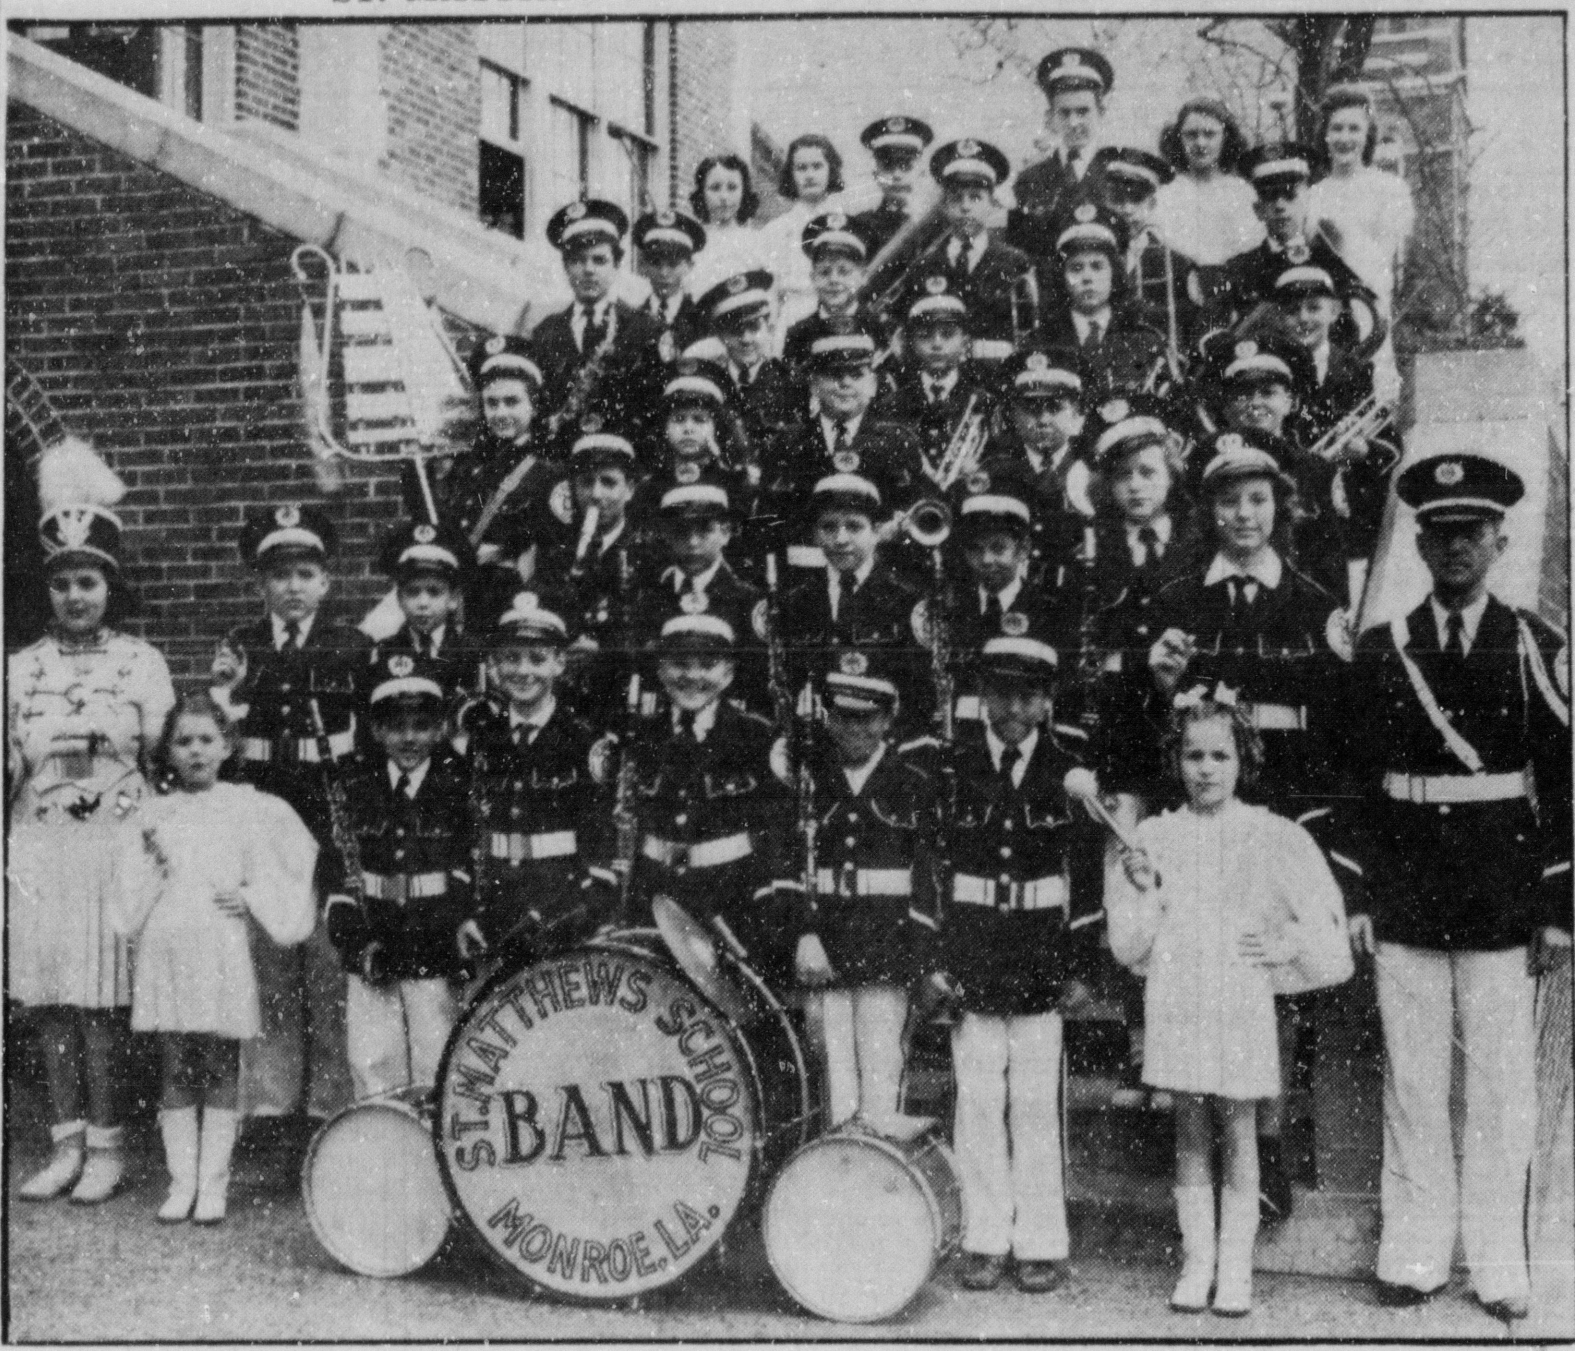
ST. MATTHEW'S FINEST GET NEW UNIFORMS



The St. Matthew's school band, sponsored by the P.-T. A. and organized by F. G. Butcher, is the youngest high school band in Monroe. In less than two years it has grown to an organization of 35 pieces. Uniforms of maroon and white have recently been purchased and the band members are decidedly proud of their spick and span appearance these days.

The band now comprises a varied assortment of instruments, the newest of which are a recently acquired bass clarinet and a bell lyre. Five majorettes have been added, two of which are tiny tots.

During the short time the band has been organized the group has been invited to play at a number of functions of importance. They have participated in parades, before school assemblies and other gatherings. In the 1939 music festival at Ruston they participated and received the rating of "very good." In the state contest at Shreveport the group was awarded third place. The band the past week participated in the annual music festival at Ruston.

NEW ACTIVITY OF BRAIN REPORTED

Miniature Lightning Built Up By Single Cells And Sent To Others

By Stephen J. McDonough
(Associated Press Science Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—(AP)—A new kind of electrical brain activity was reported today before the closing session of the Federated Biological societies.

It is miniature lightning, Dr. B. Libet and Dr. R. W. Gerard of the University of Chicago declared, because a single cell builds up an electrical charge similar to the charges developed in thunderstorm clouds and then shoots it off to an adjoining cell like a thunderbolt striking the ground.

This method of transmission of electrical energy, which is apparently vital in the magnetism of body cells, is entirely different from the nerve impulses, they said. In the nerves electrical currents travel along them in the same way that electric power is carried by wires. The lightning action of cells, however, is an electrical bond throughout the body which keeps all of them working together.

The electric charges are only one-millionth of a volt or less, Dr. Libet reported, but they perform the same as million-volt potentials of current. In experiments on the isolated brains of frogs they proved that such charges move across the brain in waves and are transmitted even though the nerves which transmit sensation are cut or blocked by drugs.

Further study of these electrical currents is expected to aid materially in determining the points in the brain where the activity originates and how it spreads to control functions of the body, he added.

Dr. D. W. Bronk of the University of Pennsylvania added that recent experiments on nerve cells in which they were stimulated by electrical currents 40 times per second showed that they will continue to shoot out impulses for several seconds after the stimulation is stopped. Then they quit and refuse to respond to excitation until they have rested for a brief period.

Smoking may be purely psychological stimulation rather than physical, Dr. F. E. Franke of St. Louis university told members of the American Physiological society, one of the units of the federation.

It was found in experiments on 21 medical students that smoking constricted the blood vessels, but the constriction began as long as two minutes before smoking began and "fake smoking" by puffing on an unlighted cigarette "may cause greater constriction in a subject than actual smoking," he reported.

New evidence that athletes strain their hearts in races and games was announced by Dr. M. M. Ellis of the University of Missouri. He studied the hearts of 65 active athletes with both X-rays and the electrocardiograph, the machine which records the electrical activity of the heart. Thirty-seven out of the group were found to have enlarged hearts or enlargement of various parts.

Dr. Robert H. Dreisbach of the University of Chicago told members of the federation that coffee drinkers are actually addicts to caffeine and that some persons will develop violent headaches unless they have their morning cup of coffee.

He studied a group of persons by giving them caffeine capsules, then withdrawing the drug entirely. As a result moderate to severe headaches resulted, sometimes making the person unable to work.

COMMUNISM TO BE DISCUSSED

Dr. C. K. Smith To Deal With Subject In Morning Sermon Today

"Is America Turning Toward Communism?" will be the theme of the morning sermon today at the First Methodist church in West Monroe by the pastor, Dr. C. Karlos Smith. Because of the timeliness of the theme, it is expected that there will be a large attendance and the pastor invites the general public to be present. His evening theme will be: "The Ninety and Nine." Commenting on the morning service, Dr. Smith stated that every man in the Twin Cities should hear the discussion of communism.

Beginning today with the baptism of babies and reception of children into church membership at the morning hour, followed by a theme suited to Palm Sunday, Dr. A. M. Freeman will initiate the carrying out of plans for the week immediately preceding Easter at the First Methodist church of Monroe.

There will be a special series of pre-Easter services each night during the coming week at the First Methodist church here. On Good Friday there will be a sunrise 30-minute convocation led by the pastor and an evening dramatic program, "Spiritual Fellowship With Those Who Suffer," rendered by the young people's division, at which time a sacrificial offering will be made for war victims in China and Europe.

PEACE

West Monroe, La.,
March 15, 1940.

To the Editor:

I see by my morning paper (Monroe World) that the Russian-Finnish war has ended. If the writer is correct Finland is the fifth nation to be sold down the river of anti-Christ and yet there are three more to go, namely, Norway, Sweden and Denmark. With these three well on the voyage the back doors of the two warring non-Christian nations will be closed to all possible trouble from that direction.

Eight nations with a total population of 71,896,758, all firm believers in Christ, will be cast into slavery to serve Germany and Russia in their pla. to disintegrate the British empire. The only material power on earth that can stop this awful carnage is the good old U. S. A. England, under the influence of her umbrella-carrying chancellor, has forfeited her opportunity of ever stopping the host of Godless nations once these nations become united.

If past performances can be relied upon, it is hard to believe that this same umbrella holding hand will not let Holland, Belgium and Rumania, one at the time, go down the river of anti-Christ to join the other eight nations in slavery. Strange as it may seem it is up to the Christian nations to say whether it's peace at any price or buckets of blood now or barrels of blood later.

From the way events have been turning the past few months, England, if she desires to keep her empire intact, had better hurry; her days for doing something are growing short. Santanic nations are rapidly absorbing the small and weaker nations, forcing them to serve against British interest, and what is against Britain is against us; like Britain we must hurry and decide what to do, the best way to do it and above all who shall lead us.

Deep Religious Significance Of Palm Sunday Will Prevail In Monroe Today

Society Anticipates Great Joy Of Easter

Mr. And Mrs. Sherrouse And Mrs. Wallace Return From Florida; Other Sojourners Back

By Eve Bradford

PALM Sunday! A day of deep religious significance. Voices will be lifted fervently in song today, reminding one that it was on Palm Sunday that Christ made his last triumphant entry into Jerusalem.

The singing of The Palms is always a distinct feature of of church services today. How beautiful the words—"O'er all the way green palms and blossoms gay are strewn this day in festal preparation. Where Jesus comes to wipe our sins away. Even now the throng to welcome him prepare—Join all and sing, His name declare, let every voice resound with acclamation."

Easter services early this year with more than the usual quota of beautiful flowers and many charming vistas into the future. The approach of Easter blows new life into our sartorial existence. The peak of the parade next Sunday will be between 12 and 1 when the church services are over and hat-conscious women will walk forth in all the glory of their new raiment. Few women can resist wearing their newest, most spring-like ensembles, although some have been known to join the parade with supreme indifference.

Helen and John Sherrouse and Mabel Wallace, just back from Miami and Palm Beach, tell us that a fur coat is a real asset this year. The days are bright and very fair, but O, you northwest wind, more unkind even than ingratitude! When the moon beamed over the tropical sea it was most unromantic to be thinking about electric heaters. Very depressing to search among one's belongings for warm woolies when a dip in the ocean was one of the reasons for motoring to Florida.

Motorists just back from the Bellingrath Gardens in Mobile tell us that the gardens are more beautiful this year than ever before. The azaleas are now at the height of their glory and the wisteria hangs like purple incense over the scene.

Glamour aplenty last week at the Allan Jones concert with society putting its best foot forward. Vivid colors flashed up and down the aisles part of which was created by those young and lovely D. B. S. members who served as usherettes. The D. B. S. president, Gay Noe, like a bird of bright plumage flew up and down the aisle in a cerise chiffon gown with a wide cerise velvet ribbon forming a bow at the crown of her head and falling beyond the waistline.

As usual when a celebrity is in our midst for any length of time, stories fly thick and fast. Allan Jones, however, did something that few celebrities would even think of doing. He sang a lullaby for a certain little boy whose nurse was in a measure responsible for the song. It seems that the little boy's parents entertained with an informal cocktail party after the concert. The baby, upstairs in the nursery, was wakeful and the nurse timidly stated that she was sure he would go to sleep if Mr. Jones would sing for him. He promptly mounted the stairs to the nursery and soon the baby, under the spell of his magic voice, was fast asleep.

Again the fact is proved that it is the gentleness and the kindness in men that makes them great.

Frances McHenry, just back from New York, said the air was so frigid she was afraid to venture forth on the shopping trip she had planned for the very next day after she and Carl arrived. The first few days were spent in the theaters, traveling back and forth over the icy streets in a taxi. The weather moderated, however, and the anticipated three days of shopping was crammed into one.

The wintry gales evidently have no terror for Emma Louise Biedenharn. She packed her trunk six or seven weeks ago for a little visit in New York, and still she lingers there reveling in the atmosphere of music and drama.

We doff our new spring bonnet to the artistic soul, member of the Junior Charity League, who arranged the picturesque branches of mauve-colored flowering magnolia in the tall wrought iron standards and placed them on either side of the stage at the Neville auditorium, where they were silhouetted against the dubonnet velvet curtains.

Beauty is never lost, and in this particular case everyone in the audience attending the Allan Jones concert was simply enchanted with the artistry portrayed in the simple floral arrangement.

All members are urged to attend this meeting.

Yellow jonquils graced Mrs. Malcolm Biedenharn's luncheon table in her home on Pargoud boulevard, when she entertained members of her Thursday luncheon-bridge club.

A four-course luncheon with broiled chicken the piece de resistance was served to Mrs. C. C. Boardman, Mrs. C. W. Wallace, Mrs. Joseph Washburn, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. Murray Hudson and Mrs. Clyde Paine.

Mrs. W. E. Smith has as her guests, her sister, Mrs. Julia Philips of Birmingham, Ala., and her daughter, Mrs. E. S. Richardson, Jr., of Ruston.

MARCH BRIDE . . .

Mrs. Edward Gibbs Tisdale, who before her marriage in this city March 2, was Miss Natalie Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Holt of Bastrop. Mr. Tisdale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tisdale of Bastrop.

Miss Neill Marries Lieutenant Cheatwood

Impressive Ceremony Solemnized At Ruston Methodist Church; Couple To Live In Washington

Claiming prominence among the springtime nuptials was the wedding of Miss Mona Louise Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross C. Neill of Ruston, and Lieutenant Harold Cheatwood of Washington, D. C. Saturday, March 2, at the Methodist church, Ruston, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening with the pastor Rev. Guy Hicks, officiating.

The Ruston Leader had the following to say in regard to the wedding:

"The church was decorated for the occasion by Mrs. Clyde Johnston, with tall baskets of white calla lilies, snapdragons, pots of ferns and southern smilax, cathedral tapers elevated in a triangle to a point in the center of which a Chinese candelabra was placed.

"A prenuptial musical program was rendered with Mrs. S. L. White at the organ. Those rendering vocal solos were Miss Dorothy Harris, who sang, 'I Love You Truly,' and Miss Joyce Colvin, 'Because,' accompanied by Judge Richardson at the organ. Judge J. S. Richardson rendered the traditional wedding marches for processional and recessional, during the ceremony playing 'Charming Lady' dedicated to the bride.

"Prior to the ceremony the tapers were lighted by Mr. Jess Harris, Jr., and Mr. John Thurmon, Jr.

"The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ruth Harris, Shreveport, La.; Miss Mary Elizabeth Harris, Brenau college; Miss Norma Louise Rinehart, Seminole, Okla.; Mrs. Bobbie Cheatwood Quinn, Tangipahoa, and Miss Dorothy Fry, University of Alabama, Gadsden, Ala. The bridesmaids wore frocks of mist pink, fashioned on basque lines with flowing skirts of taffeta, carrying muffs of carnations in contrasting colors.

"Miss Mary Harris, the maid of honor, was gowned in a marsh rose taffeta, made on the same lines of the bridesmaids'. They wore hats of matching tulle and flowers.

"Mr. Jack Darington Armstrong, Spearsville, attended the groom as best man. The groomsmen were Lieutenant L. C. Radford, Lieutenant G. H. Austin, Lieutenant W. A. Rambo, Barksdale field, and John Thurmon, Jr.

"The flower girl was little Jan Johnson, daintily dressed in blue, modeled after the fashion of the bridesmaids.

"Little Ross Neill, Jr., brother of the bride, carried the ring on a pillow, made of feathers from the bride's baby pillow.

"The bride entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage.

"She was lovely in her bridal gown of ivory satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline, embroidered in seed pearls and long sleeves fitted from tiny puffs of imported lace. The dress was princess with self-covered buttons extending from the neckline to the waistline in the back. The skirt flowed into a graceful train and her knee length veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls and orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley. For something old she wore her great grandmother's bracelet, which had been worn by her grandmother and great-grandmother on their wedding days.

"A reception, following the ceremony was held at the country home of the bride's parents at Vienna, where her grandparents reside.

"Throughout the reception suite were noted lovely spring flowers, talisman roses, carnations, southern smilax. The bride's table, lace covered, was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake embossed with a crystallized airplane and the buffet held the lovely bride's cake which was a gift of the maid of honor. Mirrored against the wedding cake were tall pink carnations and sweet peas.

"Out of town guests were from Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri.

"Immediately after the reception, the young couple left on a wedding trip to Florida and other places along the coast, after which they will make their home in Washington, D. C., where Lieutenant Cheatwood is connected with the United States Air corps."

Spanish War Auxiliary Observes 10th Birthday

In commemoration of the tenth anniversary of its organization Thompson Wood Lee auxiliary No. 10, U. S. W. V., entertained with a beautifully planned birthday party with members of the camp as guests. Mrs. Stella Courtney, the auxiliary first president, is again holding this important office and was in a measure responsible for the success of the affair. A short business session was held prior to the festivities, only routine business being discussed.

A most interesting history of the outstanding activities of the auxiliary during the past ten years was given by Mrs. Alma McKee, historian and past president. She said in part: "In looking backward much has been accomplished by this small band of patriotic women during the ten years they have been organized.

"One of the most noteworthy achievements was the care of the adopted grandmother who was the responsibility of the auxiliary members until her death a year ago. Another outstanding project, sponsored by the auxiliary, is the essay contest open to the high school students of Monroe. This contest was begun during Mrs. Mamie Arnette's first term of office as president. Last year the award was won by a member of the graduating class of the Ouachita Parish High school, Miss Aline Smith. She was given a check for twenty-five dollars, the national award, in addition to a beautiful gold medal by the local auxiliary. The veterans in the hospital at Alexandria are also remembered with cigarettes, candy, books, as are the veterans in the leprosarium at Carville.

"Many things too numerous to mention have been done by the auxiliary and the end is not yet for they stand ready to live up to the motto of the organization, 'Love and Service.'"

Impromptu talks were given by the department president, Mrs. Sarah Gossett, Commander of the Camp P. M. Gayle and R. W. Germany, W. B. Mangham, J. F. Block, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, former president of Thompson Wood Lee, and Mrs. W. J. Stodgill of Ruston.

A short musical program featuring E. D. Ross, who played the harmonica, and Mrs. Ross, pianist, was enjoyed during the evening. Songs popular during the Spanish-American war were featured. Miss Marguerite King entertained with several piano numbers.

The cutting of the beautifully embossed birthday cake by the president and the serving of a variety of confections by a coterie of young girls, concluded the evening's pleasures.

Deep Religious Significance Of Palm Sunday Will Prevail In Monroe Today

Society Anticipates Great Joy Of Easter

Mr. And Mrs. Sherrouse And Mrs. Wallace Return From Florida; Other Sojourners Back

By Eve Bradford

PALM Sunday! A day of deep religious significance. Voices will be lifted fervently in song today, reminding one that it was on Palm Sunday that Christ made his last triumphant entry into Jerusalem.

The singing of The Palms is always a distinct feature of of church services today. How beautiful the words—"O'er all the way green palms and blossoms gay are strewn this day in festal preparation. Where Jesus comes to wipe our sins away—E'en now the throng to welcome him prepare—Join all and sing. His name declare, let every voice resound with acclamation."

Easter arrives early this year with more than the usual quota of beautiful flowers and many charming vistas into the future. The approach of Easter blows new life into our sartorial existence. The peak of the parade next Sunday will be between 12 and 1 when the church services are over and hat-conscious women will walk forth in all the glory of their new raiment. Few women can resist wearing their newest, most spring-like ensembles, although some have been known to join the parade with supreme indifference.

Helen and John Sherrouse and Mabel Wallace, just back from Miami and Palm Beach, tell us that a fur coat is a real asset this year. The days are bright and very fair, but O, you northwest wind, more unkind even than ingratitude! When the moon beamed over the tropical sea it was most unromantic to be thinking about electric heaters. Very depressing to search among one's belongings for warm woolies when a dip in the ocean was one of the reasons for motoring to Florida.

Motorists just back from the Bellingrath Gardens in Mobile tell us that the gardens are more beautiful this year than ever before. The azaleas are now at the height of their glory and the wisteria hangs like purple incense over the scene.

Glamour aplenty last week at the Allan Jones concert with society putting its best foot forward. Vivid colors flashed up and down the aisles part of which was created by those young and lovely D. B. S. members who served as usherettes. The D. B. S. president, Gay Noe, like a bird of bright plumage flew up and down the aisle in a cerise chiffon gown with a wide cerise velvet ribbon forming a bow at the crown of her head and falling beyond the waistline.

As usual when a celebrity is in our midst for any length of time, stories fly thick and fast. Allan Jones, however, did something that few celebrities would even think of doing. He sang a lullaby for a certain little boy whose nurse was in a measure responsible for the song. It seems that the little boy's parents entertained with an informal cocktail party after the concert. The baby, upstairs in the nursery, was wakeful and the nurse timidly stated that she was sure he would go to sleep if Mr. Jones would sing for him. He promptly mounted the stairs to the nursery and soon the baby, under the spell of his magic voice, was fast asleep.

Again the fact is proved that it is the gentleness and the kindness in men that makes them great.

Frances McHenry, just back from New York, said the air was so frigid she was afraid to venture forth on the shopping trip she had planned for the very next day after she and Carl arrived. The first few days were spent in the theaters, traveling back and forth over the icy streets in a taxi. The weather moderated, however, and the anticipated three days of shopping was crammed into one.

The wintry gales evidently have no terror for Emma Louise Biedenharn. She packed her trunk six or seven weeks ago for a little visit in New York, and still she lingers there reveling in the atmosphere of music and drama.

We doff our new spring bonnet to the artistic soul, member of the Junior Charity League, who arranged the picturesque branches of mauve-colored flowering magnolia in the tall wrought iron standards and placed them on either side of the stage at the Neville auditorium, where they were silhouetted against the dubonnet velvet curtains.

Beauty is never lost, and in this particular case everyone in the audience attending the Allan Jones concert was simply enchanted with the artistry portrayed in the simple floral arrangement.

Local Sodality Gives Pageant

The last in a series of vocational exercises held last week by the Sodality of St. Matthew's Parochial High school included a pageant in which the members of the senior class depicted characters from the various walks of life.

Piano selections, suitable to each vocation portrayed, were rendered by Sister Aloysius, Miss Jo Ann Guerriero read poems in harmony with each animated picture.

The characters were as follows: nurse, Peggy Mirza, and patient, Berchmans Spohrer; bride, Louise Rivoire, groom, Billy Magnani, and their attendants, Helen Devereaux, Marvin DuBos, Frances Cicero and Raymond Magnani; business man, Vincent Anzalone, stenographers, Dorothy Dalton, Nancy Dispensaa and Mary Messina; teacher, Rosemary Worsham and students: Robert Baker, Richard Baker, Frank Bruscato, Leon Cappo, Patricia Ann Cruikshank, Angelo Danna, Christine Inzima, Madeline Lyons, Patricia Miller, Dorothy Wallace; Red Cross nurse, Sara Ellen Glaxner, soldier, Guyton Powers; doctor, Joe Gebhardt and patient, Tommy DuBos; priest, Sam Danna; and the Nun, Mary Charles Burkett.

The closing scene of the pageant featured a tableau in which the characters assembled around the Blessed Virgin Mary, portrayed by Miss Veronica Wilds, Miss Guerriero read the poem, "The Ways of Life."

The program directed and staged by Sister Patricia, climaxed a week of activity devoted to the observance of Vocational Week.

A feature of the week's activities was the talks made by prominent men and women of this city who discussed their various occupations for the purpose of aiding the Sodalist students in choosing their vocation.

Charles Amman and Thomas Block were awarded prizes for contributing the best poster on Vocations.

Jo Ann Ransom Observes Birthday

Birthdays are always a good excuse for merriment, but when, like Jo Ann Ransom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ransom, you are one of those people born in leap year, an official birthday celebration becomes of even greater importance.

Jo Ann, wearing one of her prettiest party frocks, welcomed her guests in the balloon festooned living room of her parents' home. Following an afternoon devoted to the playing of games and contests, the guests were invited to the dining room where the birthday cake was the cynosure. The table, overlaid with lace, was [illegible] tered with fluffy yellow [illegible] and candy eggs of brilliant hue, suggestive of the Easter season.

Ices in the Easter colors were served with individual cakes and [illegible] fections. Easter favors were [illegible] uted among the children at this time including the [illegible], which were set [illegible] in the living room.

Mrs. Ransom was assisted in extending courtesies to her daughter's guests by several intimate friends.

Local Sodality Gives Pageant

The last in a series of vocational exercises held last week by the Sodality of St. Matthew's Parochial High school included a pageant in which the members of the senior class depicted characters from the various walks of life.

Piano selections, suitable to each vocation portrayed, were rendered by Sister Aloysius, Miss Jo Ann Guerriero read poems in harmony with each animated picture.

The characters were as follows: nurse, Peggy Mirza, and patient, Berchmans Spohrer; bride, Louise Rivoire, groom, Billy Magnani, and their attendants, Helen Devereaux, Marvin DuBos, Frances Cicero and Raymond Magnani; business man, Vincent Anzalone, stenographers, Dorothy Dalton, Nancy Dispensa and Mary Messina; teacher, Rosemary Worsham and students: Robert Baker, Richard Baker, Frank Bruscato, Leon Cappo, Patricia Ann Cruikshank, Angelo Danna, Christine Inzima, Madeline Lyons, Patricia Miller, Dorothy Wallace; Red Cross nurse, Sara Ellen Glaxner, soldier, Guyton Powers; doctor, Joe Gebhardt and patient, Tommy DuBos; priest, Sam Danna; and the Nun, Mary Charles Burkett.

The closing scene of the pageant featured a tableau in which the characters assembled around the Blessed Virgin Mary, portrayed by Miss Veronica Wilds, Miss Guerriero read the poem, "The Ways of Life."

The program directed and staged by Sister Patricia, climaxed a week of activity devoted to the observance of Vocational Week.

A feature of the week's activities was the talks made by prominent men and women of this city who discussed their various occupations for the purpose of aiding the Sodalist students in choosing their vocation.

Charles Amman and Thomas Block were awarded prizes for contributing the best poster on Vocations.

Jo Ann Ransom Observes Birthday

Birthdays are always a good excuse for merriment, but when, like Jo Ann Ransom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ransom, you are one of those people born in leap year, an official birthday celebration becomes of even greater importance.

Jo Ann, wearing one of her prettiest party frocks, welcomed her guests in the balloon festooned living room of her parents' home. Following an afternoon devoted to the playing of games and contests, the guests were invited to the dining room where the birthday cake was the cynosure. The table, overlaid with lace, was scattered with fluffy yellow rabbits and candy eggs of brilliant hue, suggestive of the Easter season.

Ices in the Easter colors were served with individual cakes and other confections. Easter favors were distributed among the children at this time, including the balloons, which were set adrift in the living room.

Mrs. Ransom was assisted in extending courtesies to her daughter's guests by several intimate friends.

Wishing Jo Anne happy birthday on her eighth anniversary, were: Ann Bernman, David Louis Borman, Betty Crewthirds, Buddie Swain, Fred Huenefeld, Wayne McDonald, Joan Snelling, Clara Munholland, Raymond Wilonzick, John Robert Thompson, Bobbie Andrews, Baby Sister Guerriero, Patricia Guerriero, Patricia Wadley, Maurine Linquist, Barlow Inabnet, Fred Hancock, John Hardy, Filhiol, Wilma Sandle, Beckie Hatfield, Linda Hair, Billy Hatfield, Tommie Sue Eaves, Mary Wilton, McDonald, Ann Todd, Bettie Jane Bennett, Sarah Ellen Bruno, Marjorie Sue Norton, Eula Clay Demanchey, Elizabeth Rush, R. Missouri Pacific Women's Club Tea Marks Seven Years Of Achievement

CLUB WOMEN OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY . . .

Prominent members of the Missouri Pacific Women's club served as hostesses when the seventh anniversary of the club's existence was observed in charming manner during the tea hour last Monday. Reading from left to right they are: Mrs. J. C. Leath, club president, Mrs. S. A. Moss, charter member and organizer, Mrs. G. E. Bruce, Mrs. P. J. Newman, Mrs. P. B. Collier, Mrs. A. E. Loyd, and Mrs. J. G. Keller.

June Griffin, lovely young daughter of Mrs. J. E. Griffin, entertained six of her most intimate friends at dinner in celebration of her twelfth birthday anniversary. They are all popular members of Monroe's younger beau monde. Reading from left to right, top row, they are: Joy Harper, Sally Foster, Patsy Snelling, Gail Stewart. Lower row: Betty Hale, Mary Alice Mickel and the young hostess. Pictures taken in techni-color were a distinct feature of the evening's pleasures.

Six Past Presidents Present At Occasion

Charming Informality Prevails During Receiving Hours; Many Guests Present

A significant event in Missouri Pacific Women's club circles was the tea Monday afternoon in the flower banked club rooms, commemorating seven years of splendid achievement.

Six past presidents of the Missouri Pacific Women's club who have interested themselves in the work being done, were present on this occasion and stood with this year's president, Mrs. J. C. Leath, to welcome the guest and to extend courtesies for which this club has an enviable reputation. The past presidents are Mrs. S. A. Moss, Mrs. G. E. Bruce, Mrs. P. J. Newman, Mrs. J. G. Keller, Mrs. P. B. Collier and Mrs. A. E. Loyd.

Charming informality prevailed during the receiving hours with a musical program rendered by Mrs. Dean Selig, violinist, and Mrs. Audie Moffett, pianist, a distinct feature.

The tea table, overlaid with handsome lace, was developed in shades of yellow with an immense crystal bowl overflowing with yellow daffodils, forming the central floral note. Candles in silver candelabra gleamed along the board where silver trays held assorted confections.

Mrs. C. W. Oseland and Mrs. M. R. Hausherr presided over the silver coffee urns gracing either end of the table. They were assisted by Mrs. C. O. Bedgood, Mrs. C. W. Dodgen, Mrs. L. C. DeMasterson, Mrs. C. R. Pedigo and Mrs. Barney Roe.

Others extending courtesies were Mrs. A. J. Speer, Mrs. W. E. Young, Mrs. Gus Williams and Mrs. A. R. Thompson.

Of charming sentiment was the presentation of beautiful corsages to the past presidents and all those who assisted in the courtesies including Mrs. Leath.

The splendid cooperation existing among the members of this club is the secret perhaps of its rapid growth and the firm niche the club now occupies in the civic life of the city. Members who have worked side by side, striving at all times to uphold the ideals of the club, were present, en masse to assist in making the seventh anniversary an event of great social significance.

Among the members noted were:

Mmes. P. B. Collier, A. J. Speer, W. E. Young, F. C. McMullen, M. R. Hausherr, O. M. Dowdey, B. R. Roe, S. A. Moss, L. E. Hately, Gus Williams, W. E. Burke, Maymie E. Flacy, J. C. Leath, A. R. Thompson, P. O. Bedgood, E. K. Hunt, C. W. Oseland, H. L. Cavaness, H. L. Moore, Paul Newman, J. G. Keller, L. N. DeMasterson, George Bruce, C. W. Dodgen, W. C. Lanier, R. E. Evans, J. H. Moore, C. R. Pedigo, H. H. Gudger, G. L. Baker, Estelle Brantley, Alma Boyette, L. O. Harkness, A. E. Loyd, J. L. Hargrove, A. G. Thornton, L. A. Allen, Winfred Pitcock, D. H. Marshall, F. X. Shaughnessy and Jack Clawson.

Visitors: Mmes. Robert Wunch, Rose Harris, M. P. Hebert, George Bordelon of Alexandria, L. W. Kessler, Frank Edney, J. L. Coenan, Dean Selig, Audie Moffett, G. M. Snellings, D. A. Breard, May Williams of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Thomas Davenport, F. Shows, W. M. Harper, Charles H. Reid, J. A. Winkler, Jr., Bert Coverdale, G. A. Bennett, James A. Noe, Ted Mahr, Miss Lora Mae Thompson, Mr. S. A. Moss, and Mrs. May Williams of Detroit, Mich.

Music Guild Meets With Mrs. Lawson

Mrs. E. Everett Lawson was hostess on Wednesday afternoon, when members of the Music Guild met at her home for their first March meeting.

At the conclusion of the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. P. A. Poag, members read in unison the quotation which prefaced the scheduled program on "Bohemia, Hungary and Poland"—"With melting airs, or martial, brisk or grave; some chord in unison with what we hear is touched within us and the heart replies."

As Bohemia has found musical recognition through Smetana and Dvorak, Hungary through Liszt and Poland through Chopin and Paderewski, these countries merit special mention in the year's study of "Music From All Nations."

Mrs. H. M. James presented a comprehensive paper concerning "Musical Achievements of Bohemian, Hungarian and Polish Composers," and said in part.

"The countries of Bohemia and Hungary have given to the world some of its best composers and compositions, one of the most famous being Dvorak. He was educated in the music school in Prague, and is known as one of the most gifted composers of the modern school. He wrote symphonies, cantatas, sacred works and chamber music. His 'Spectre's Bride,' the remarkable 'New World Symphony' and the piano quintet, 'Op. 81,' are exceptionally fine work.

"Liszt is probably the greatest Hungarian composer. His artistic performance in Weimar, as conductor of the court orchestra made it one of the most vital musical centers of the continent. Liszt distinguished himself, also, as a composer, and a considerable body of music bears his name. Being also an author of much merit, he made valuable contributions to the literature of music.

"Poland, through a setting for turbulance during the past two centuries, has always been rich in historical works and memoirs. She possesses writers, musicians and painters, whose genius is recognized in all parts of the world. Rich material for song has been furnished by the dramatic history of Poland, so full of splendor and military glory. Waclaw, born in 1529, was the most outstanding of the early composers. Of the later school, the name of Chopin (1810-1849) synonymous with beauty, grace, delicacy and imaginative genius. Many of Polands great composers and musicians were students of Chopin. All his life the delicate charm and expression of his playing excited great public attention. From 1831 to his death, Chopin lived in Paris."

"One of the present day geniuses of piano is Paderewski, Polish statesman, composer and genius. He is one of the greatest masters of the piano the world has ever known."

Succeeding numbers on the program were compositions representative of composers of the above European group.

Mrs. Dallas Goss sang "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak.

Scharwenka's piano duet "Suite Op. 41" was played by Mrs. F. C. Holden and Mrs. Willys Hopkins.

Mrs. Clyde Pedigo rendered the vocal solo "Thou Art Like a Flower," by Rubinstein. Mrs. E. Everett Lawson was piano accompanist.

The hostess served refreshments during the social hour to Mesdames J. Norman Coon, R. W. Cretney, P. A. Colvin, Dallas Goss, F. C. Holden, Willys Hopkins, H. M. James, B. B. Martin, Reynolds McWilliams, Paul Newman, P. A. Poag, Clyde Pedigo, Raymond Spence, Mrs. C. L. Shear of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. C. T. Long of Maryland.

Mrs. Poag Fetes Opera Club

Members of the Opera club enjoyed the cordial hospitality extended in the home of Mrs. P. A. Poag on Thursday with Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, co-hostess. A delicious luncheon course was served the guests upon arrival.

The meeting was opened with the singing of the club song "Louisiana" and was followed by the collect. Two new members were introduced at this time, Mrs. B. R. Colvin and Mrs. John C. Best, Jr.

A business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. Norman Coon. Plans for future activities were discussed.

The study of the "Wagnerian Cycle of Operas" was continued with "Die Walkure," the music drama in three acts, the second of the "Der Ring des Nibeluger" series. Music and libretto by Richard Wagner was first produced in Munich, June 25, 1870. In continuing the story from the last lesson Mrs. Norman Coon told of the mighty god, Wotan, fearing the dire consequences that might befall him for having owned the magic ring, cursed by its rightful owner, Alverich, the gnome, had caused a band of warrior-maidens, the Valkyries, to guard his kingdom day and night. And upon earth he had begotten Siegmund and Sieglinde, two splendid children, whom he had watched grow up in ignorance of one another, predestining them to meet and give the world a valorous, mighty son.

Those present at this time were Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. E. J. Hinkle, Mrs. J. C. Kramer, Jr., Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. Paul Newman, Mrs. C. W. Oseland, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. E. R. Whitaker, Mrs. R. O. Ware, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. C. R. Pedigo, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Miss Clara Frieberg, Mrs. Raymond Spence, Mrs. W. R. Windham and Mrs. D. M. Smith.

Readers Clique Holds Meeting

Mrs. Raymond John arranged bowls of purple and yellow narcissi in her home when she entertained members of the Readers Clique, Thursday afternoon.

Following the short business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. Leon Dennis, the members and guests were entertained with a constructive lecture on flowers by Mrs. W. M. Harper, guest speaker for the afternoon. Mrs. Harper's subject, "Fun with Flowers" covered flower arrangement and several interesting points to remember when purchasing flowers from florists. Always place flowers in water several minutes before arranging. In placing them one by one in your vase, it is much easier to blend the contrasting colors. Don't use tall vases of flowers on coffee tables or in front of mirrors. This should also be kept in mind when using flowers for the center piece on your dining table. Fancy containers are not always the best to use. Don't have flowers too fixed or exact. Gardenias have to be sprinkled as they use water through their petals.

Members present were: Mesdames Cecil Blanchard, X. Holt, J. S. Harbuck, John Whitfield, Merrell Williams, Fred Hemler, Leon Dennis, Burl Hollis, Mike John, Jr., R. O. Ware, R. C. Kester, Raymond John, and guests, Mrs. R. K. Howard and Mrs. W. M. Harper.

Public Library Popular With Men

Men are turning, more and more, to the Monroe public library for their reading material. There was a time, not far back, when men shied away from the library, regarding it as a place for women and children to browse. Today, according to the library staff, men are fast becoming regular patrons as they find there, books of interest for their serious and recreational reading.

For the benefit of men in this community who are unaware of the wealth of reading material available, the following books are suggested by a member of the staff:

"Country Lawyer," by Bellamy Partridge, "Factories in the Field," by Carey McWilliams; "The Nazarene" (a novel based on the life of Christ), by Sholem Asch; "The New Adventures of Ellery Queen," by Ellery Queen; "The Ramparts We Watch," by George Fielding Elliot; "Inside Asia and Inside Europe," by John Gunther; "Through Embassy Eyes," by Martha Dodd; "Anthony Eden," by Alan Campbell Johnson; "Book of Major Sports," by William Hughes; "How Criminals Are Caught," by Arnold Miles; "You and Heredity," by Amran Scheinfeld; "Soilless Growth of Plants," by Carlton Ellis.

Brown-Heath

Of interest was the marriage of Miss Winifred Heath, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Heath of Mangham, and Mr. H. Leon Brown, son of Mrs. W. H. Brown and the late W. H. Brown of Clarksville, Tex.

The ceremony was quietly solomnized in the home of the bride's parents Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock, with Rev. John J. Kitchingham of Columbia officiating.

The bride was lovely in a moonlight blue model with navy accessories. Her corsage was of white orchids.

Immediately after a 9 o'clock breakfast, which was served to the intimate friends and relatives, the bride changed to a lovely navy model appropriate for their honeymoon trip to Clarksville, Tex. After a visit with the parents of the groom, the couple have returned and will be at home to their friends in Winnsboro, where Mr. Brown is designing florist for the Winnsboro Flower Shoppe.

A springtime wedding characterized by lovely simplicity was that of Miss Lucille Petty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Landry Petty, and John Samuel Holmes, son of Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Holmes of Eros, La., on the third of March, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Petty, 704 Bres avenue, this city, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. F. L. Hearne in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bride wore a beautiful model of poudre blue crepe with navy blue accessories with a corsage of gardenias and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held with Mrs. Petty extending gracious courtesies.

The bride's table in the dining room, overlaid with handsome lace, was adorned with the beautifully embossed wedding cake which was cut by the bride and served with other confections. At either end of the table was a crystal bowl overflowing with white carnations and gardenias.

The beautiful wedding gifts, including linen, china, silver and crystal, were on display in a room set apart for this purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes left for a honeymoon on the gulf coast and New Orleans and will later be at home in Eros where Mr. Holmes is a prominent young business man.

Mrs. Holmes is a graduate of the Waverly, Tenn., high school and was graduated from the Monroe Commercial school. Mr. Holmes attended Louisiana Polytechnic institute at Ruston.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. Holmes, parents of the bride-groom and Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Ray of Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Golson and Mrs. J. P. Golson of Eros.

Music Guild Meets With Mrs. Lawson

Mrs. E. Everett Lawson was hostess on Wednesday afternoon, when members of the Music Guild met at her home for their first March meeting.

At the conclusion of the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. P. A. He was educated in the music school in Prague, and is known as one of the most gifted composers of the modern school. He wrote symphonies, cantatas, sacred works and chamber music. His 'Spectre's Bride,' the remarkable 'New World Symphony' and the piano quintet, 'Op. 81,' are exceptionally fine work.

"Liszt is probably the greatest Hungarian composer. His artistic performance in Weimar, as conductor of the court orchestra made it one of the most vital musical centers of the continent. Liszt distinguished himself, also, as a composer, and a considerable body of music bears his name. Being also an author of much merit, he made valuable contributions to the literature of music.

"Poland, through a setting for turbulance during the past two centuries, has always been rich in historical works and memoirs. She possesses writers, musicians and painters, whose genius is recognized in all parts of the world. Rich material for song has been furnished by the dramatic history of Poland, so full of splendor and military glory. Waclaw, born in 1529, was the most outstanding of the early composers. Of the later school, the name of Chopin (1810-1849) is synonymous with beauty, grace, delicacy and imaginative genius. Many of Polands great composers and musicians were students of Chopin. All his life the delicate charm and expression of his playing excited great public attention. From 1831 to his death, Chopin lived in Paris."

"One of the present day geniuses of piano is Paderewski, Polish statesman, composer and genius. He is one of the greatest masters of the piano the world has ever known."

Succeeding numbers on the program were compositions representative of composers of the above European group.

Mrs. Dallas Goss sang "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak.

Scharwenka's piano duet "Suite Op. 41" was played by Mrs. F. C. Holden and Mrs. Willys Hopkins.

Mrs. Clyde Pedigo rendered the vocal solo "Thou Art Like a Flower," by Rubinstein. Mrs. E. Everett Lawson was piano accompanist.

The hostess served refreshments during the social hour to Mesdames J. Norman Coon, R. W. Cretney, P. A. Colvin, Dallas Goss, F. C. Holden, Willys Hopkins, H. M. James, B. B. Martin, Reynolds McWilliams, Paul Newman, P. A. Poag, Clyde Pedigo, Raymond Spence, Mrs. C. L. Shear of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. C. T. Long of Maryland.

Mrs. Poag Fetes Opera Club

Members of the Opera club enjoyed the cordial hospitality extended in the home of Mrs. P. A. Poag on Thursday with Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, co-hostess. A delicious luncheon course was served the guests upon arrival.

The meeting was opened with the singing of the club song "Louisiana" and was followed by the collect. Two new members were introduced at this time, Mrs. B. R. Colvin and Mrs. John C. Best, Jr.

A business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. Norman Coon. Plans for future activities were discussed.

The study of the "Wagnerian Cycle of Operas" was continued with "Die Walkure," the music drama in three acts, the second of the "Der Ring des Nibeluger" series. Music and libretto by Richard Wagner was first produced in Munich, June 25, 1870. In continuing the story from the last lesson Mrs. Norman Coon told of the mighty god, Wotan, fearing the dire consequences that might befall him for having owned the magic ring, cursed by its rightful owner, Alverich, the gnome, had caused a band of warrior-maidens, the Valkyries, to guard his kingdom day and night. And upon earth he had begotten Siegmund and Sieglinde, two splendid children, whom he had watched grow up in ignorance of one another, predestining them to meet and give the world a valorous, mighty son.

Readers Clique Holds Meeting

Mrs. Raymond John arranged bowls of purple and yellow narcissi in her home when she entertained members of the Readers Clique, Thursday afternoon.

Following the short business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. Leon Dennis, the members and guests were entertained with a constructive lecture on flowers by Mrs. W. M. Harper, guest speaker for the afternoon. Mrs. Harper's subject, "Fun with Flowers" covered flower arrangement and several interesting points to remember when purchasing flowers from florists. Always place flowers in water several minutes before arranging. In placing them one by one in your vase, it is much easier to blend the contrasting colors. Don't use tall vases of flowers on coffee tables or in front of mirrors. This should also be kept in mind when using flowers for the center piece on your dining table. Fancy containers are not always the best to use. Don't have flowers too fixed or exact. Gardenias have to be sprinkled as they use water through their petals.

Members present were: Mesdames Cecil Blanchard, X. Holt, J. S. Harbuck, John Whitfield, Merrell Williams, Fred Hemler, Leon Dennis, Burl Hollis, Mike John, Jr., R. O. Ware, R. C. Kester, Raymond John, and guests, Mrs. R. K. Howard and Mrs. W. M. Harper.

Public Library Popular With Men

Men are turning, more and more, to the Monroe public library for their reading material. There was a time, not far back, when men shied away from the library, regarding it as a place for women and children to browse. Today, according to the library staff, men are fast becoming regular patrons as they find there, books of interest for their serious and recreational reading.

For the benefit of men in this community who are unaware of the wealth of reading material available, the following books are suggested by a member of the staff:

"Country Lawyer," by Bellamy Partridge, "Factories in the Field," by Carey McWilliams; "The Nazarene" (a novel based on the life of Christ), by Sholem Asch; "The New Adventures of Ellery Queen," by Ellery Queen; "The Ramparts We Watch," by George Fielding Elliot; "Inside Asia and Inside Europe," by John Gunther; "Through Embassy Eyes," by Martha Dodd; "Anthony Eden," by Alan Campbell Johnson; "Book of Major Sports," by William Hughes; "How Criminals Are Caught," by Arnold Miles; "You and Heredity," by Amran Scheinfeld; "Soilless Growth of Plants," by Carlton Ellis.

Brown-Heath

Of interest was the marriage of Miss Winifred Heath, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Heath of Mangham, and Mr. H. Leon Brown, son of Mrs. W. H. Brown and the late W. H. Brown of Clarksville, Tex.

The ceremony was quietly solomnized in the home of the bride's parents Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock, with Rev. John J. Kitchingham of Columbia officiating.

The bride was lovely in a moonlight blue model with navy accessories. Her corsage was of white orchids.

Immediately after a 9 o'clock breakfast, which was served to the intimate friends and relatives, the bride changed to a lovely navy model appropriate for their honeymoon trip to Clarksville, Tex. After a visit with the parents of the groom, the couple have returned and will be at home to their friends in Winnsboro, where Mr. Brown is designing florist for the Winnsboro Flower Shoppe.

A springtime wedding characterized by lovely simplicity was that of Miss Lucille Petty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Landry Petty, and John Samuel Holmes, son of Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Holmes of Eros, La., on the third of March, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Petty, 704 Bres avenue, this city, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. F. L. Hearne in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bride's attendant, Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith, wore a lovely spring model of ashes of roses with navy blue accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses and pink sweet peas. The bridegroom was attended by Merlin Milstead of Sterlington, La.

The bride wore a beautiful model of poudre blue crepe with navy blue accessories with a corsage of gardenias and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held with Mrs. Petty extending gracious courtesies.

The bride's table in the dining room, overlaid with handsome lace, was adorned with the beautifully embossed wedding cake which was cut by the bride and served with other confections. At either end of the table was a crystal bowl overflowing with white carnations and gardenias.

The beautiful wedding gifts, including linen, china, silver and crystal, were on display in a room set apart for this purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes left for a honeymoon on the gulf coast and New Orleans and will later be at home in Eros where Mr. Holmes is a prominent young business man.

Mrs. Holmes is a graduate of the Waverly, Tenn., high school and was graduated from the Monroe Commercial school. Mr. Holmes attended Louisiana Polytechnic institute at Ruston.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. Holmes, parents of the bride-groom and Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Ray of Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Golson and Mrs. J. P. Golson of Eros.

Miss Rainwater Weds James Thomas Sumrall

Monroe friends motored over to Ruston to attend the wedding of James Thomas Sumrall, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Sumrall, of this city, whose marriage to Miss Elizabeth Rainwater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Hudson Rainwater of Ruston, was a prominent event of March 9 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rainwater.

The Ruston Daily Leader gave the following account of the wedding:

"As the grandfather clock in the hall chimed the half-hour, five-thirty, Mrs. S. L. White, pianist, rendered a pre-nuptial concert featuring Nevin's 'A Wedding Intermezzo.' At this time, the bride's brother, Mr. B. H. Rainwater, Jr., and her cousin, Mr. Joseph Davidson, lighted the altar candles. Miss Mary Edith Thurman, accompanied by Mrs. White, sang 'The Sweetest Story Ever Told,' by R. M. Stultz, after which Mrs. White played Carrie Jacobs Bond's 'I Love You Truly.'

"The strains of Wagner's Wedding March from 'Lohengrin' signaled the entrance of the maid-of-honor, Mrs. Robert Lane Fuller, the bride's sister, who wore a gown of Marlborough blue starched silk marquisette, over taffeta, trimmed in Point Venice lace, and carried an arm bouquet of pink Briarcliffe roses tied with rose-pink satin. Little Jane Elizabeth Fuller, the bride's niece, acted as flower girl. She wore white net over pink taffeta, and carried a white basket of rose petals.

"The bride was met at the foot of the smilax-entwined staircase by her father. She wore a wedding gown of white slipper satin. It was an Emily model fashioned in bouffant lines with a basque bodice, sweetheart neckline, full gathered hoop-skirt, and long wrist-length Schiaparelli sleeves, puffed at the shoulder and shirred below the elbow. The shoulder pouffs had inserts of hand-run Alencon lace. Her long train-length veil of white tulle was held in place by a Queen Anne coronet of seed pearls. Her bouquet was of calla lilies and lilies-of-the-valley tied with white satin. For something old, she carried a point lace handkerchief which had been used by her mother, and her sister, at their weddings.

"The bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Alton Westbrook, waited for the bride at the candle-lighted altar in the sunroom. Here smilax and spirea entwined a white trellis background. A satin pillow was placed between two graceful baskets filled with Madonna lilies and white snapdragon, and the doorway was framed effectively in garlands of winter huckleberry and white spirea. The scene was illuminated by dozens of tall white tapers, burning in branched candelabra of graduated heights. Rev. Hicks, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, read the double-ring ceremony. The bride's ring of yellow gold was fashioned from the wedding band worn by the bridegroom's grandmother.

"During the reception Mr. and Mrs. Rainwater and Mr. and Mrs. Sumrall received with the bride and the bridegroom and their attendants. Mrs. Rainwater was smartly gowned in a becoming model of Ashes of Roses crepe. Her corsage was of white gladioli. Mrs. Sumrall wore pink chiffon and lace and a corsage of white carnations.

"A room was set apart for the handsome wedding gifts, prominent among them being the silver coffee and tea service, a gift from the bride's parents.

"The bride changed her wedding raiment for a navy blue Princess coat over a navy blue sheer dress with white lace at the neckline. Her hat was a navy blue sailor and she wore a corsage of sweetheart roses.

"Following a honeymoon in Hot Springs, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Sumrall will be at home in Shreveport where Mr. Sumrall holds an executive position with the Bancroft Paper company.

"The bride is a graduate of L. P. I. and is a member of Kappa Delta sorority. She studied for a year in New York City, where she received her master's degree from Columbia university. Mr. Sumrall is a graduate of L. P. I., where he was prominent in athletics. He is a member of Omega Kappa fraternity. Since graduation he has been employed by the Bancroft company."

MOTHER AND CHILD . . .

Mrs. J. Howard Morgan of San Antonio, is seen here with her infant daughter, Linda. They were guests for the past two weeks of Mrs. Morgan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watts of West Monroe. Mrs. Morgan will be remembered as Miss Mary Virginia Watts.

Through a daring and subtle scheme of revenge Eisenstein plots the downfall of his one-time friend, and thereafter his letters are returned to Eisenstein—"Address Unknown." In this short story of only sixty-four pages, Kressman Taylor sums up the "tragic meaning behind the widening crack between today's theologies."

Miss Addie Gilbert Becomes Bride Of Robert Mitchell Hammons At Wisner

Methodist Church Scene Of Ceremony

Rites Solemnized By Bridegroom's Brother, Informal Reception Follows

A wedding of considerable interest to friends in this section of the state united in marriage Miss Addie Gilbert, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Harry W. Gilbert of Wisner, and Robert Mitchell Hammons, son of Mrs. J. E. Hammons of Dubach, Saturday morning March 9, at the Wisner Methodist church with Rev. Howard Hammons, bother of the bridegroom, officiating in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives.

Pews set aside for members of the family and intimate friends were designated by fluffs of white tulle and sprigs of white blossoms.

Mrs Thomas Gilbert and Mr. Lannie Calhoun, Jr., sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and Mr. Calhoun sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Mrs Lannie Calhoun, Jr.

As the bridal party entered the church, Mrs. Lannie Calhoun, Sr., played the wedding march from "Lohengrin." During the ceremony she played "Liebestraum" by Liszt and the recessional by Mendelssohn.

Mrs. Harry Walker, Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a Kalmour gown of camellia pink, double silk net, with basque bodice of Venetian lace and puffed sleeves. On her head she wore a bonnet-style coronet of net and carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Hall Hammons, brother of the bridegroom was best man. The ushers were Jess Gilbert, Eldon Brown, Gilbert Hetherwick and Harry Walker, Jr.

A coronet of fresh orange blossoms, tinted pink, was attached to the billowy veil of bridal illusion. She carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

An informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony.

A charming pre-nuptial courtesy bestowed upon Miss Addie Gilbert and her fiance, Robert M. Hammons, was the dinner party arranged by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gilbert in their home in Wisner, with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Foster, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Baker and Mrs. Fannie A. Gilbert, co-hosts.

The dinner table was also fragrant with flowers overflowing from an immense silver bowl. Silver candlesticks supporting white tapers were placed at the four corners.

China baskets filled with beautiful white blossoms marked covers for Miss Gilbert, who wore a smare Milgrim model of black taffeta with white lingerie trimming, and Mr. Gilbert Hammons, Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Hammons and daughter, Dolores, of Alto, Mrs. J. E. Hammons of Dubach, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hammons and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Owen of Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Walker, Jr., of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hetherwick and daughter, June, and son, Gilbert, of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Lannie Calhoun, Jr., and Mrs. Lannie Calhoun, Sr., of Gilbert, H. W. Prominent Speakers On P.-T. A. Program

Mrs. Paul Blanchard And Mrs. L. A. Mailhes Give Talks At Fifth District Meeting

Prominent speakers on the program of the Fifth district P.-T. A., held Thursday at Claiborne school, were Mrs. Paul Blanchard, Baton Rouge, president of the Louisiana P.-T. A., and Mrs. L. A. Mailhes, Shreveport, past state president, who conducted a school of instruction. Mrs. Fagan Cox, first vice-president of the state organization, presided during the session, which was opened with prayer by Mrs. Lizzie Morris. Greetings were extended by Mrs. M. L. DeFreese and Mrs. H. P. Smith and the response was made by Mrs. Carl Couch of this city.

Mrs. Blanchard reviewed the legislative program of the Louisiana P.-T. A., stating that the measures now being sponsored by the national congress of parents and teachers are the Neely bill, the child labor amendment and the federal aid bill. State legislation which the parent-teacher group is considering includes the twelve year school plan, the rededication of the severance tax and the support of the safety drivers license law. According to Mrs. Blanchard, a movement is now on foot to add a clause to the Louisiana marriage laws, requiring that a five-day notice be given before the issuance of a marriage license. Opposition has been expressed by the organization to the legalizing of the national lottery and the advertising of liquors over the radio.

Mrs. Mailhes, who was, until recently, vice-president of the national congress of parents and teachers, stressed the importance of developing leadership, educational advancement, an informed public opinion and the ability to think and work together.

Participants in the school of instruction were Mrs. Sep Hetherwick of Shreveport, who spoke on "Districts and Councils"; Mrs. Carl Couch, whose topic was "Membership"; "Program Planning" was discussed by Mrs. Paul Keller, president of the Twin Cities' Council of Parent-Teacher associations; "Summer Roundup," Mrs. J. B. Best, Shreveport; "Committees and Their Duties," Mrs. A. B. Fuller, Shreveport; "Reports," Mrs. C. W. Williams, Monroe; "Publicity," Mrs. Nell Grigsby; "Publications," Miss Myrtle Rodgers. After the school of instruction a question box was conducted by Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Mailhes.

During the noon day period, the members of the Claiborne Parent-Teacher association served luncheon to the delegates.

Outstanding business during the afternoon session was the election of three candidates for district director. Mrs. W. M. Greenwell, Mrs. C. C. Lindley and Mrs. Louis Rainwater were nominated. Theme director will be selected from these three candidates by the state board of managers at their next meeting, which will be held in April.

Scrap books receiving honorable mention were those of the Neville High school Parent-Teacher association, the Ouachita Parish association and St. Matthew's.

An unusual display of safety posters was on exhibition. The safety poster contest is sponsored every year by Mrs. G. B. Wilson, state safety chairman, and all posters in the exhibit are made by children.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the state convention, which will be held April 18, 19, 20 in Lake Charles.

Much credit is due Mrs. Allen Ritter, who has served as secretary of St. Matthews P.-T. A. this year. Mrs. Ritter, who recently compiled a parent-teacher scrap book, receiving honorable mention at the Fifth district meeting, has been a diligent worker in the organization and much of the success of the association has been the result of her valuable cooperation with the president, Mrs. Charles Guerriero.

Children's theater fans are looking forward to the presentation of "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp" at the Neville High school auditorium Thursday afternoon at 4 p.m. Members of the cast will be children of Barkdull Faulk school and the play will be given under the sponsorship of the Barkdull Faulk P.-T. A.

This play will be the last of a series given by the group. Other plays given during the winter have been "Under the Lilacs" and "Rip Van Winkle," both being played before large and appreciative audiences.

Mrs. Paul Blanchard, Baton Rouge, state P.-T. A. president, and Mrs. Mary Harrison of Clarks, director of the Tenth district, were guests last week of Mrs. Fagan Cox during the Fifth district meeting.

Miss Myrtle Rodgers and Mrs. Paul Keller represented the Twin Cities' Council of Parent-Teacher associations at the luncheon of the Council of Social agencies last week.

Scrap books receiving honorable mention at the district meeting were compiled by Mrs. B. B. Handy, Mrs. H. H. Land and Mrs. Allen Ritter of Monroe.

Miss Addie Gilbert Becomes Bride Of Robert Mitchell Hammons At Wisner

Methodist Church Scene Of Ceremony

Rites Solemnized By Bridegroom's Brother; Informal Reception Follows

A wedding of considerable interest to friends in this section of the state united in marriage Miss Addie Gilbert, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Harry W. Gilbert of Wisner, and Robert Mitchell Hammons, son of Mrs. J. E. Hammons of Dubach, Saturday morning March 9, at the Wisner Methodist church with Rev. Howard Hammons, bother of the bridegroom, officiating in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives.

Pews set aside for members of the family and intimate friends were designated by fluffs of white tulle and sprigs of white blossoms.

Mrs. Thomas Gilbert and Mr. Lannie Calhoun, Jr., sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and Mr. Calhoun sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lannie Calhoun, Jr.

As the bridal party entered the church, Mrs. Lannie Calhoun, Sr., played the wedding march from "Lohengrin." During the ceremony she played "Liebestraum" by Liszt and the recessional by Mendelssohn.

Mrs. Harry Walker, Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a Kalmour gown of camellia pink, double silk net, with basque bodice of Venetian lace and puffed sleeves. On her head she wore a bonnet-style coronet of net and carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Hall Hammons, brother of the bridegroom was best man. The ushers were Jess Gilbert, Eldon Brown, Gilbert Hetherwick and Harry Walker, Jr.

The bride wore an Emily gown of flesh-colored double silk net over taffeta with a very full skirt. The waist had a square yoke of Alencon lace caught at the throat with orange blossoms.

A coronet of fresh orange blossoms, tinted pink, was attached to the billowy veil of bridal illusion. She carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

An informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony.

A charming pre-nuptial courtesy bestowed upon Miss Addie Gilbert and her fiance, Robert M. Hammons, was the dinner party arranged by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gilbert in their home in Wisner, with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Foster, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Baker and Mrs. Fannie A. Gilbert, co-hosts.

The reception suite was fragrant with the perfume of many spring flowers placed at vantage points.

The dinner table was also fragrant with flowers overflowing from an immense silver bowl. Silver candlesticks supporting white tapers were placed at the four corners.

China baskets filled with beautiful white blossoms marked covers for Miss Gilbert, who wore a smare Milgrin model of black taffeta with white lingerie trimming, and Mr. Gilbert Hammons, Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Hammons and daughter, Dolores, of Alto, Mrs. J. E. Hammons of Dubach, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hammons and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Owen of Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Walker, Jr., of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hetherwick and daughter, June, and son, Gilbert, of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Lannie Calhoun, Jr., and Mrs. Lannie Calhoun, Sr., of Gilbert, H. W. Gilbert, Mrs. Tom Gilbert, Jess Gilbert, Mrs. Ocie Baker, Mrs. Fannie A. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Foster, Jr.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY . . .

Jo Ann Ransom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ransom, who celebrated her eighth birthday, February 29, with a party. Her birthday is always of special significance as it comes in Leap Year.

Tallulah

Mrs. N. W. Reed of Lake Charles, president of the Louisiana Federation of Garden Clubs, was the honor guest at the March meeting of the Madison Parish Garden club held at "Devine Flowers" on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Reed brought an interesting message in which she outlined the projects of the state federation among them being the flower judging school held in Alexandria, the regional meeting of five states and the state conference in New Orleans and plans for the first short course for garden lovers to be held at L. S. U. in June.

Mrs. Frank Guthrie of Newellton, district director of garden clubs, spoke on the national convention held in Milwaukee where conservation was the theme. Mrs. J. H. Devine gave "Notes from her Little Black Book" a record of trips to places of special interest to garden lovers and garden tours. Mrs. George Eggleston and Mrs. J. K. Post had charge of the display of the month which featured violets, hyacinths, jonquils, lilies, ranunculas in unusual containers.

The president, Mrs. W. R. Gilfoil, presided over the business session. Roll call was answered by the name of a Louisiana tree. The hostesses, Mrs. Devine and Mrs. A. M. Hebert assisted by Mrs. Delma Devine served delicious and attractive refreshments featuring the Easter motif. The guests included Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Guthrie, Mrs. George Webb, Mrs. M. Saiewitz, Mrs. G. S. Stovall, Miss Amy Holmes, Mrs. Clarence Crow, Miss Annette Beers, Mrs. C. A. Sparling, Mrs. R. S. Gayle, Mrs. A. H. Hurd, Mrs. Charles Coltharp, Mrs. J. K. Post, Mrs. George Eggleston, Mrs. A. J. Sevier, Mrs. E. S. Moberley, Mrs. W. D. Buford, Mrs. A. M. Hebert, Mrs. W. R. Gilfoil, Mrs. W. M. Murphy, Miss Elizabeth Williams and Mrs. E. Reed.

The pot luck supper held in the community room of the Methodist church on Wednesday evening was an interesting event of the week. Rev. E. B. Emmerich of Oak Grove, the guest speaker discussed "the Four Kinds of Christians." V. H. Davis served as master of ceremonies when impromptu talks and music were enjoyed. Plans were made for a similar event to be held the first Wednesday evening of the month in the future. At the conclusion, the pastor, Rev. D. W. Poole, explained the Methodist Advance Loyalty campaign and distributed pledge cards for signatures. A delightful spirit of fellowship prevailed.

Mrs. Harry Anderson entertained the members of her club on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. G. L. Smith winning the high score prize for bridge and Mrs. L. S. Grace low score. A delicious hot plate luncheon was served after the games to Mrs. J. W. Huckabay, Mrs. G. L. Smith, Mrs. Paul Schwartz, Mrs. Herman Lancaster, Mrs. Will Harvey, Mrs. Nathan McKie, Mrs. J. D. Halbach and Mrs. Grace.

The Tallulah Book club met at the club house on Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. R. S. Gayle, presiding over the business session. Mrs. Clarence Crow spoke on "The Garden," James Ponder played two cornet solos, "Beer Barrel Polka" and "Oh Johnnie" and Mrs. J. O. Horn rendered a piano solo, "Springtime." During the social period which followed the program delicious refreshments were served. The hostesses were Mrs. M. Saiewitz, Mrs. J. R. Medlin, Mrs. A. L. Scales and R. C. Leeves.

A royal service program was the theme of the monthly meeting of the Baptist Missionary society held at the church. The subject was "Steadfast in the Home Land," and was developed with a talk, "Early Witnesses in the Home Land," by Mrs. Homer Erwin, and "Changing and Unchanging Needs in the Home Land," by Mrs. Bernard Petty. The devotional from Malachi was given by Mrs. Clarence Crow. Mrs. Petty presided over the business session at the conclusion of the program.

The Eveready circle of the Methodist division for Christian service was held at the home of Mrs. Whit Erwin, with Mrs. E. S. Moberley presiding and Mrs. Jesse Anderson serving as secretary. The devotional was given by Mrs. D. W. Poole and Mrs. W. H. Hale conducted the lesson from "The World Outlook."

Delicious refreshments were served to Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Moberley, Mrs. Jesse Anderson, Mrs. C. H. Calhoun, Mrs. K. Gore, Mrs. G. L. Smith, Mrs. Wray Bowie, Mrs. W. H. Erickson, Mrs. Herman Lancaster, Mrs. M. C. Owens, Mrs. Poole and Mrs. Erwin.

Mrs. R. K. Boney has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Davis E. Holt, in Texarkana.

The guild of Trinity Episcopal church met with Mrs. P. O. Benjamin when Miss Maud Cutler of Charlotte, N. C., field worker in Christian education of the Episcopal church, spoke on "Christian Education." Following the business session, presided over by Mrs. W. H. Pierson, a social hour was enjoyed. Those in attendance were Miss Annette Beers, Mrs. A. G. Bray, Mrs. W. J. Ward, Mrs. A. J. Sevier, Mrs. W. S. Craig, Mrs. N. T. Holt, Mrs. Jessie Bonney, Miss Florence Pierson, Mrs. W. H. Pierson, Rev. and Mrs. George A. A. Tocher and Miss Cutler.

W. L. Rountree was called to Ferriday by the critical illness of his father.

Floyd Bondy of Florence, S. C., is visiting friends here. Mr. Bondy is a former resident of Tallulah.

Circle 1 of the Methodist society for Christian service met at the home of Mrs. Charles Coltharp with Mrs. Douglas Fortner presiding over the business session. For the devotional each member gave her favorite verse of scripture and the reason for its choice. Plans were made for an Easter egg sale. A program based on World Outlook, the official publication, was presented by Mrs. J. R. Linton and Mrs. D. H. Allen.

The hostess served coffee and sandwiches during the social hour to Mrs. Wallace Lancaster, Mrs. D. H. Allen, Mrs. Douglas Fortner, Mrs. J. R. Linton, Mrs. H. F. Cassell, Mrs. E. O. Edgerton, Mrs. J. O. Pemberton, Mrs. W. P. Seveir, Mrs. A. B. Kelly and Mrs. Coltharp.

Mrs. Watson McDonald, Mrs. R. S. Gayle and Rev. Clarence Crow attended the funeral services for Mrs. D. A. Brannon at Denham Springs.

The young people of the Methodist church enjoyed a potluck supper at the community room of the church. Talks were made by Mrs. A. F. Graves, Mrs. Ora Spinks, W. H. Erickson, Miss Beulah White, Rev. D. W. Poole and others. Mrs. C. M. Ritchie directed the singing.

Mrs. Roy McCaa has returned from Blytheville, Ark., where she has been visiting her mother, who recently underwent an operation.

Mrs. W. L. Rountree and Mrs. Horace Lee were visitors in Vicksburg, Miss.

Mrs. Dan James has returned from a visit of several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Claud Wray, in Albany, Ga.

Quitman

Miss Blanchard Williams of Shreveport was a recent guest of her mother, Mrs. Ida King.

Steele Featuring Asbestos Siding

J. C. Steele Lumber company, West Monroe, telephone numbers 865 and 866, is featuring Flintkote asbestos siding, the permanent siding that requires no paint, in its residential construction.

Flintkote asbestos siding is also unexcelled in remodeling homes. It can be applied over the old siding and makes an old house look like new.

J. C. Steele Lumber company uses Flintkote Thermoseal felt, a cork insulated felt, under Flintkote asbestos siding. This assures a cooler home in summer and a warmer one in winter.

Thermoseal felt is chemically treated against all insect, particularly termites. This is an exclusive feature.

At all exterior openings, namely, doors and windows, the siding is embedded in caulking compound. This makes the joints airtight and dampproof.

But flintkote products are only a few of the building items handled by J. C. Steele Lumber company. Its sheds and warehouses are always stocked with a full line of lumber and building materials for every construction purpose.

Moreover, the firm maintains a complete plan service for home builders. Through this service you can get stock plans or have plans drawn to your individual specifications.

Then, too, J. C. Steele Lumber company is in a position to aid you in making FHA loans either for new construction or for repairs and modernization.

And besides that, when you deal with J. C. Steele Lumber company you are dealing with people who have had years of experience in the lumber, building material and construction business. That experience is invaluable. In fact, there is no substitute for it.

Home Decorator And Color Guide Is Offered Free

The famous Sherwin-Williams Home Decorator and Color Guide for 1940 is now available at the Monroe store of Sherwin-Williams, 109 Catalpa street.

Containing a thousand and one suggestions for improving the exterior and interior appearance of homes, the Home Decorator and Color Guide can be had merely for the asking by home owners or prospective home owners. All you have to do is visit the Sherwin-Williams store at 109 Catalpa street and request a copy. Or if it isn't convenient for you to visit the store, just phone and one will be sent out to your home. The telephone number of the store is 4545.

There is no obligation attached to the request for a copy of the Home Decorator and Color Guide. It is just one of the many free services offered the public by Sherwin-Williams. Besides invaluable suggestions for the improvement of your home, the Home Decorator and Color Guide contains a coupon that will enable you to purchase a pint can of Sherwin-Williams Enameloid Decorative Enamel—to touch up things around the house—for 49 cents, which is virtually half the regular price.

As everyone is aware, color works wonders in homes. And the Home Decorator and Color Guide, containing innumerable technicolored photographs matched to Sherwin-Williams color standards, shows you how to utilize both colors and Sherwin-Williams celebrated washable and fadeproof Style-Perfect wallpapers to the best advantage in obtaining the decorative effect you desire in your home.

The Home Decorator and Color Guide covers the entire subject of home decoration—exterior color combinations, the use of paint and wallpaper in interior work in every room of a house, the use of color on roofs and blinds, the proper floor covering to harmonize with room color schemes and furnishings, suggestive curtains and drapes and the use of color on knick-knacks and household tools.

Harrison Attic Ventilators Aid In Making Loans

Did you know that it is easier to obtain an FHA loan to build a home when you include in the installation a Harrison Attic Ventilator? It's the resale value of a home that is considered when a loan is made and a Harrison Attic Ventilator, which has few equals and is surpassed by none, definitely enhances the resale value.

While making it easier to obtain an FHA loan, the Harrison Attic Ventilator installed adds only a few cents more to the monthly payments. And when the hot summer months come along, you will realize more than ever that the Harrison Attic Ventilator is an investment rather than an expense and a luxury. The few additional cents each month will then seem infinitesimal.

If you already have a home, a Harrison Attic Ventilator may be installed under an FHA loan for repairs and improvements. If your credit is good, you can make such a loan without a mortgage being taken on your property and you have 36 months to pay at an extraordinarily low rate of interest. The manufacturers of Harrison Attic Ventilators, Monroe Armature Works, 2019 DeSiard street, telephone number 98, postoffice box 375, can aid you in making such loans. Just call, write or visit its place of business.

Harrison Attic Ventilators are of all metal construction. That means long life. They have rubber mounted motors and bearings. That means less vibration and more silent operation. They have multiple blades. That means the movement of more air at less speed and less speed means less noise. They have V-belt drives. That adds efficiency to and cuts the cost of operation by eliminating lost motion. And last, but not least, Harrison Attic Ventilators are guaranteed to the hilt by the manufacturers.

Radios Checked Free Of Charge By Nettles-Bernelle

Are you dissatisfied with the performance of your radio? Then take advantage of the offer of Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service, 311 Ouachita avenue.

The firm, the telephone number of which is 2044, will check your radio free of charge and without any obligation. If adjustments or replacements of parts, or both, are required, you will find the charges of Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service more than satisfactory. The firm does topnotch work at reasonable rates.

Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service is now equipped to handle all kinds of motor bearing work. This enables it to completely overhaul motors and armatures and effect any repairs required. No better motor and armature re-winding is done than that done by Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service. And it is done at pleasing prices.

Another piece of new equipment acquired by Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service is the latest type of radio tube checking device. If you are doubtful about the tubes of your radio, take them to Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service to be checked. That's another free service offered by the establishment.

Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service also engages in building household light units and commercial power plants to order. In small capacity light plants, it builds both 6 and 110-volt direct current units. In connection with its commercial plants, the manager of Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service, Carey Nettles, a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, makes power surveys to determine whether the installation of a plant is more economical than the purchase of power.

Besides theoretical knowledge, acquired in gaining his degree of bachelor of science in electrical engineering, Mr. Nettles possesses a wealth of practical experience. He has worked with electrical machinery virtually all his life.

White System Can Help You To Pay Property Taxes

You can't delay paying your property taxes much longer and there is no reason why you should. You can borrow the money to pay them at a reasonable rate of interest from White System, 137 North Second street, and then repay the loan in convenient installments.

White System is a service institution devoted to aiding salaried people with their financial problems. White System is always glad to lend money for useful purposes. Character and ability to repay are the basis on which loans are made. If you are employed and your credit rating is good, you will have no difficulty in borrowing from White System.

Don't let penalties pile up for nonpayment of your taxes. It is far less expensive to borrow the money from White System. You need have no hesitancy in making application for a loan from White System. The lending of money—particularly to salaried people in need of immediate cash—is the business of White System.

Courtesy is the keynote of the essential service offered by White System. Loans are made without delay and all details surrounding them are held in the strictest of confidence.

Don't worry over your obligations. Settle them with a loan from White System and then repay the loan conveniently from your future earnings.

Seeds For Every Need Are Handled By Tyner-Petrus

Not only the farmer and the farmer's wife finds whatever he or she needs at Tyner-Petrus, 311 Trenton street, West Monroe, telephone number 2660, but the vegetable and the flower gardener as well.

Tyner-Petrus, located in the heart of the business district of West Monroe, handles field seed, garden seed and flower seed—seeds of the highest quality for the money and of high germination.

Incidentally, now is the time to get seed in the ground for early production.

And Tyner-Petrus handles what it takes to prepare the ground and coax those seeds to grow—a full line of fertilizer and implements, plows, harness and other tools and gear used on the farm; hand plows, hoes, rakes, spades, forks and hooks used in the garden; and small implements and gadgets used by women in tending flowers. Moreover, it stocks garden hose, lawn mowers, grass edgers and other devices utilized around the yard.

But that's not all. Tyner-Petrus deals in a complete line of home and farm hardware, tools for repairing or for building this or that; baby chicks and poultry supplies; feeds for fowls, farm animals and cattle; dairy equipment and supplies; and groceries.

If you are a farmer, a farmer's wife, a vegetable gardener, a flower gardener or merely a person interested in a nice lawn, you will find what you need at Tyner-Petrus. And you will find it at the right price.

Flowers Express Easter Sentiments

Easter is the great spring holiday and spring, of course, is the great season of flowers. It is, therefore, the seasons of all seasons to say it to relatives and friends with flowers.

All of which is a preface to the fact that O'Donnell Flower and Gift shop, 103 South Second street, telephone number 535, is the place to place your order for Easter flowers.

The establishment has potted and cut Easter lilies and all of the flowers that spring brings. And you can rest assured that your sentiments will be appropriately expressed by the Easter flowers O'Donnell Flower and Gift shop sends out for you.

No matter where your relatives or friends happen to live, you can remember them with flowers at Easter through O'Donnell Flower and Gift shop. The establishment can make arrangements by wire for their delivery anywhere.

Visitors are welcome at O'Donnell Flower and Gift shop, which handles flowers for all occasions and allied gifts. The management is glad for people to see, first-hand, the facilities it has for keeping flowers garden fresh until delivery and for preparing them for any and all occasions.

But a visit is not essential. A telephone call will suffice. Your instructions will be carefully carried out.

Millsaps Has Used Ice Refrigerators

Used but thoroughly reconditioned ice refrigerators—Millsaps Furniture company, 303 Trenton street, West Monroe, has 'em, 25 of 'em. And while they last, they can be had for as little as $7.95.

Some are wood models and some are metal and they vary in capacity from 25 pounds to 100 pounds of ice. The top price on the group is $49.50.

All have been repainted and have new gaskets and have years of service left in them.

And while we are on the subject of refrigerators, Millsaps Furniture company has Westinghouse electric refrigerators. The six-foot model is priced at $117; larger models, at correspondingly attractive prices.

To see that these refrigerators operate properly, Millsaps Furniture company maintains a service department. During the guarantee period, the service of the service man is free; thereafter, his services are available at an extremely moderate cost.

Now last but not least, Millsaps Furniture company has a number of extra good used four-piece bedroom suites and several used two-piece living room suites.

Of walnut finish, the bedroom sets are priced at $29.50 to $39.50. The living room suites are in various colors. They are priced at $9.95 to $19.50.

Tallulah

Mrs. N. W. Reed of Lake Charles, president of the Louisiana Federation of Garden Clubs, was the honor guest at the March meeting of the Madison Parish Garden club held at "Devine Flowers" on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Reed brought an interesting message in which she outlined the projects of the state federation among them being the flower judging school held in Alexandria, the regional meeting of five states and the state conference in New Orleans and plans for the first short course for garden lovers to be held at L. S. U. in June.

Mrs. Frank Guthrie of Newellton, district director of garden clubs, spoke on the national convention held in Milwaukee where conservation was the theme. Mrs. J. H. Devine gave "Notes from her Little Black Book" a record of trips to places of special interest to garden lovers and garden tours. Mrs. George Eggleston and Mrs. J. K. Post had charge of the display of the month which featured violets, hyacinths, jonquils, lilies, ranunculas in unusual containers.

The president, Mrs. W. R. Gilfoil, presided over the business session. Roll call was answered by the name of a Louisiana tree. The hostesses, Mrs. Devine and Mrs. A. M. Hebert assisted by Mrs. Delma Devine served delicious and attractive refreshments featuring the Easter motif. The guests included Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Guthrie, Mrs. George Webb, Mrs. M. Saiewitz, Mrs. G. S. Stovall, Miss Amy Holmes, Mrs. Clarence Crow, Miss Annette Beers, Mrs. C. A. Sparling, Mrs. R. S. Gayle, Mrs. A. H. Hurd, Mrs. Charles Coltharp, Mrs. J. K. Post, Mrs. George Eggleston, Mrs. A. J. Sevier, Mrs. E. S. Moberley, Mrs. W. D. Buford, Mrs. A. M. Hebert, Mrs. W. R. Gilfoil, Mrs. W M. Murphy, Miss Elizabeth Williams and Mrs. E. Reed.

The pot luck supper held in the community room of the Methodist church on Wednesday evening was an interesting event of the week. Rev. E. B. Emmerich of Oak Grove, the guest speaker discussed "the Four Kinds of Christians." V. H. Davis served as master of ceremonies when impromptu talks and music were enjoyed. Plans were made for a similar event to be held the first Wednesday evening of the month in the future. At the conclusion, the pastor, Rev. D. W. Poole, explained the Methodist Advance Loyalty campaign and distributed pledge cards for signatures. A delightful spirit of fellowship prevailed.

Mrs. Harry Anderson entertained the members of her club on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. G. L. Smith winning the high score prize for bridge and Mrs. L. S. Grace low score. A delicious hot plate luncheon was served after the games to Mrs. J. W. Huckabay, Mrs. G. L. Smith, Mrs. Paul Schwartz, Mrs. Herman Lancaster, Mrs. Will Harvey, Mrs. Nathan McKie, Mrs. J. D. Halbach and Mrs. Grace.

The Tallulah Book club met at the club house on Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. R. S. Gayle, presiding over the business session. Mrs. Clarence Crow spoke on "The Garden," James Ponder played two cornet solos, "Beer Barrel Polka" and "Oh Johnnie" and Mrs. J. O. Horn rendered a piano solo, "Springtime." During the social period which followed the program delicious refreshments were served. The hostesses were Mrs. M. Saiewitz, Mrs. J. R. Medlin, Mrs. A. L. Scales and R. C. Leeves.

A royal service program was the theme of the monthly meeting of the Baptist Missionary society held at the church. The subject was "Steadfast in the Home Land," and was developed with a talk, "Early Witnesses in the Home Land," by Mrs. Homer Erwin, and "Changing and Unchanging Needs in the Home Land," by Mrs. Bernard Petty. The devotional from Malachi was given by Mrs. Clarence Crow. Mrs. Petty presided over the business session at the conclusion of the program.

The Eveready circle of the Methodist division for Christian service was held at the home of Mrs. Whit Erwin, with Mrs. E. S. Moberley presiding and Mrs. Jesse Anderson serving as secretary. The devotional was given by Mrs. D. W. Poole and Mrs. W. H. Hale conducted the lesson from "The World Outlook."

Delicious refreshments were served to Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Moberley, Mrs. Jesse Anderson, Mrs. C. H. Calhoun, Mrs. K. Gore, Mrs. G. L. Smith, Mrs. Wray Bowie, Mrs. W. H. Erickson, Mrs. Herman Lancaster, Mrs. M. C. Owens, Mrs. Poole and Mrs. Erwin.

Mrs. R. K. Boney has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Davis E. Holt, in Texarkana.

The guild of Trinity Episcopal church met with Mrs. P. O. Benjamin when Miss Maud Cutler of Charlotte, N. C., field worker in Christian education of the Episcopal church, spoke on "Christian Education." Following the business session, presided over by Mrs. W. H. Pierson, a social hour was enjoyed. Those in attendance were Miss Annette Beers, Mrs. A. G. Bray, Mrs. W. J. Ward, Mrs. A. J. Sevier, Mrs. W. S. Craig, Mrs. N. T. Holt, Mrs. Jessie Bonney, Miss Florence Pierson, Mrs. W. H. Pierson, Rev. and Mrs. George A. A. Tocher and Miss Cutler.

W. L. Rountree was called to Ferriday by the critical illness of his father.

Floyd Bondy of Florence, S. C., is visiting friends here. Mr. Bondy is a former resident of Tallulah.

Circle 1 of the Methodist society for Christian service met at the home of Mrs. Charles Coltharp with Mrs. Douglas Fortner presiding over the business session. For the devotional each member gave her favorite verse of scripture and the reason for its choice. Plans were made for an Easter egg sale. A program based on World Outlook, the official publication, was presented by Mrs. J. R. Linton and Mrs. D. H. Allen.

The hostess served coffee and sandwiches during the social hour to Mrs. Wallace Lancaster, Mrs. D. H. Allen, Mrs. Douglas Fortner, Mrs. J. R. Linton, Mrs. H. F. Cassell, Mrs. E. O. Edgerton, Mrs. J. O. Pemberton, Mrs. W. P. Seveir, Mrs. A. B. Kelly and Mrs. Coltharp.

Mrs. Watson McDonald, Mrs. R. S. Gayle and Rev. Clarence Crow attended the funeral services for Mrs. D. A. Brannon at Denham Springs.

The young people of the Methodist church enjoyed a potluck supper at the community room of the church. Talks were made by Mrs. A. F. Graves, Mrs. Ora Spinks, W. H. Erickson, Miss Beulah White, Rev. D. W. Poole and others. Mrs. C. M. Ritchie directed the singing.

Mrs. Roy McCaa has returned from Blytheville, Ark., where she has been visiting her mother, who recently underwent an operation.

Mrs. W. L. Rountree and Mrs. Horace Lee were visitors in Vicksburg, Miss.

Mrs. Dan James has returned from a visit of several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Claud Wray, in Albany, Ga.

Steele Featuring Asbestos Siding

J. C. Steele Lumber company, West Monroe, telephone numbers 865 and 866, is featuring Flintkote asbestos siding, the permanent siding that requires no paint, in its residential construction.

Flintkote asbestos siding is also unexcelled in remodeling homes. It can be applied over the old siding and makes an old house look like new.

J. C. Steele Lumber company uses Flintkote Thermoseal felt, a cork insulated felt, under Flintkote asbestos siding. This assures a cooler home in summer and a warmer one in winter.

Thermoseal felt is chemically treated against all insect, particularly termites. This is an exclusive feature.

At all exterior openings, namely, doors and windows, the siding is embedded in caulking compound. This makes the joints airtight and dampproof.

But flintkote products are only a few of the building items handled by J. C. Steele Lumber company. Its sheds and warehouses are always stocked with a full line of lumber and building materials for every construction purpose.

Moreover, the firm maintains a complete plan service for home builders. Through this service you can get stock plans or have plans drawn to your individual specifications.

Then, too, J. C. Steele Lumber company is in a position to aid you in making FHA loans either for new construction or for repairs and modernization.

And besides that, when you deal with J. C. Steele Lumber company you are dealing with people who have had years of experience in the lumber, building material and construction business. That experience is invaluable. In fact, there is no substitute for it.

Home Decorator And Color Guide Is Offered Free

The famous Sherwin-Williams Home Decorator and Color Guide for 1940 is now available at the Monroe store of Sherwin-Williams, 109 Catalpa street.

Containing a thousand and one suggestions for improving the exterior and interior appearance of homes, the Home Decorator and Color Guide can be had merely for the asking by home owners or prospective home owners. All you have to do is visit the Sherwin-Williams store at 109 Catalpa street and request a copy. Or if it isn't convenient for you to visit the store, just phone and one will be sent out to your home. The telephone number of the store is 4545.

There is no obligation attached to the request for a copy of the Home Decorator and Color Guide. It is just one of the many free services offered the public by Sherwin-Williams. Besides invaluable suggestions for the improvement of your home, the Home Decorator and Color Guide contains a coupon that will enable you to purchase a pint can of Sherwin-Williams Enameloid Decorative Enamel—to touch up things around the house—for 49 cents, which is virtually half the regular price.

As everyone is aware, color works wonders in homes. And the Home Decorator and Color Guide, containing innumerable technicolored photographs matched to Sherwin-Williams color standards, shows you how to utilize both colors and Sherwin-Williams celebrated washable and fadeproof Style-Perfect wallpapers to the best advantage in obtaining the decorative effect you desire in your home.

The Home Decorator and Color Guide covers the entire subject of home decoration—exterior color combinations, the use of paint and wallpaper in interior work in every room of a house, the use of color on roofs and blinds, the proper floor covering to harmonize with room color schemes and furnishings, suggestive curtains and drapes and the use of color on knick-knacks and household tools.

Harrison Attic Ventilators Aid In Making Loans

Did you know that it is easier to obtain an FHA loan to build a home when you include in the installation a Harrison Attic Ventilator? It's the resale value of a home that is considered when a loan is made and a Harrison Attic Ventilator, which has few equals and is surpassed by none, definitely enhances the resale value.

While making it easier to obtain an FHA loan, the Harrison Attic Ventilator installed adds only a few cents more to the monthly payments. And when the hot summer months come along, you will realize more than ever that the Harrison Attic Ventilator is an investment rather than an expense and a luxury. The few additional cents each month will then seem infinitesimal.

If you already have a home, a Harrison Attic Ventilator may be installed under an FHA loan for repairs and improvements. If your credit is good, you can make such a loan without a mortgage being taken on your property and you have 36 months to pay at an extraordinarily low rate of interest. The manufacturers of Harrison Attic Ventilators, Monroe Armature Works, 2019 DeSiard street, telephone number 98, postoffice box 375, can aid you in making such loans. Just call, write or visit its place of business.

Harrison Attic Ventilators are of all metal construction. That means long life. They have rubber mounted motors and bearings. That means less vibration and more silent operation. They have multiple blades. That means the movement of more air at less speed and less speed means less noise. They have V-belt drives. That adds efficiency to and cuts the cost of operation by eliminating lost motion. And last, but not least, Harrison Attic Ventilators are guaranteed to the hilt by the manufacturers.

Radios Checked Free Of Charge By Nettles-Bernelle

Are you dissatisfied with the performance of your radio? Then take advantage of the offer of Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service, 311 Ouachita avenue.

The firm, the telephone number of which is 2044, will check your radio free of charge and without any obligation. If adjustments or replacements of parts, or both, are required, you will find the charges of Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service more than satisfactory. The firm does top-notch work at reasonable rates.

Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service is now equipped to handle all kinds of motor bearing work. This enables it to completely overhaul motors and armatures and effect any repairs required. No better motor and armature re-winding is done than that done by Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service. And it is done at pleasing prices.

Another piece of new equipment acquired by Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service is the latest type of radio tube checking device. If you are doubtful about the tubes of your radio, take them to Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service to be checked. That's another free service offered by the establishment.

Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service also engages in building household light units and commercial power plants to order. In small capacity light plants, it builds both 6 and 110-volt direct current units. In connection with its commercial plants, the manager of Nettles-Bernelle Radio and Electric Service, Carey Nettles, a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, makes power surveys to determine whether the installation of a plant is more economical than the purchase of power.

Besides theoretical knowledge, acquired in gaining his degree of bachelor of science in electrical engineering, Mr. Nettles possesses a wealth of practical experience. He has worked with electrical machinery virtually all his life.

White System Can Help You To Pay Property Taxes

You can't delay paying your property taxes much longer and there is no reason why you should. You can borrow the money to pay them at a reasonable rate of interest from White System, 137 North Second street, and then repay the loan in convenient installments.

White System is a service institution devoted to aiding salaried people with their financial problems. White System is always glad to lend money for useful purposes. Character and ability to repay are the basis on which loans are made. If you are employed and your credit rating is good, you will have no difficulty in borrowing from White System.

Seeds For Every Need Are Handled By Tyner-Petrus

Not only the farmer and the farmer's wife finds whatever he or she needs at Tyner-Petrus, 311 Trenton street, West Monroe, telephone number 2660, but the vegetable and the flower gardener as well.

Tyner-Petrus, located in the heart of the business district of West Monroe, handles field seed, garden seed and flower seed—seeds of the highest quality for the money and of high germination.

Incidentally, now is the time to get seed in the ground for early production.

And Tyner-Petrus handles what it takes to prepare the ground and coax those seeds to grow—a full line of fertilizer and implements, plows, harness and other tools and gear used on the farm; hand plows, hoes, rakes, spades, forks and hooks used in the garden; and small implements and gadgets used by women in tending flowers. Moreover, it stocks garden hose, lawn mowers, grass edgers and other devices utilized around the yard.

But that's not all. Tyner-Petrus deals in a complete line of home and farm hardware, tools for repairing or for building this or that; baby chicks and poultry supplies; feeds for fowls, farm animals and cattle; dairy equipment and supplies; and groceries.

If you are a farmer, a farmer's wife, a vegetable gardener, a flower gardener or merely a person interested in a nice lawn, you will find what you need at Tyner-Petrus. And you will find it at the right price.

Colman Star Of Kipling's Great Story

Walter Huston, Ida Lupino In Cast Of Spectacular Film Hit

RUDYARD KIPLING'S vibrant action romance "The Light That Failed," a best-seller since its first appearance as a novel in 1891, opens today at the Paramount theater, with a cast of over four hundred, headed by Ronald Colman, Walter Huston, Ida Lupino, Muriel Angelus, Dudley Diggers and many others.

Often called Kipling's most "virile" and "meteoric" work, "The Light That Failed" covers a full generation of English life at the close of the last century and includes in its broad sweep the brilliant Sudan campaign of the '90s which conquered that wild country. The action is built around the career of Dick Heldar, his childhood sweetheart, Maisie, and a street waif named Bessie who comes to play an important part in his life.

Heldar, portrayed by Colman, is separated from Maisie, played by Muriel Angelus, after they pledge eternal love as children in England. The boy finds his way into newspaper work where he is "discovered" and encouraged by Torpenhow, hard-riding war correspondent of the Richard Harding Davis tradition. Under Torpenhow's guidance, Heldar becomes a famous artist and the sensation of the London art world.

At the height of his fame he again meets Maisie, who also has become an artist. Somewhat jealous of Heldar's success, she refuses to marry him until she makes a name for herself. She is working on a painting called "Melancholia," which is severely criticized by Heldar, who, in a fit of pique, desides to show her up by making a picture with the same theme. For his model he selects the street waif, Bessie, played by Miss Lupino. Bessie falls in love with Torpenhow, and when Heldar breaks up the romance she swears revenge. In the meanwhile, an old wound which he suffered while saving Torpenhow's life during a battle in the Sudan begins to affect the artist's vision. When he discovers that he has only a few weeks left before he goes completely blind he sets to work furiously to finish "Melancholia."

Just as he finishes it, he goes blind. Bessie, seeking her revenge, ruins it; his friends never tell him about it. It is when he discovers that his painting, which was to be his monument, has been completely ruined, that the picture reaches its climax, a point described as one of the most potent and powerful in motion picture annals.

Walter Huston, star of many motion picture successes, and recently in the New York stage production "Knickerbocker Holiday," plays the role of Torpenhow. More than two hundred mounted members of the New Mexico national guard and an equal number of natives were used in the battle scenes, some of which are the most ambitious ever attempted by a motion picture producer.

Carole Lombard, star of "Vigil In The Night," screen version of A. J. Conin's novel by the same name, comes to the Paramount theater screen Wednesday and Thursday with Brain Aherne and Anne Shirley.

Kildare Hit Comes Soon To Capitol

Latest Of Series With Lew Ayres And Lionel Barrymore Returns

ROMANCE in a great hospital, baffling mystery in a beautiful girl's mysterious terror, and thrills of amateur detective work are blended in "The Secret of Dr. Kildare," scientific detective romance which comes Thursday to the Capitol theater with Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore.

The story deals with a mental mystery. Ayres, as Dr. Jimmy Kildare, is called on to diagnose the mental state of beautiful Helen Gilbert. Employing detective methods he traces her terror to the suggestions of a fanatical nurse who insists she has a brain tumor and takes her to a quack doctor (Grant Mitchell). The dramatic denouement is Ayres' cure of the girl's blindness under the guidance of Lionel Barrymore, as the veteran Dr. Gillespie, by practical mental suggestion.

Based on the popular story by Max Brand, the picture shows many interesting modern medical discoveries as sidelines to the central plot. Barrymore demonstrates the use of Prostygmin in a strange case of paralysis, a seeming miracle, in one dramatic highlight. A scientific apparatus, one of the latest miracles of science, is seen on the screen for the first time. Many comedy episodes, such as Barrymore's game of "craps" with George Reed, playing his servant, enliven the thrills and heart interest.

Harold S. Bucquet, who directed "On Borrowed Time," piloted the production. Settings include the interior and exterior of a great New York hospital, gay night clubs, the home of a millionaire, and a high tower from which a view of New York is photographed.

Supporting players new to the "Dr. Kildare" series include Lionel Atwill as the millionaire father of the "mystery patient," Helen Gilbert, who scored as the dramatics teacher in "Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever," and Sara Haden playing a fanatical nurse. Among those who continue the characterizations of earlier pictures in the series are Nat Pendleton as the two-fisted ambulance driver, Laraine Day as the attractive nurse, Samuel S. Hinds and Emma Dunn as Lew Ayres' parents, Walter Kingsford as the hospital superintendent, Grant Mitchell, Alma Kruger, Robert Kent and Marie Blake, the wise-cracking telephone operator.

One of the largest and most complete pathological laboratories ever assembled for a picture, an elaborate collection of electro-thereapeutic equipment, and other scientific detals are used as background for the action of the picture.

Birds' Song-Boxes

The bird's song-box is called the syrinx. The instrument is quite complicated, but the principle is simple enough. As the bird breathes out air, it sets certain membranes vibrating, and these are tightened or loosened according to the pitch desired.

Colman Star Of Kipling's Great Story

Walter Huston, Ida Lupino In Cast Of Spectacular Film Hit

RUDYARD KIPLING'S vibrant action romance "The Light That Failed," a best-seller since its first appearance as a novel in 1891, opens today at the Paramount theater, with a cast of over four hundred, headed by Ronald Colman, Walter Huston, Ida Lupino, Muriel Angelus, Dudley Diggers and many others.

Often called Kipling's most "virile" and "meteoric" work, "The Light That Failed" covers a full generation of English life at the close of the last century and includes in its broad sweep the brilliant Sudan campaign of the '90s which conquered that wild country. The action is built around the career of Dick Heldar, his childhood sweetheart, Maisie, and a street waif named Bessie who comes to play an important part in his life.

Heldar, portrayed by Colman, is separated from Maisie, played by Muriel Angelus, after they pledge eternal love as children in England. The boy finds his way into newspaper work where he is "discovered" and encouraged by Torpenhow, hard-riding war correspondent of the Richard Harding Davis tradition. Under Torpenhow's guidance, Heldar becomes a famous artist and the sensation of the London art world.

At the height of his fame he again meets Maisie, who also has become an artist. Somewhat jealous of Heldar's success, she refuses to marry him until she makes a name for herself. She is working on a painting called "Melancholia," which is severely criticized by Heldar, who, in a fit of pique, desides to show her up by making a picture with the same theme. For his model he selects the street waif, Bessie, played by Miss Lupino. Bessie falls in love with Torpenhow, and when Heldar breaks up the romance she swears revenge. In the meanwhile, an old wound which he suffered while saving Torpenhow's life during a battle in the Sudan begins to affect the artist's vision. DECK TO VISIT FIFTH DISTRICT

Assistant State Service Officer Announces His Itinerary

The itinerary of F. Charles Deck, assistant state service commissioner, who will visit the Fifth district from March 25 to April 4, was announced yesterday. His visits will be for the purpose of prosecuting claims of World war veterans and their dependents. He will visit Monroe all day March 27, when he can be interviewed at the Ouachita parish courthouse. His itinerary will be as follows:

Monday, March 25, Vidalia, 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.; Winnsboro, 4 p.m. and overnight, attending a special meeting of the legion post there.

Tuesday, March 26, Crowville, 10 a.m. to noon; Delhi, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.; Sterlington, 5 p.m. and overnight, attending post meeting.

Wednesday, March 27, Monroe, all day at courthouse.

Thursday, March 28, Ruston, 9 a.m. to noon; Bernice, 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.; Farmerville, 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Friday, March 29, Jonesboro, 9 a.m. to noon; Columbia, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Saturday, March 30, Bastrop, 9 a.m. to noon.

Monday, April 1, Rayville, 9 a.m. to noon; Oak Grove, 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Tuesday, April 2, Lake Providence, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Tallulah, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Wednesday, April 3, Newellton, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Ferriday, 2 p.m. and overnight, attending special post meeting.

Thursday, April 4, Jonesville, 10 a.m. to noon; Harrisonburg, 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Notification is early enough to enable persons who have matters requiring attention to communicate with headquarters, 203 Masonic temple building in New Orleans, relative to claims and this will aid when the official later visits cities and towns of the Fifth congressional district.

Mrs. McQuiller Begins 20th Year As Local Home Agent

Beginning her 20th year as home demonstration agent of Ouachita parish, Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller last week issued her annual report, tabulating results of the various phases of her work among the agricultural women and girls of the parish.

Poultry and clothing were majors in home demonstration clubs, and "4-H Club Girl Serves Supper" was a major project of the 4-H girls.

Over practically every mile of the parish Mrs. McQuiller traveled last year, demonstrating canning procedures, giving tips on gardening, directing landscaping plans, stressing the importance of tested flocks and culling out undesirable chickens, instructing in methods of choosing materials and patterns and sewing, suggesting home improvements, teaching farm girls what to serve and how to serve meals, and doing countless other duties.

The last census showed that only 37 per cent of the poultry products consumed in this parish were produced in Ouachita. The next census should tell a different story. The outlook now is for a larger poultry program this year. Important improvements in numbers and quality of chickens have been made through the assistance of Clyde Ingram, state poultry specialist, and his pullorum testing and range paralysis work. Forty-three brooders were purchased or constructed during 1939 and 46 tested flocks were produced. Seventy-eight 4-H club members became interested, resulting in six local entries in the state fair. The home demonstration agent exhibited a poultry booth at the state fair and won second place.

With its aim of better dressed rural women, the clothing project became more interesting as it advanced. It encouraged careful selection of materials and design in the construction of better garments, and wise spending on clothes by selection and construction. Women club members made 660 dresses and 397 undergarments and entered the state clothing contest. Girl members were given instruction in school, and 143 completed the clothing project, making 153 dresses and 591 other garments.

"The 4-H Club Girl Serves Supper" was a project pushed by Miss Hazel Bratley, state nutrition specialist. In Ouachita, 190 girls completed the project on the selection and preparation of food and the serving of the evening meal. They prepared 721 meals, including 1,913 different dishes.

Garden, home orchards, landscaping, food preservation and house furnishings were minor projects last year. In 1939 club women planted 507 improved gardens, and 4-H club girls planted 87. A garden show was presented and one tour was made over the parish, in which 80 people participated. Sixteen persons planted 350 fruit trees.

Eighteen club members started the five-year landscaping plan; and 36 rose gardens were begun. With 50 persons cooperating, a quantity of tested gladioli bulbs were ordered and planted here.

The amount of canned produce decreased from the 1938 total because of the fall drouth, but 18,432 quarts of vegetables and fruits were preserved by women and 1,820 by girls. Thirty-four women made canning budgets for a year-round food supply. The meat preservation project resulted in curing 16,065 pounds of meat.

Featuring living room improvements, the house furnishings project showed progress during the year. Thirty-two rooms were made more attractive, and 267 articles were made by the girls. Women made improvements in the selection of furnishings, effected repairs, made curtains and draperies, improved arrangements of furniture and the appearance of walls, woodwork and floors, made rugs, reframed or rehung pictures.

A course in agricultural economics was offered farm women and girls. Members are studying economic conditions and are developing knowledge to remedy agricultural outlooks. The state nutritionist set up goals for the farm family whereby they could produce the food and feed for the farm and balance the budget.

Wildlife and agricultural engineering were emphasized during the year. To create a desire in 4-H club members to protect and preserve the natural rsources of the state, members were enrolled in definite conservation projects. The value of equipment and wise distribution of money income were stressed in the engineering course.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

The founding of Camp Fire, each year the occasion for special birthday parties, will be observed by the Monroe organization in various groups next month, stated Mrs. F. B. Neely, executive. These will replace the larger party that is usually given.

Next Saturday there will be an Easter egg hunt for all Camp Fire groups in Bernstein park. Mothers of the girls will dye the eggs and then hide them in the park for the girls to discover, after which games will be played.

Each week now the girls are being taken in groups by Mrs. Neely to bottling works, bag factories, airport and other industrial establishments which comprise a part of their educational instruction while enrolled in Camp Fire.

BAND FESTIVAL BROUGHT TO END

More Than 800 Pupils, Representing 20 Schools, Attend Tech Affair

RUSTON, La., March 16.—(Special)—Concluding the activities of the second annual north Louisiana band festival, held Friday at Louisiana Tech and the new Ruston High school, was the general frolic or jamboree held in the Tech men's gymnasium.

More than 800 high school pupils, representing 20 high schools in north Louisiana, participated in the all-day program.

The judges' constructive criticisms were delivered in writing to each of the directors of bands or ensembles at the frolic. The decisions of the judges were not revealed as the festival was not held on a competitive basis.

A parade through eight blocks of the Ruston business district, in which all bands participated, began immediately following the concert.

Following the noon hour, L. V. E. Irvine, director of the music department at the college in charge of the festival, introduced the following guests: Dr. H. W. Stopher, director of the school of music at the Louisiana State university; E. S. Richardson, president of Tech; H. E. Townsend, principal of the Ruston High school; Paul Thornton, assistant state supervisor of music; Hines Sims, president of the Louisiana Music Educators' association; Dwight Davis, chairman of the band division of the L. M. E. A., and Walter Minniear, director of district one of the L. M. E. A.

Judges for the festival were: Mr. Sims, director of the Fair Park High school band; Dr. Davis, director of the Byrd High school band, and Leonard Fulkerson, director of the El Dorado, Ark., High school band.

The bands represented at the festival were as follows:

Waterproof, St. Joseph, Bienville parish school band, Haynesville, Caldwell parish school band, St. Matthew's of Monroe, Lake Providence, Winnsboro, Tallulah, Louisiana Training institute of Monroe, Minden, Calhoun, Ouachita Parish High school of Monroe, Homer, Jonesboro-Hodge, Lisbon, Bastrop, Neville High school of Monroe, and the Monroe city schools band. Both the Ruston High school and the Tech High school entered soloists in the festival.

DECK TO VISIT FIFTH DISTRICT

Assistant State Service Officer Announces His Itinerary

The itinerary of F. Charles Deck, assistant state service commissioner, who will visit the Fifth district from March 25 to April 4, was announced yesterday. His visits will be for the purpose of prosecuting claims of World war veterans and their dependents. He will visit Monroe all day March 27, when he can be interviewed at the Ouachita parish courthouse. His itinerary will be as follows:

Monday, March 25, Vidalia, 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.; Winnsboro, 4 p.m. and overnight, attending a special meeting of the legion post there.

Tuesday, March 26, Crowville, 10 a.m. to noon; Delhi, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.; Sterlington, 5 p.m. and overnight, attending post meeting.

Wednesday, March 27, Monroe, all day at courthouse.

Thursday, March 28, Ruston, 9 a.m. to noon; Bernice, 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.; Farmerville, 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Friday, March 29, Jonesboro, 9 a.m. to noon; Columbia, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Saturday, March 30, Bastrop, 9 a.m. to noon.

Monday, April 1, Rayville, 9 a.m. to noon; Oak Grove, 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Tuesday, April 2, Lake Providence, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Tallulah, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Wednesday, April 3, Newellton, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Ferriday, 2 p.m. and overnight, attending special post meeting.

Thursday, April 4, Jonesville, 10 a.m. to noon; Harrisonburg, 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Notification is early enough to enable persons who have matters requiring attention to communicate with headquarters, 203 Masonic temple building in New Orleans, relative to claims and this will aid when the official later visits cities and towns of the Fifth congressional district.

Mrs. McQuiller Begins 20th Year As Local Home Agent

Beginning her 20th year as home demonstration agent of Ouachita parish, Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller last week issued her annual report, tabulating results of the various phases of her work among the agricultural women and girls of the parish.

Poultry and clothing were majors in home demonstration clubs, and "4-H Club Girl Serves Supper" was a major project of the 4-H girls.

Over practically every mile of the parish Mrs. McQuiller traveled last year, demonstrating canning procedures, giving tips on gardening, directing landscaping plans, stressing the importance of tested flocks and culling out undesirable chickens, instructing in methods of choosing materials and patterns and sewing, suggesting home improvements, teaching farm girls what to serve and how to serve meals, and doing countless other duties.

The last census showed that only 37 per cent of the poultry products consumed in this parish were produced in Ouachita. The next census should tell a different story. The outlook now is for a larger poultry program this year. Important improvements in numbers and quality of chickens have been made through the assistance of Clyde Ingram, state poultry specialist, and his pullorum testing and range paralysis work. Forty-three brooders were purchased or constructed during 1939 and 46 tested flocks were produced. Seventy-eight 4-H club members became interested, resulting in six local entries in the state fair. The home demonstration agent exhibited a poultry booth at the state fair and won second place.

With its aim of better dressed rural women, the clothing project became more interesting as it advanced. It encouraged careful selection of materials and design in the construction of better garments, and wise spending on clothes by selection and construction. Women club members made 660 dresses and 397 undergarments and entered the state clothing contest. Girl members were given instruction in school, and 143 completed the clothing project, making 153 dresses and 591 other garments.

"The 4-H Club Girl Serves Supper" was a project pushed by Miss Hazel Bratley, state nutrition specialist. In Ouachita, 190 girls completed the project on the selection and preparation of food and the serving of the evening meal. They prepared 721 meals, including 1,913 different dishes.

Garden, home orchards, landscaping, food preservation and house furnishings were minor projects last year. In 1939 club women planted 307 improved gardens, and 4-H club girls planted 87. A garden show was presented and one tour was made over the parish, in which 80 people participated. Sixteen persons planted 350 fruit trees.

Eighteen club members started the five-year landscaping plan; and 36 rose gardens were begun. With 50 persons cooperating, a quantity of tested gladioli bulbs were ordered and planted here.

The amount of canned produce decreased from the 1938 total because of the fall drouth, but 18,432 quarts of vegetables and fruits were preserved by women and 1,820 by girls. Thirty-four women made canning budgets for a year-round food supply. The meat preservation project resulted in curing 16,065 pounds of meat.

Featuring living room improvements, the house furnishings project showed progress during the year. Thirty-two rooms were made more attractive, and 267 articles were made by the girls. Women made improvements in the selection of furnishings, effected repairs, made curtains and draperies, improved arrangements of furniture and the appearance of walls, woodwork and floors, made rugs, reframed or rehung pictures.

A course in agricultural economics was offered farm women and girls. Members are studying economic conditions and are developing knowledge to remedy agricultural outlooks. The state nutritionist set up goals for the farm family whereby they could produce the food and feed for the farm and balance the budget.

Wildlife and agricultural engineering were emphasized during the year. To create a desire in 4-H club members to protect and preserve the natural rsources of the state, members were enrolled in definite conservation projects. The value of equipment and wise distribution of money income were stressed in the engineering course.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

The founding of Camp Fire, each year the occasion for special birthday parties, will be observed by the Monroe organization in various groups next month, stated Mrs. F. B. Neely, executive. These will replace the larger party that is usually given.

Next Saturday there will be an Easter egg hunt for all Camp Fire groups in Bernstein park. Mothers of the girls will dye the eggs and then hide them in the park for the girls to discover, after which games will be played.

Each week now the girls are being taken in groups by Mrs. Neely to bottling works, bag factories, airport and other industrial establishments which comprise a part of their educational instruction while enrolled in Camp Fire.

WINNSBORO TO STAGE 'MISS BLUE BONNET'

WINNSBORO, La., March 16.—(Special)—"Miss Blue Bonnet," a three-act musical comedy, with a cast and chorus of sixty people, will be presented next Tuesday night at 7:45 p.m. from the stage of the Winnsboro High school auditorium.

The play is under the auspices of the Methodist church and directed by Miss Celeste Vause of Atlanta, Ga.

Elma Ruth Jones takes the role of "Miss Blue Bonnet," with Yelvie Cuney as the male lead. Supporting cast is as follows: Jack Greene, Marjorie Davis, R. C. Smith, Dennie Pearman, Jewell Thornhill, Mary Virginia Harkey, Bobby Smith, Christine Taliafero, Nora Short, Richard Scott, Durward McColman and Virginia Scott.

BAND FESTIVAL BROUGHT TO END

More Than 800 Pupils, Representing 20 Schools, Attend Tech Affair

RUSTON, La., March 16.—(Special)—Concluding the activities of the second annual north Louisiana band festival, held Friday at Louisiana Tech and the new Ruston High school, was the general frolic or jamboree held in the Tech men's gymnasium.

More than 800 high school pupils, representing 20 high schools in north Louisiana, participated in the all-day program.

The judges' constructive criticisms were delivered in writing to each of the directors of bands or ensembles at the frolic. The decisions of the judges were not revealed as the festival was not held on a competitive basis.

A parade through eight blocks of the Ruston business district, in which all bands participated, began immediately following the concert.

Following the noon hour, L. V. E. Irvine, director of the music department at the college in charge of the festival, introduced the following guests: Dr. H. W. Stopher, director of the school of music at the Louisiana State university; E. S. Richardson, president of Tech; H. E. Townsend, principal of the Ruston High school; Paul Thornton, assistant state supervisor of music; Hines Sims, president of the Louisiana Music Educators' association; Dwight Davis, chairman of the band division of the L. M. E. A., and Walter Minniear, director of district one of the L. M. E. A.

Judges for the festival were: Mr. Sims, director of the Fair Park High school band; Dr. Davis, director of the Byrd High school band, and Leonard Fulkerson, director of the El Dorado, Ark., High school band.

At the jamboree Friday night, the Ruston Chamber of Commerce awarded prizes to outstanding performers. The Tech Collegians played for an informal dance which followed.

The bands represented at the festival were as follows:

Waterproof, St. Joseph, Bienville parish school band, Haynesville, Caldwell parish school band, St. Matthew's of Monroe, Lake Providence, Winnsboro, Tallulah, Louisiana Training institute of Monroe, Minden, Calhoun, Ouachita Parish High school of Monroe, Homer, Jonesboro-Hodge, Lisbon, Bastrop, Neville High school of Monroe, and the Monroe city schools band. Both the Ruston High school and the Tech High school entered soloists in the festival.

GEORGE, WHY ARE YOU GALLOPING THROUGH THIS HOUSE SO MUCH?
DON'T YOU HEAR FONSO NEXTDOOR MOANING?
OH THAT MAN IS ALWAYS COMPLAINING ABOUT HIS HEALTH. ANYHOW, WHY SHOULD YOU BE EXCITED ABOUT..?
HE OWES ME $7. SUPPOSE SOMETHING TERRIBLE HAPPENS TO HIM?
OH WHY WORRY ABOUT..?
ANYTHING IS BETTER THAN SUSPENSE. I'M GOING OVER AND SEE THAT BABY.
FONSO, I HEARD YOU MOANING...YOU BEEN GOBBLING UP PIGSFEET AGAIN OR..?
COME IN, OLD FELLOW. COME IN.
WHAT..?
IT'S CURTAINS FOR ME. MY FEET ARE SWELLING, AND I FEEL LIKE I'M ON FIRE.
LET'S GET A DOCTOR AND.
I HAD ONE. OH I COULD PASS OUT WITH A SMILE ON MY FACE IF IT WASN'T FOR THAT $6 I OWE YOU.
OH DON'T WORRY. MUCH..ABOUT THAT $7 YOU OWE ME.
I DO WORRY. I JUST CAN'T PASS OUT KNOWING I OWE ANYBODY
WELL
OH IF THERE WAS ONLY SOME WAY I COULD PAY YOU, BUT ALL I'VE GOT IS $2.
AHEM! YOU HAVE $2? NOW? IN CASH?
HERE IT IS...TAKE IT.. CALL OUR DEBT SQUARE... OH NOW I CAN REST IN PEACE.
AHEM! WELL FONSO..
JUST WRITE OUT A RECEIPT WITH THE DATE...PAID IN FULL AND SO FORTH.
